New Problems Crop Up To Plague Mobilization Effort in United States

Wage Stabilization Is Rocked by Pay Raise Claims of Million Rail Workers

Auto Problem

Government Is Caught in Squeeze as Army Operates Railroads

Washington, March 24 (AP) — A new crop of price, wage and production problems sprang up today to plague the nation's mobilization officials.

One of these the pay raise claims of 1,000,000 railroad workers—posed a major threat to wage stabilization.

Another—A 25 per cent slash in tire and tube deliveries for new passenger cars appeared certain to bring strong protests from the automobile industry and some auto buyers.

The government itself was caught in a squeeze by the railway wage raise claim. Since the army took over the railroads last August to avert a strike threat, it is technically responsible for terms and conditions of employment.

Under their labor contracts, the railroad workers are assured pay boosts to meet rising living costs. The Bureau of Labor Statistics' latest cost-of-living index, released last night, gave them grounds for claiming a six-cent hourly raise.

But this, added to the 12½ cents granted March 1 by the carriers would shatter the government's wage formula which restricts raises to 10 per cent above Jan. 15, 1950 levels.

Calls for Contract Plans

A spokesman for Assistant Secretary of Defense Carl Bendetsen, who has been running the railroads for the army, said present plans call for carrying out the workers' contract provisions. Bendetsen himself was not available for comment.

But Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has refused to approve a beyond-ceiling raise for 220,000 meat packinghouse workers. His office said he had not been asked to approve the railroad hike, but probably would treat it the same way.

The cost-of-living index hit a new high as of Feb. 15. It climbed 1.3 points in the preceding month to 183.8 per cent of the 1935-39 base period. This was eight per cent pre-Korean war level for June, 1950.

The first date on which an adjustment would be made for the railroad workers would be April 7, but the majority of workers would not get the new rates until the middle of April. This gave the army and stabilization officials a slight breathing spell before any real crisis develops.

The cut in tires for new passenger cars was even deeper than the 20 per cent reduction in steel for automobiles which previously had been ordered.

Tires For 30 Days

It is effective April 1, the National Production Authority (NPA) announced last night NPA also disclosed that tire inventories of distributors, including wholesalers and retailers, will be limited after that date to a 30-day supply.

Officials indicated the tire cut was ordered because of mounting defense use of rubber and a loss of about 4,000 long tons in the production of synthetic rubber expected in April. Fires and other operational difficulties at synthetic plants were blamed for the expected production drop.

In other new developments in the mobilization drive:

Congress Report To Recommend Cut In Aid, More Taxes

Would Abolish Farm, Other Federal Subsidies; to Set Living Standards

By DREW PEARSON

One of the most important economic reports ever prepared by Congress will soon recommend the removal of farm support prices and a high tax program which may set American living standards for the next 10 to 20 years. It is also proposed to abolish all federal subsidies to the states.

The report has the support of both Senators Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Democrat, and Bob Taft, Ohio Republican, and has been adopted, so far confidentially, by the Joint Congressional Committee on the economic report.

Though the report has not been made public, this column has obtained a copy. Its recommendations are based upon a "long pull," which is expected to strain the nation's economy for the next 10 to 20 years.

In blunt language, the report urges: "It is essential that new and heavier taxes be promptly assessed. Increases in withholding rates and corporation profits taxes are vital now. They are necessary to put a damper on price increases which are steadily gnawing away at civilian income and government appropriations."

The report adds, however, that "people with incomes of $3,000 a year or less are already overburdened by the increasing cost of living and the present level of taxes. The government cannot look to them for any substantial new revenue."

Watch the Military

Warning against writing a blank check for the military, the report declares: "In a long period of heavy defense expenditures, there does not exist the urgency to spend first and then look around and see how much the government will need to borrow in order to pay its bills . . . The defense garment should be cut to the revenue cloth . . . Military hoarding of manpower and materials must be kept to a minimum."

The report also warns that "deficit spending cannot be contemplated even for the current defense program, unless we are willing to invite the crack-up of the American system . . . Congress, short of all-out war, should make no military appropriation unless and until adequate tax revenues are definitely in sight."

Here are other important highlights of the Taft-O'Mahoney economic blueprint.

1. The report drastically suggests abolishing federal aid to states and relying upon "traditionaly local methods of financing education and medical aid and public health." The report points out that in a period of long-run inflation and economic strain, the "role of the federal government with respect to state governments might well be reversed."

No Parity Prices

2. The report describes farm parity as a "device which was invented at the depths of the agricultural depression" and hints strongly that it is now out of date. "To permit private price support

Strike Deadline Is Extended by All but CIO Workers

Chicago, March 24 (AP)—The threat of an immediate serious strike by more than 200,000 workers against the nation's meat packing industry eased today.

AFL and independent union workers have promised to stay on the job for at least six weeks past the threatened strike deadline of midnight Sunday.

But there remained the possibility of a walkout by some 120,000 members of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers.

The unions are not in dispute with the packers. Their threatened walkout stems from the government's refusal to approve an 11-cent hourly wage boost.

The CIO union, at meetings with major packers yesterday, failed to agree to extend the strike deadline. Further meetings were planned. President Ralph Helstein said the union's strike strategy committee remained in Chicago "for strike call action at any time."

The CIO workers can strike at any time after midnight Sunday when the present contract expires. Most of them are employed by the large packing plants.

Reach Agreement

But the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen reached an agreement with Swift and Armour, two major packers, not to strike at least until May 6. A union spokesman said similar agreements will be made with other packers. Most of the AFL union's 100,000 members work for the smaller packing firms.

Swift also reached agreement with the Independent National Brotherhood of Packinghouse Workers delaying a threatened strike of its 10,000 members until May 7.

The extension of the strike deadline is designed to give government officials a chance to reconsider the wage hike agreed by the packers and unions on Feb. 9.

Good Friday Here Is Observed With Great Reverence

Good Friday had a greater significance in Kingston because of the concentrated efforts of two clergymen in which they were supported by businessmen of the city.

Yesterday from 12 noon to 3 p. m. approximately 100 places of business closed their doors while shoppers, clerks and the proprietors observed what Christian faiths call the holy hours, commemorating the death of Christ.

Clothing stores, notion and style shops, drug stores, restaurants and grills had signs on their front doors informing customers that they would not open until after 3 p. m.

The move to close for the three-hours period was instigated by two clergymen of different religious denominations, the Rev. John D. Simmons of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church and the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of Old First Church.

They made personal calls on some merchants, then expressed their sentiments about observing Good Friday in a letter to The Editor of The Freeman. From this point on, there was a mass voluntary move in favor of their recommendation.

Action Praised

There were many favorable comments heard yesterday on the effectiveness of their proposal, which met favor with Christian and Jewish businessmen alike.

After the holy period, shoppers crowded stores to do their Easter shopping, with apparel buyers hoping for a smile from the weather man on the Easter parade.

Generally clear skies are forecast for tomorrow but the cold weather which hit the midwest areas today was pushing eastward and was expected to cover the eastern states by Sunday morning.

Churches planned their annual observance of the Resurrection and members of the armed forces in Korea prepared to observe the holy occurrence on the bleak hillsides of that land.

Investigate Probable Method Of Buying Tax Deductions

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Investigating senators took a new look today at what appeared to be a method of buying income tax deductions.

The practice was described during a Senate subcommittee's investigations of charges of political influence in Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) operations.

House and Senate taxation committees are expected to give close attention to the testimony.

A Senate banking subcommittee headed by Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark) dug up the story in its investigation of the RFC.

The group has placed in its official record a letter it demanded from Francis N. Rosenbaum, Washington lawyer. Rosenbaum is a brother of Joseph H. Rosenbaum, whom the subcommittee has named as a member of an influence clique powerful enough to sway RFC judgment on the granting of huge loans.

Rosenbaum's letter, the subcommittee said, fills in gaps left by his brother's testimony when the tax angle bobbed up in hearings three weeks ago. The letter said the Rosenbaum law firm acquired an option to purchase a Brooklyn, N. Y., firm because "it had a valuable tax carry-forward" which the present owners were "not in position to utilize."

As explained by Rosenbaum, the "tax carry-forward" means that operating losses the firm had incurred could be claimed as an income tax deduction by whoever purchased it.

Fulbright, in a public hearing, has denounced the practice as "improper" trading in income tax deductions.

Price Clamp Due On Groceries

Cincinnati, March 24 (AP)—Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle confirmed last night the long-waited price-clamp on groceries is coming within the week.

He said three new food regulations will place price lids on 65 per cent of dry groceries.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are excluded, the head of the Office of Price Stabilization reported. Meats already are controlled under separate regulations.

DiSalle, who made the announcement in an interview here, stated, too, that manufacturers will be ordered to roll back their prices to pre-Korean war levels. That regulation should be forthcoming in about 10 days, he added.

Charge 4 Teen-Age Boys With Taking Autos and Trucks

Three Are Held for Children's Court; Otis Charged With First Degree Larceny

A pair of white shoe-type roller skates provided the only clue that led to the apprehension Friday afternoon of four teenage boys charged with stealing automobiles and trucks apparently for the sole purpose of joyriding.

The boys were charged separately with thefts of four vehicles, three of which were returned to the places from which they were taken. The fourth was abandoned at Saugerties when it overheated, police said.

Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren today gave full credit to Detective Clarence Brophy for breaking the case.

A pair of roller skates left in a Chevrolet coupe allegedly taken from the Kingston Coal Company lot on March 18, and returned to the same lot later the same Sunday, was the starting point for the investigation.

After tracing the ownership of the skates, Detective Brophy questioned the boy and several others who "traveled around together," he said. Brophy claimed that he established that the coupe was taken and returned on March 18 after the youngsters, who were kite-flying at the Athletic Field, discovered the coupe and a truck in the coal company yard.

Take Coal Truck

After returning the coupe, Brophy continued, two minor-aged youths took a coal company truck, and later returned that to its proper parking place. Along the line, they stopped to check oil and water and even bought some gasoline, Brophy said.

Further questioning by Brophy led to arrest of two other minors of the same group on charges that they stole two A. D. Rose, Inc., trucks from the company's garage on Furnace street, shortly before last Christmas.

They allegedly drove to Catskill, Brophy reported, and started back. At Saugerties, one of the trucks overheated, and its driver abandoned it there, making the return trip with the other youngster. The second truck was returned to its garage. Entrance to the garage had been made through the roof, Brophy charged, and from inside the boys were able to open the door and drive the trucks away.

MacArthur Would Go to Korea To Talk Peace; Orders Troops To Cross 38th if Necessary

Dropping Behind Communist Lines

U. S. paratroopers spill out of flying boxcars 21 miles northwest of Seoul and 9 miles south of the 38th Parallel in a surprise maneuver expected to trap thousands of Chinese Communists, March 23. The paratroopers later linked up with advancing UN ground troops and armor. (A.P. Wirephoto via radio from Tokyo).

Good Friday Parachute Drop Routs Commies From Last Sizeable Area in South

No Significance

Parallel Line Never Observed by Navy or Air Force

Tokyo, March 24 (AP)—General MacArthur today offered to discuss peace with the Red commander in Korea and ordered United Nations troops to cross Parallel 38 if necessary.

MacArthur issued his offer and order as advancing allied forces stamped out almost the last organized Red resistance south of the border of Red Korea.

A Good Friday parachute drop aided in routiing the Reds from their last sizable area in South Korea.

"I stand ready at any time to confer in the field with the commander-in-chief of the enemy forces in the earnest effort to settle U.N. political objectives in Korea and end the fighting," MacArthur said. He issued his statement before he flew to Seoul Saturday on his 14th visit to the fighting front.

On his return to Tokyo, MacArthur told correspondents he had directed the U. S. Eighth Army to cross the parallel "if and when its security makes it tactically advisable."

Talked With Washington

The United Nations commander said the status of the old dividing line between North and South Korea has been "thoroughly discussed in recent statements from Washington, London and other capitals.

"No further comment would seem to be necessary. . . ."

"As a matter of fact," MacArthur added, the parallel "has never had any military significance.

"Our naval and air forces cross it at will and both ground forces (Red and allied) have done so in the past."

The top commander said "everything goes well at the front.

"All elements of our forces are in fine spirits and fettle. The enemy supply lines are taking terrific punishment from our implacable naval and air bombardment."

Reds Still on Run

MacArthur said there was no heavy ground fighting at present and "our troops maintain the initiative and the enemy continues to withdraw."

He said Korea south of the 38th Parallel is "substantially clear of enemy forces."

"Everywhere there is a quickening effort at rehabilitation and reconstruction."

War-shattered Seoul, he said, "is beginning to resume some evidences of life."

Over Korea, United Nations planes went all-out in pounding the retreating foe.

No Reaction Yet

There was no immediate Communist reaction to MacArthur's peace invitation. But the answer might be in the heaviest enemy traffic in months moving toward the front.

Last fall, MacArthur poised his troops on the boundary between Communist and Republican Korea and sent an ultimatum to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung to quit the war. Kim ignored him.

United Nations troops then crossed the 38th Parallel and went on to the Yalu river boundary separating Korea and Manchuria.

Time for Cities to Clean Up Crime On Their Own, Says Kefauver

Contract Signed On Atom Engines

May Be Several Years Yet Before Planes Use Atomic Power

Washington, March 24 (AP) — Another step has been taken on the road to atomic-powered aircraft engines.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) announced last night it has authorized negotiation of a contract with a General Electric Company division "for the further development of a nuclear reactor for aircraft."

An atomic reactor produces heat. The AEC announcement said the new contract will be negotiated with the aircraft gas turbines division of General Electric, at Cincinnati. A gas turbine engine uses super-heated gases

Will Make Another Try

Paris, France, March 24 (AP)—The Big Four deputy foreign ministers wil make another try today at breaking the deadlock which has bogged down their sessions for the past three weeks. Representatives from the United States, Britain, France and Soviet Russia are trying to agree on a list of subjects which will serve as a basis for a foreign minister's conference.

Birthday on Easter Once in a Century

Jan and Jill Stevens, of Pomona, Cal., are all decked out in Easter finery for a really special occasion Sunday, March 25: It's the only time this century that their birthday falls on Easter. The twins will be a year old. Jill hugs a big bunny balloon while Jan shoves off to hunt Easter eggs. The last time Easter occurred on March 25 was in 1894 and it won't happen again until sometime in the 21st century.

Won't Go Along on Extension of Congressional Investigation

Washington, March 24—Chairman Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) of the Senate Crime Committee said today the time has come for American cities to clean out their unsavory underworlds without congressional help.

Despite mounting pressure for the committee to extend its investigation beyond the scheduled March 31 deadline, Kefauver steadfastly refused to go along with the idea.

"We don't want to get into the position where the people are depending on congressional committees to ferret out the details of crime in their communities," he told reporters. "This is the appropriate time to stop."

He said reaction to the investigation has demonstrated the people are determined to do something about crime in their communities, and "I think they should be given a chance to do it. Local communities should not depend on congressional committees."

Against Legalized Gambling

In a broadcast on the CBS program "Hear It Now" last night Kefauver said "legalized gambling is not the answer" to organized crime in the country.

He said his committee's report will note this. He did not say, in the broadcast, what he does consider the answer to gambling and allied criminal activity.

With only a week to go—unless an extension is voted over Kefauver's protests—the committee arranged for two witnesses to appear today in an unusual pre-Easter hearing.

The witnesses were identified as Louis Farrell of Des Moines, Ia., whose name has cropped up in the hearings at Kansas City and Chicago, and Sidney Brodson, reputed Milwaukee betting commissioner.

Next week, if present committee plans stand, the committee will call in Abner (Longie) Zwillian of Newark, N. J., for a night session Monday along with three or four witnesses from Cleveland and northern Kentucky.

Influences Politics

Zwillian has been named to the committee as a former underworld chieftain who now is engaged in legitimate business. A committee official said he has exerted a "powerful influence" in politics. The committee did not announced the names of other prospective witnesses.

Monday morning the committee will hear representatives of the Justice Department and related agencies in open hearing. A closed meeting will be held with the same representatives in the afternoon.

Representatives of the Treasury Department and related agencies will appear in the same manner Tuesday.

This testimony will deal with the legislative recommendations which Kefauver wants to whip in shape for action at this session.

While the Tennessee lawmaker remained adamant in his refusal to ask that the investigation be

40 Planes Search Ocean for Victims

Giant Transport Missing Over Atlantic; Rafts Reported Afloat

Shannon, Airport, March 24 (AP)—Forty planes criss-crossed the cold waters of the Atlantic today in a hunt for a giant United States Air Force transport with 53 persons aboard. They were spurred by a report that "quite a few" life rafts had been sighted in the search area.

Five ships were also steaming full speed for the area about 450 miles west of Ireland.

An NBC broadcast from London quoted the British Admiralty as source for information that survivors already were being picked up. The admiralty denied it had issued such a report. It could not be confirmed by the U. S. Navy in London or the U. S. Air Force mission at Shannon, either.

Argentina Claims New Atomic Method

Buenos Aires, March 24 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron announced today that Argentina has produced atomic energy by a new method unknown to other countries.

Peron told a news conference that through "thermonuclear reactions" Argentine scientists on Feb. 15 obtained the "controlled release of atomic energy."

He said successful experiments took place at the government's atomic energy pilot plant at Huemul Island near San Carlos De Bariloche. The island is near the Chilean border about 850 airline miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

Trade Schools Now Under Anti-Discrimination Law

Albany, N. Y., March 24 (AP)—New York's law banning racial and religious discrimination in higher education was amended today to include business and trade schools.

Governor Dewey signed a bill bringing those schools under the Fair Educational Practices Act of 1948.

The amendment was sponsored by the State Education Department and the State Commission Against Discrimination.

The Education Department administers the anti-discrimination law involving education. It does not affect denominational schools. The commission enforces the 1945 Ives-Quinn law prohibiting discrimination in employment.

Signs Other Bills

Dewey signed other bills to:

1—Appropriate $100,000 for the temporary State Commission on School Buildings, authorize the commission to study the problem of providing classrooms in the national emergency, and direct the commission to cooperate with federal and state agencies in establishing construction priorities.

2—Authorize district or local school superintendents to order physical examinations for school bus drivers within two weeks of the beginning of service in each school year "as a school bus driver."

3—Permit school districts to lease their buses to other districts or municipalities to transport children and instructors in connection with authorized youth or recreation projects.

The governor vetoed a bill that would have authorized the town board of any town having an assessed valuation of at least $100,000,000 to establish any of these departments: Assessments, building, garbage and refuse collection and disposal, parks, recreation, sewerage and water.

Congress Report To Recommend Cut In Aid, More Taxes

Three Are Held for Children's Court; Otis Charged With First Degree Larceny

A pair of white shoe-type roller skates provided the only clue that led to the apprehension Friday afternoon of four teen-age boys charged with stealing automobiles and trucks apparently for the sole purpose of joy-riding.

The boys were charged separately with thefts of four vehicles, three of which were returned to the places from which they were taken. The fourth was abandoned at Saugerties when it overheated, police said.

Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren today gave full credit to Detective Clarence Brophy for breaking the case.

A pair of roller skates left in a Chevrolet coupe allegedly taken from the Kingston Coal Company lot on March 18, and returned to the same lot later the same Sunday, was the starting point for the investigation.

After tracing the ownership of the skates, Detective Brophy questioned the boy and several others who "traveled around together," he said. Brophy claimed that he established that the coupe was taken and returned on March 18 after the youngsters, who were kite-flying at the Athletic Field, discovered the coupe and a truck in the coal company yard.

Take Coal Truck

After returning the coupe, Brophy continued, two minor-aged youths took a coal company truck, and later returned that to its proper parking place. Along the line, they stopped to check oil and water and even bought some gasoline, Brophy said.

Further questioning by Brophy led to arrest of two other minors of the same group on charges that they stole two A. D. Rose, Inc., trucks from the company's garage on Furnace street, shortly before last Christmas.

They allegedly drove to Catskill, Brophy reported, and started back. At Saugerties, one of the trucks overheated, and its driver abandoned it there, making the return trip with the other youngster. The second truck was returned to its garage. Entrance to the garage had been made through the roof, Brophy charged, and from inside the boys were able to open the door and drive the trucks away.

MacArthur Would Go to Korea To Talk Peace; Orders Troops To Cross 38th if Necessary

Dropping Behind Communist Lines

U. S. paratroopers spill out of flying boxcars 21 miles northwest of Seoul and 9 miles south of the 38th Parallel in a surprise maneuver expected to trap thousands of Chinese Communists, March 23. Good Friday Parachute Drop Routs Commies From Last Sizeable Area in South

No Significance

Parallel Line Never Observed by Navy or Air Force

Tokyo, March 24 (AP)—General MacArthur today offered to discuss peace with the Red commander in Korea and ordered United Nations troops to cross Parallel 38 if necessary.

MacArthur issued his offer and order as advancing allied forces stamped out almost the last organized Red resistance south of the border of Red Korea.

A Good Friday parachute drop aided in routiing the Reds from their last sizable area in South Korea.

"I stand ready at any time to confer in the field with the commander-in-chief of the enemy forces in the earnest effort to settle U.N. political objectives in Korea and end the fighting," MacArthur said. He issued his statement before he flew to Seoul Saturday on his 14th visit to the fighting front.

On his return to Tokyo, MacArthur told correspondents he had directed the U. S. Eighth Army to cross the parallel "if and when its security makes it tactically advisable."

Talked With Washington

The United Nations commander said the status of the old dividing line between North and South Korea has been "thoroughly discussed in recent statements from Washington, London and other capitals.

"No further comment would seem to be necessary. . . ."

"As a matter of fact," MacArthur added, the parallel "has never had any military significance.

"Our naval and air forces cross it at will and both ground forces (Red and allied) have done so in the past."

The top commander said "everything goes well at the front.

"All elements of our forces are in fine spirits and fettle. The enemy supply lines are taking terrific punishment from our implacable naval and air bombardment."

Reds Still on Run

MacArthur said there was no heavy ground fighting at present and "our troops maintain the initiative and the enemy continues to withdraw."

He said Korea south of the 38th Parallel is "substantially clear of enemy forces."

"Everywhere there is a quickening effort at rehabilitation and reconstruction."

War-shattered Seoul, he said, "is beginning to resume some evidences of life."

Over Korea, United Nations planes went all-out in pounding the retreating foe.

No Reaction Yet

There was no immediate Communist reaction to MacArthur's peace invitation. But the answer might be in the heaviest enemy traffic in months moving toward the front.

Last fall, MacArthur poised his troops on the boundary between Communist and Republican Korea and sent an ultimatum to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung to quit the war. Kim ignored him.

United Nations troops then crossed the 38th Parallel and went on to the Yalu river boundary separating Korea and Manchuria.

Won't Go Along on Extension of Congressional Investigation

Washington, March 24—Chairman Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) of the Senate Crime Committee said today the time has come for American cities to clean out their unsavory underworlds without congressional help.

Despite mounting pressure for the committee to extend its investigation beyond the scheduled March 31 deadline, Kefauver steadfastly refused to go along with the idea.

"We don't want to get into the position where the people are depending on congressional committees to ferret out the details of crime in their communities," he told reporters. "This is the appropriate time to stop."

He said reaction to the investigation has demonstrated the people are determined to do something about crime in their communities, and "I think they should be given a chance to do it. Local communities should not depend on congressional committees."

Against Legalized Gambling

In a broadcast on the CBS program "Hear It Now" last night Kefauver said "legalized gambling is not the answer" to organized crime in the country.

He said his committee's report will note this. He did not say, in the broadcast, what he does consider the answer to gambling and allied criminal activity.

With only a week to go—unless an extension is voted over Kefauver's protests—the committee arranged for two witnesses to appear today in an unusual pre-Easter hearing.

The witnesses were identified as Louis Farrell of Des Moines, Ia., whose name has cropped up in the hearings at Kansas City and Chicago, and Sidney Brodson, reputed Milwaukee betting commissioner.

Next week, if present committee plans stand, the committee will call in Abner (Longie) Zwillian of Newark, N. J., for a night session Monday along with three or four witnesses from Cleveland and northern Kentucky.

Influences Politics

Zwillian has been named to the committee as a former underworld chieftain who now is engaged in legitimate business. A committee official said he has exerted a "powerful influence" in politics. The committee did not announced the names of other prospective witnesses.

Monday morning the committee will hear representatives of the Justice Department and related agencies in open hearing. A closed meeting will be held with the same representatives in the afternoon.

Representatives of the Treasury Department and related agencies will appear in the same manner Tuesday.

This testimony will deal with the legislative recommendations which Kefauver wants to whip in shape for action at this session.

Washington, March 24 (AP) — Another step has been taken on the road to atomic-powered aircraft engines.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) announced last night it has authorized negotiation of a contract with a General Electric Company division "for the further development of a nuclear reactor for aircraft."

Shannon, Airport, March 24 (AP)—Forty planes criss-crossed the cold waters of the Atlantic today in a hunt for a giant United States Air Force transport with 53 persons aboard. They were spurred by a report that "quite a few" life rafts had been sighted in the search area.

Five ships were also steaming full speed for the area about 450 miles west of Ireland.

An NBC broadcast from London quoted the British Admiralty as source for information that survivors already were being picked up. The admiralty denied it had issued such a report. It could not be confirmed by the U. S. Navy in London or the U. S. Air Force mission at Shannon, either.

Buenos Aires, March 24 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron announced today that Argentina has produced atomic energy by a new method unknown to other countries.

Peron told a news conference that through "thermonuclear reactions" Argentine scientists on Feb. 15 obtained the "controlled release of atomic energy."

He said successful experiments took place at the government's atomic energy pilot plant at Huemul Island near San Carlos De Bariloche. The island is near the Chilean border about 850 airline miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

Trade Schools Now Under Anti-Discrimination Law

Albany, N. Y., March 24 (AP)—New York's law banning racial and religious discrimination in higher education was amended today to include business and trade schools.

Governor Dewey signed a bill bringing those schools under the Fair Educational Practices Act of 1948.

The amendment was sponsored by the State Education Department and the State Commission Against Discrimination.

The Education Department administers the anti-discrimination law involving education. It does not affect denominational schools. The commission enforces the 1945 Ives-Quinn law prohibiting discrimination in employment.

Signs Other Bills

Dewey signed other bills to:

1—Appropriate $100,000 for the temporary State Commission on School Buildings, authorize the commission to study the problem of providing classrooms in the national emergency, and direct the commission to cooperate with federal and state agencies in establishing construction priorities.

2—Authorize district or local school superintendents to order physical examinations for school bus drivers within two weeks of the beginning of service in each school year "as a school bus driver."

3—Permit school districts to lease their buses to other districts or municipalities to transport children and instructors in connection with authorized youth or recreation projects.

The governor vetoed a bill that would have authorized the town board of any town having an assessed valuation of at least $100,000,000 to establish any of these departments: Assessments, building, garbage and refuse collection and disposal, parks, recreation, sewerage and water.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

New Problems Crop Up To Plague Mobilization Effort in United States

Auto Problem

Government Is Caught in Squeeze as Army Operates Railroads

Washington, March 24 (AP) — A new crop of price, wage and production problems sprang up today to plague the nation's mobilization officials.

One of these the pay raise claims of 1,000,000 railroad workers—posed a major threat to wage stabilization.

Another—A 25 per cent slash in tire and tube deliveries for new passenger cars appeared certain to bring strong protests from the automobile industry and some auto buyers.

The government itself was caught in a squeeze by the railway wage raise claim. Since the army took over the railroads last August to avert a strike threat, it is technically responsible for terms and conditions of employment.

Under their labor contracts, the railroad workers are assured pay boosts to meet rising living costs. The Bureau of Labor Statistics' latest cost-of-living index, released last night, gave them grounds for claiming a six-cent hourly raise.

But this, added to the 12½ cents granted March 1 by the carriers would shatter the government's wage formula which restricts raises to 10 per cent above Jan. 15, 1950 levels.

Calls for Contract Plans

A spokesman for Assistant Secretary of Defense Carl Bendetsen, who has been running the railroads for the army, said present plans call for carrying out the workers' contract provisions. Bendetsen himself was not available for comment.

But Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has refused to approve a beyond-ceiling raise for 220,000 meat packinghouse workers. His office said he had not been asked to approve the railroad hike, but probably would treat it the same way.

The cost-of-living index hit a new high as of Feb. 15. It climbed 1.3 points in the preceding month to 183.8 per cent of the 1935-39 base period. This was eight per cent pre-Korean war level for June, 1950.

The first date on which an adjustment would be made for the railroad workers would be April 7, but the majority of workers would not get the new rates until the middle of April. This gave the army and stabilization officials a slight breathing spell before any real crisis develops.

The cut in tires for new passenger cars was even deeper than the 20 per cent reduction in steel for automobiles which previously had been ordered.

Tires For 30 Days

It is effective April 1, the National Production Authority (NPA) announced last night NPA also disclosed that tire inventories of distributors, including wholesalers and retailers, will be limited after that date to a 30-day supply.

Officials indicated the tire cut was ordered because of mounting defense use of rubber and a loss of about 4,000 long tons in the production of synthetic rubber expected in April. Fires and other operational difficulties at synthetic plants were blamed for the expected production drop.

In other new developments in the mobilization drive:

1. President Truman signed bills to (a) extend rent control for three months through June 30 and (b) authorize the government to

Congress Report ToRecommendCut In Aid, More Taxes

WouldAbolishFarm,Other Federal Subsidies; to Set Living Standards

By DREW PEARSON

One of the most important economic reports ever prepared by Congress will soon recommend the removal of farm support prices and a high tax program which may set American living standards for the next 10 to 20 years. It is also proposed to abolish all federal subsidies to the states.

The report has the support of both Senators Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Democrat, and Bob Taft, Ohio Republican, and has been adopted, so far confidentially, by the Joint Congressional Committee on the economic report.

Though the report has not been made public, this column has obtained a copy. Its recommendations are based upon a "long pull," which is expected to strain the nation's economy for the next 10 to 20 years.

In blunt language, the report urges: "It is essential that new and heavier taxes be promptly assessed. Increases in withholding rates and corporation profits taxes are vital now. They are necessary to put a damper on price increases which are steadily gnawing away at civilian income and government appropriations."

The report adds, however, that "people with incomes of $3,000 a year or less are already overburdened by the increasing cost of living and the present level of taxes. The government cannot look to them for any substantial new revenue."

Watch the Military

Warning against writing a blank check for the military, the report declares: "In a long period of heavy defense expenditures, there does not exist the urgency to spend first and then look around and see how much the government will need to borrow in order to pay its bills . . . The defense garment should be cut to the revenue cloth . . . Military hoarding of manpower and materials must be kept to a minimum."

The report also warns that "deficit spending cannot be contemplated even for the current defense program, unless we are willing to invite the crack-up of the American system . . . Congress, short of all-out war, should make no military appropriation unless and until adequate tax revenues are definitely in sight."

Here are other important highlights of the Taft-O'Mahoney economic blueprint.

1. The report drastically suggests abolishing federal aid to states and relying upon "traditionaly local methods of financing education and medical aid and public health." The report points out that in a period of long-run inflation and economic strain, the "role of the federal government with respect to state governments might well be reversed."

No Parity Prices

2. The report describes farm parity as a "device which was invented at the depths of the agricultural depression" and hints strongly that it is now out of date. "To permit private price support

Strike Deadline Is Extended by All but CIO Workers

Chicago, March 24 (AP)—The threat of an immediate serious strike by more than 200,000 workers against the nation's meat packing industry eased today.

AFL and independent union workers have promised to stay on the job for at least six weeks past the threatened strike deadline of midnight Sunday.

But there remained the possibility of a walkout by some 120,000 members of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers.

The unions are not in dispute with the packers. Their threatened walkout stems from the government's refusal to approve an 11-cent hourly wage boost.

The CIO union, at meetings with major packers yesterday, failed to agree to extend the strike deadline. Further meetings were planned. President Ralph Helstein said the union's strike strategy committee remained in Chicago "for strike call action at any time."

The CIO workers can strike at any time after midnight Sunday when the present contract expires. Most of them are employed by the large packing plants.

Reach Agreement

But the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen reached an agreement with Swift and Armour, two major packers, not to strike at least until May 6. A union spokesman said similar agreements will be made with other packers. Most of the AFL union's 100,000 members work for the smaller packing firms.

Swift also reached agreement with the Independent National Brotherhood of Packinghouse Workers delaying a threatened strike of its 10,000 members until May 7.

The extension of the strike deadline is designed to give government officials a chance to reconsider the wage hike agreed by the packers and unions on Feb. 9.

Good Friday Here Is Observed With Great Reverence

Good Friday had a greater significance in Kingston because of the concentrated efforts of two clergymen in which they were supported by businessmen of the city.

Yesterday from 12 noon to 3 p. m. approximately 100 places of business closed their doors while shoppers, clerks and the proprietors observed what Christian faiths call the holy hours, commemorating the death of Christ.

Clothing stores, notion and style shops, drug stores, restaurants and grills had signs on their front doors informing customers that they would not open until after 3 p. m.

The move to close for the three-hours period was instigated by two clergymen of different religious denominations, the Rev. John D. Simmons of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church and the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of Old First Church.

They made personal calls on some merchants, then expressed their sentiments about observing Good Friday in a letter to The Editor of The Freeman. From this point on, there was a mass voluntary move in favor of their recommendation.

Action Praised

There were many favorable comments heard yesterday on the effectiveness of their proposal, which met favor with Christian and Jewish businessmen alike.

After the holy period, shoppers crowded stores to do their Easter shopping, with apparel buyers hoping for a smile from the weather man on the Easter parade.

Generally clear skies are forecast for tomorrow but the cold weather which hit the midwest areas today was pushing eastward and was expected to cover the eastern states by Sunday morning.

Churches planned their annual observance of the Resurrection and members of the armed forces in Korea prepared to observe the holy occurrence on the bleak hillsides of that land.

Investigate Probable Method Of Buying Tax Deductions

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Investigating senators took a new look today at what appeared to be a method of buying income tax deductions.

The practice was described during a Senate subcommittee's investigations of charges of political influence in Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) operations.

House and Senate taxation committees are expected to give close attention to the testimony.

A Senate banking subcommittee headed by Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark) dug up the story in its investigation of the RFC.

The group has placed in its official record a letter it demanded from Francis N. Rosenbaum, Washington lawyer. Rosenbaum is a brother of Joseph H. Rosenbaum, whom the subcommittee has named as a member of an influence clique powerful enough to sway RFC judgment on the granting of huge loans.

Rosenbaum's letter, the subcommittee said, fills in gaps left by his brother's testimony when the tax angle bobbed up in hearings three weeks ago. The letter said the Rosenbaum law firm acquired an option to purchase a Brooklyn, N. Y., firm because "it had a valuable tax carry-forward" which the present owners were "not in position to utilize."

As explained by Rosenbaum, the "tax carry-forward" means that operating losses the firm had incurred could be claimed as an income tax deduction by whoever purchased it.

Fulbright, in a public hearing, has denounced the practice as "improper" trading in income tax deductions.

Price Clamp Due On Groceries

Cincinnati, March 24 (AP)—Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle confirmed last night the long-waited price-clamp on groceries is coming within the week.

He said three new food regulations will place price lids on 65 per cent of dry groceries.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are excluded, the head of the Office of Price Stabilization reported. Meats already are controlled under separate regulations.

DiSalle, who made the announcement in an interview here, stated, too, that manufacturers will be ordered to roll back their prices to pre-Korean war levels. That regulation should be forthcoming in about 10 days, he added.

Christians of the old and the new world prepared today to celebrate the Easter miracle of the risen Christ in sunrise services, pontifical Masses and pilgrimages to holy places.

A record number of pilgrims attended services and visited shrines in the drought-parched Holy Land.

In a world beset with anxiety, prayer for peace dominated the 1951 eastern observances.

Churches—both Protestant and Catholic—were crowded throughout the United States yesterday for solemn Good Friday services. Stock exchanges were closed in most countries.

Shops were filled with last minute buyers of Easter finery.

'Iron Curtain' Gets Message

Francis Cardinal Spellman sent an Easter message to the people behind the Iron Curtain saying that Americans would pray tomorrow that the celebration of Christ's resurrection would be "prophetic of your own delivery from persecution and enslavement."

A recording of the message was made for the National Committee for Free Europe and will be beamed in several languages to eastern European nations by radio free Europe.

In Jerusalem, before the door of the darkened basilcia of the Holy Sepulchre, the Easter theme of the rebirth of Christ was enacted with the traditional lighting of "the new Easter fire." Sparks struck from flint and steel ignited wood and kindling in a brazier which in turn will be used to light ceremonial candles and sanctuary lamps darkened over Good Friday.

Thousands in Journey

The Holy City, crowded with pilgrims, ended its traditional Holy Week services of mourning last night and prepared for the joyous feast of the Resurrection. Pontifical high Mass in the basilica tomorrow morning will be attended by diplomats in formal attire.

Thousands of Europeans and many Americans made the Good Friday journey in the footsteps of Christ through the winding cobblestoned streets of the old walled city, the storied last journey to Cavalry.

The earliest observance along Via Dolorosa was by a group of Anglicans who made the journey at dawn.

THE WAY TO CALVARY
Resurrection
The body of Jesus was placed in a sepulchre owned by Joseph of Arimathea who had permission from Pilate to bury Him there. Soldiers were placed on guard at the tomb, lest His body be stolen, and a great stone sealed the entrance.
But when Mary Magdalene and "the other Mary" came to anoint His body with spices, they found the stone rolled back, and "a young man clothed with a white robe," who told them, "He is risen."
COPR. 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.
3-24
And as they went to tell His disciples, wrote Matthew, Jesus met them, saying, "All hail!" And He bade them tell His disciples to meet Him in Galilee, where He came and bade them to go forth and teach all nations . . . "and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

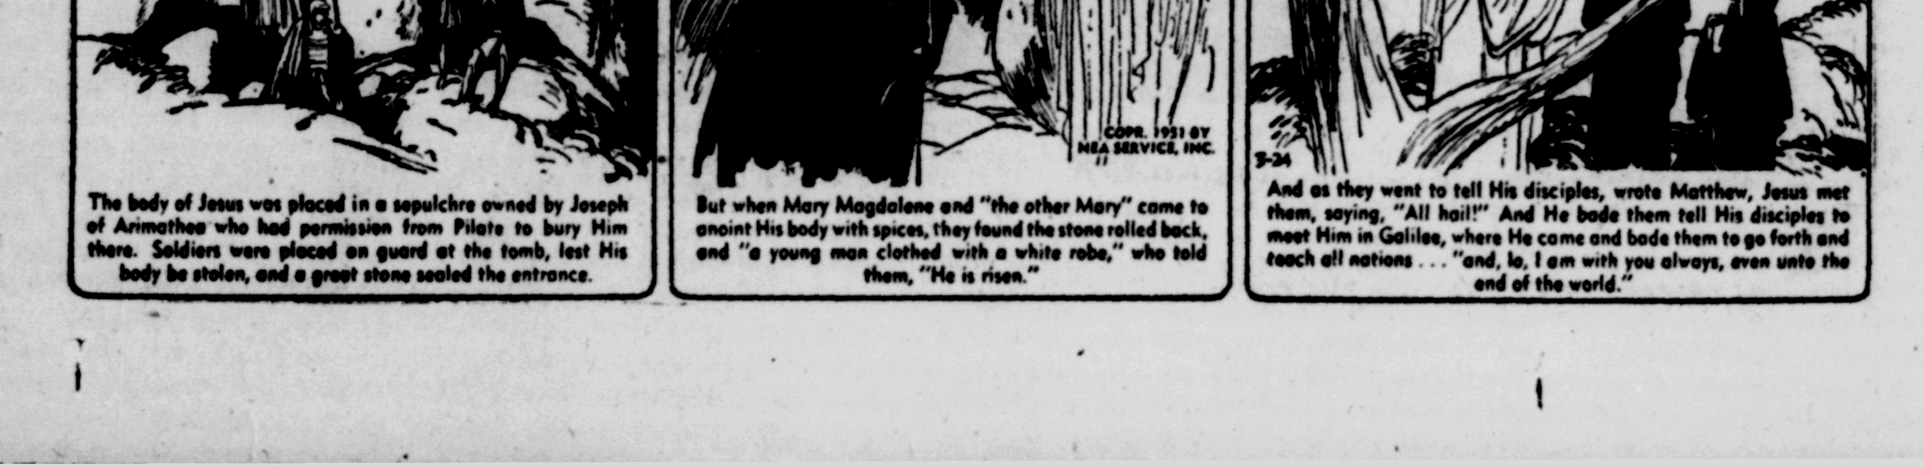
THE WAY TO CALVARY

Resurrection



COPR. 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.
3-24

The body of Jesus was placed in a sepulchre owned by Joseph of Arimathea who had permission from Pilate to bury Him there. Soldiers were placed on guard at the tomb, lest His body be stolen, and a great stone sealed the entrance.

But when Mary Magdalene and "the other Mary" came to anoint His body with spices, they found the stone rolled back, and "a young man clothed with a white robe," who told them, "He is risen."

And as they went to tell His disciples, wrote Matthew, Jesus met them, saying, "All hail!" And He bade them tell His disciples to meet Him in Galilee, where He came and bade them to go forth and teach all nations . . . "and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

Prayers for Peace To Dominate 1951 Easter Observance

(By The Associated Press)

Christians of the old and the new world prepared today to celebrate the Easter miracle of the risen Christ in sunrise services, pontifical Masses and pilgrimages to holy places.

A record number of pilgrims attended services and visited shrines in the drought-parched Holy Land.

In a world beset with anxiety, prayer for peace dominated the 1951 eastern observances.

Churches—both Protestant and Catholic—were crowded throughout the United States yesterday for solemn Good Friday services. Stock exchanges were closed in most countries.

Shops were filled with last minute buyers of Easter finery.

'Iron Curtain' Gets Message

Francis Cardinal Spellman sent an Easter message to the people behind the Iron Curtain saying that Americans would pray tomorrow that the celebration of Christ's resurrection would be "prophetic of your own delivery from persecution and enslavement."

A recording of the message was made for the National Committee for Free Europe and will be beamed in several languages to eastern European nations by radio free Europe.

In Jerusalem, before the door of the darkened basilcia of the Holy Sepulchre, the Easter theme of the rebirth of Christ was enacted with the traditional lighting of "the new Easter fire." Sparks struck from flint and steel ignited wood and kindling in a brazier which in turn will be used to light ceremonial candles and sanctuary lamps darkened over Good Friday.

Thousands in Journey

The Holy City, crowded with pilgrims, ended its traditional Holy Week services of mourning last night and prepared for the joyous feast of the Resurrection. Pontifical high Mass in the basilica tomorrow morning will be attended by diplomats in formal attire.

Thousands of Europeans and many Americans made the Good Friday journey in the footsteps of Christ through the winding cobblestoned streets of the old walled city, the storied last journey to Cavalry.

The earliest observance along Via Dolorosa was by a group of Anglicans who made the journey at dawn.

Prayers for Peace To Dominate 1951 Easter Observance

(By The Associated Press)

Christians of the old and the new world prepared today to celebrate the Easter miracle of the risen Christ in sunrise services, pontifical Masses and pilgrimages to holy places.

A record number of pilgrims attended services and visited shrines in the drought-parched Holy Land.

In a world beset with anxiety, prayer for peace dominated the 1951 eastern observances.

Churches—both Protestant and Catholic—were crowded throughout the United States yesterday for solemn Good Friday services. Stock exchanges were closed in most countries.

Shops were filled with last minute buyers of Easter finery.

'Iron Curtain' Gets Message

Francis Cardinal Spellman sent an Easter message to the people behind the Iron Curtain saying that Americans would pray tomorrow that the celebration of Christ's resurrection would be "prophetic of your own delivery from persecution and enslavement."

A recording of the message was made for the National Committee for Free Europe and will be beamed in several languages to eastern European nations by radio free Europe.

In Jerusalem, before the door of the darkened basilica of the Holy Sepulchre, the Easter theme of the rebirth of Christ was enacted with the traditional lighting of "the new Easter fire." Sparks struck from flint and steel ignited wood and kindling in a brazier which in turn will be used to light ceremonial candles and sanctuary lamps darkened over Good Friday.

Thousands in Journey

The Holy City, crowded with pilgrims, ended its traditional Holy Week services of mourning last night and prepared for the joyous feast of the Resurrection. Pontifical high Mass in the basilica tomorrow morning will be attended by diplomats in formal attire.

Thousands of Europeans and many Americans made the Good Friday journey in the footsteps of Christ through the winding cobblestoned streets of the old walled city, the storied last journey to Calvary.

The earliest observance along Via Dolorosa was by a group of Anglicans who made the journey at dawn.

THE WAY TO CALVARY

Resurrection

COPR. 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.
3-24

The body of Jesus was placed in a sepulchre owned by Joseph of Arimathea who had permission from Pilate to bury Him there. Soldiers were placed on guard at the tomb, lest His body be stolen, and a great stone sealed the entrance.

But when Mary Magdalene and "the other Mary" came to anoint His body with spices, they found the stone rolled back, and "a young man clothed with a white robe," who told them, "He is risen."

And as they went to tell His disciples, wrote Matthew, Jesus met them, saying, "All hail!" And He bade them tell His disciples to meet Him in Galilee, where He came and bade them to go forth and teach all nations . . . "and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

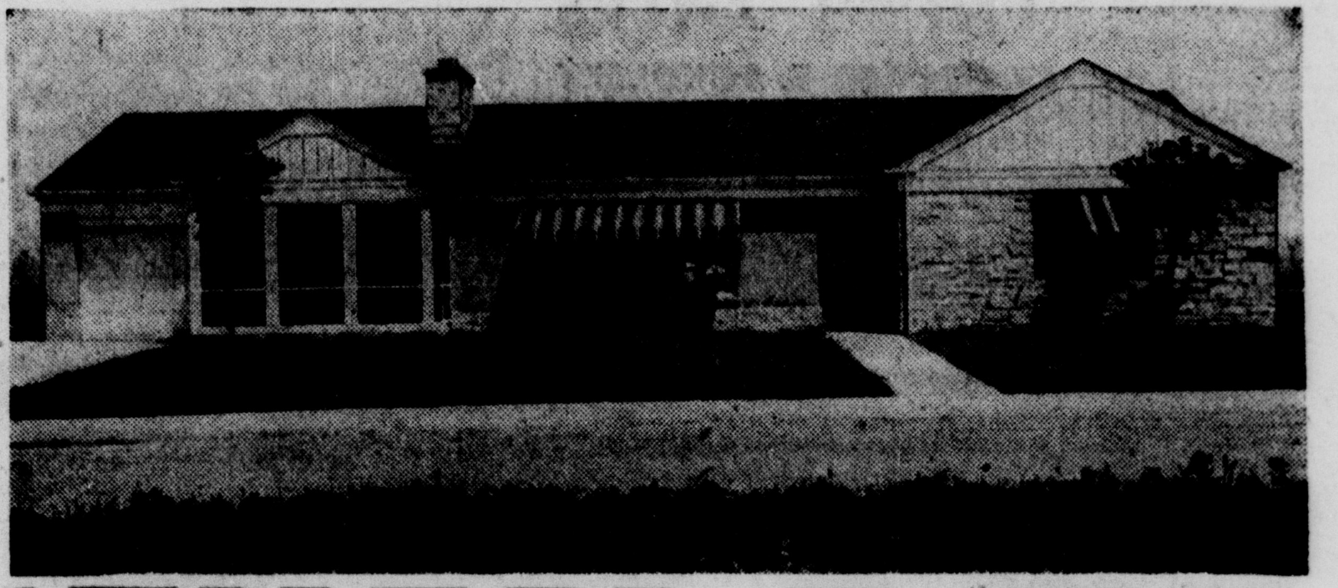
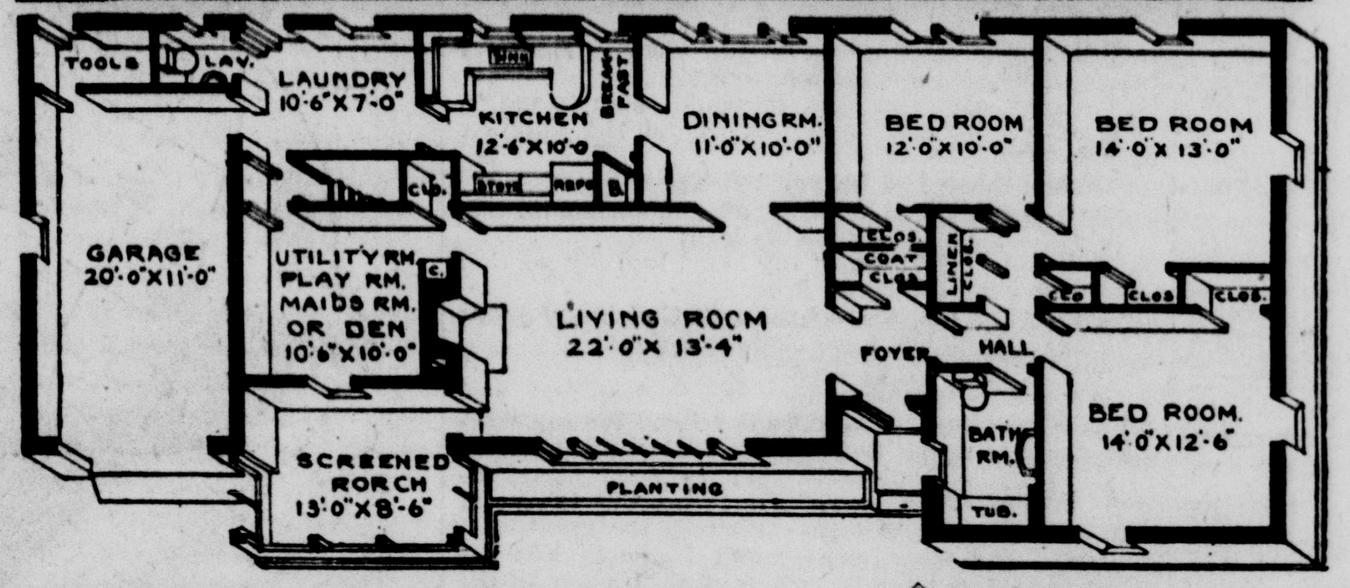
THE ELGIN





Extra Closets Most Welcome

When the man of the family makes a hobby of carpentry, and a very good avocation that is to encourage, then it's a smart woman who harnesses such talent to her own ends. There's hardly a house in town that couldn't use some extra closets here and there, especially if they can be worked into a realy decorative design.

For example a bedroom with French provincial furniture, remodelled as follows:

Across one end of the room was built a panelled wall with an alcove in the center of which were built frames for two bunk beds. At each end of this wall was a closet. The entire panelling was nicely detailed with scrolls and moldings, which repeated those on a French provincial chest used in the room.

Adds Distinction to Room

Stained in a mellow beech brown, then waxed, this panelled wall added distinction to the room. A matching wallpaper and chintz ensemble of a prim floral pattern, was selected, the wallpaper for the other three walls of the room, the chintz for curtains, spreads and slip covers. For the floor a plain light green broadlooom rug was a good selection.

Another room, which a woodworking husband made possible in his spare time, was designed for a little boy. Here also, an entire wall of the room was given over to a built-in unit, this one planned with compartments to hold all the junk a boy accumulates.

There was a place for his small radio and the portable photograph, with a special section for records. There was a cubbyhole for hockey sticks, golf clubs, tennis rackets and such, along with shelves for books and collections. All this was built around a work table with a rack of tools above it and a high stool to sit on.

Coated With Shellac

This whole wall unit, built on simple modern lines, was given a coat of clear shellac, then sandpapered and waxed. The other three walls of the room were papered in a light tan paper in a tweed pattern and the floor was covered in a homespun-looking rug in shades of light tan and brown.

To Refinish Stained Stairs

When old stain or dark colored finish has penetrated so deeply into stair treads that discoloration remains after the use of paint remover, a thorough sandpapering, first with coarse sandpaper around a brick and then with fine sandpaper, is advised. The dust then can be removed by a dry brush or use of a vacuum cleaner. The new stain should be applied in accordance with the manufacturer's directions on the container. Two coats of floor varnish or a first quality floor sealer can be used to complete the finishing.

Flooring for Radiant Heat

One of the important postwar innovations in home building is radiant heat from hot-water pipes embedded in concrete floors. This provides more uniform temperature and eliminates radiators. Architects widely specify that the concrete be covered with asphalt tile flooring because it does not warp and permits a maximum amount of heat to reach the room.

A Modern Ranch-Type Home With Ample Room

Rooms	Eight
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Eight
Cubage	40,200 ft.
Dimensions	77 x 25 ft.

Because it is not necessary to have a cellar under the three bedrooms and bath in the right wing of the Elgin, you can save money on cellar excavation and construction costs and reduce overall expenses of building the Elgin. Of course, if you prefer, you can have a full cellar under this house.

Measuring 77 by 25 feet, the Elgin has a cubage of 36,600 feet with partial cellar excavation. The cubage is 40,200 feet with a full cellar.

Fieldstone Used

A combination of fieldstone, brick and wood is suggested for the house's exterior finish; such a varied finish perfectly suits the appearance of informality that typifies today's popular ranch house. Why not paint the exterior wooden sections white and add color to the house exterior by having asphalt shingles, in any attractive color combination, applied to the roof?

The abundance of windows in the Elgin gives additional decorative appeal to both the interior and exterior of the house; they also perform the practical function of providing light and ventilation and help to bring the outdoors right inside the house.

Offering protection to the visitor the recessed front entrance opens into a foyer. On the right of this foyer there is a central hallway connecting with the bedrooms and bath in the right wing of the house. The archway in the left wall of the foyer leads into the spacious living room.

There is a large coat closet at the end of the foyer so that you'll have a convenient storage spot for your family's stormy weather apparel and footwear as well as a place to hang visitors' coats, hats, etc.

Picture Window

The large picture window, containing 15 small panes and flanked by narrow casement windows, is centered in the front wall of the living room and greatly boosts this room's attractiveness rating.

Measuring 22 by 13 feet, 4 inches in dimensions, the living room also boasts a massive fireplace in the right wall and a long expanse of unbroken space along the back wall. Furniture arrangements should present no problem whatsoever in the living room for there is ample space for a number of attractive and convenient furniture groupings.

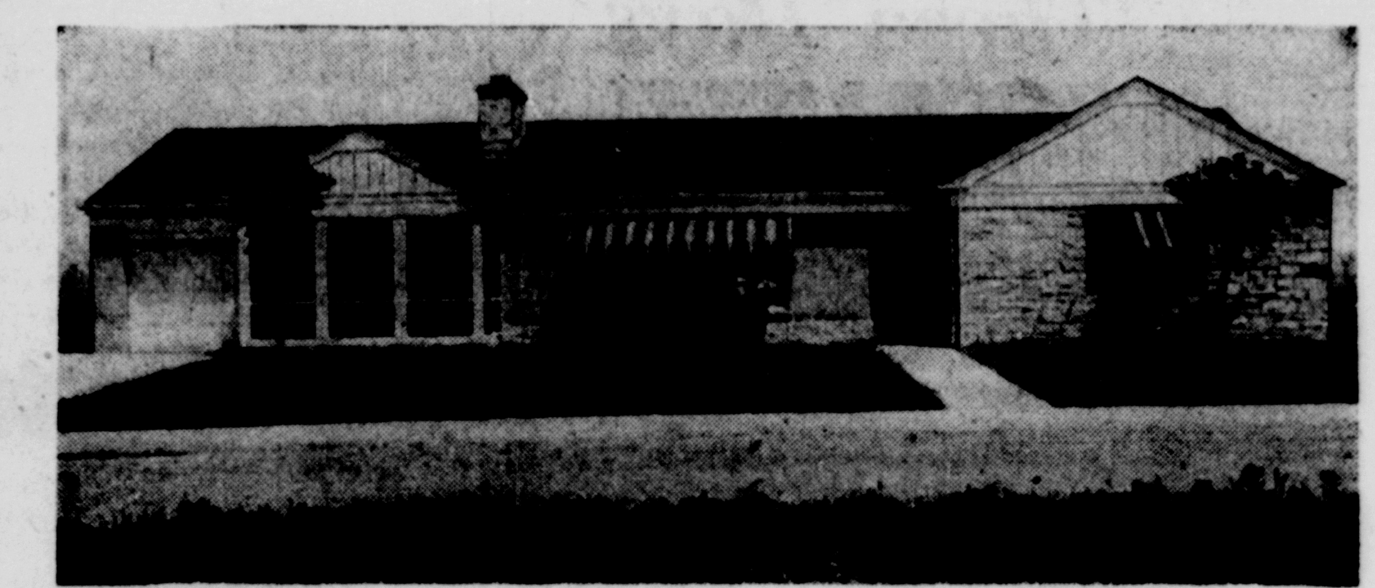
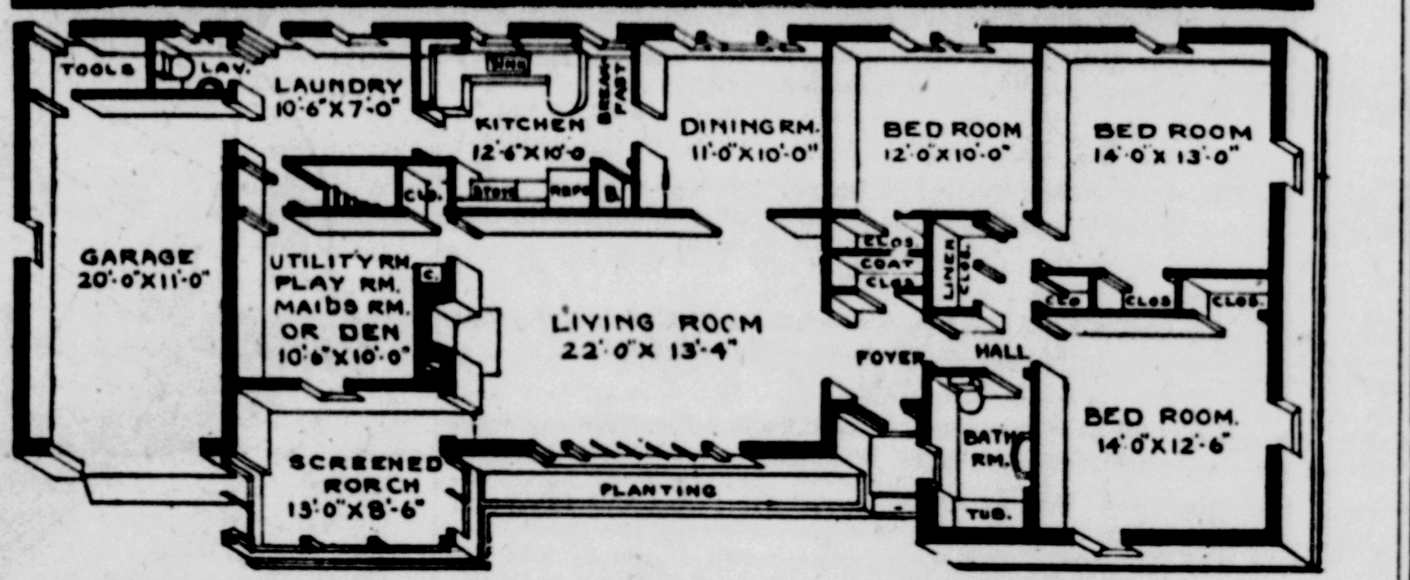
THE ELGIN





Extra Closets Most Welcome

When the man of the family makes a hobby of carpentry, and a very good avocation that is to encourage, then it's a smart woman who harnesses such talent to her own ends. There's hardly a house in town that couldn't use some extra closets here and there, especially if they can be worked into a realy decorative design.

For example a bedroom with French provincial furniture, remodelled as follows:

Across one end of the room was built a panelled wall with an alcove in the center of which were built frames for two bunk beds. At each end of this wall was a closet. The entire panelling was nicely detailed with scrolls and moldings, which repeated those on a French provincial chest used in the room.

Adds Distinction to Room

Stained in a mellow beech brown, then waxed, this panelled wall added distinction to the room. A matching wallpaper and chintz ensemble of a prim floral pattern, was selected, the wallpaper for the other three walls of the room, the chintz for curtains, spreads and slip covers. For the floor a plain light green broadlooom rug was a good selection.

Another room, which a woodworking husband made possible in his spare time, was designed for a little boy. Here also, an entire wall of the room was given over to a built-in unit, this one planned with compartments to hold all the junk a boy accumulates.

There was a place for his small radio and the portable photograph, with a special section for records. There was a cubbyhole for hockey sticks, golf clubs, tennis rackets and such, along with shelves for books and collections. All this was built around a work table with a rack of tools above it and a high stool to sit on.

Coated With Shellac

This whole wall unit, built on simple modern lines, was given a coat of clear shellac, then sandpapered and waxed. The other three walls of the room were papered in a light tan paper in a tweed pattern and the floor was covered in a homespun-looking rug in shades of light tan and brown.

To Refinish Stained Stairs

When old stain or dark colored finish has penetrated so deeply into stair treads that discoloration remains after the use of paint remover, a thorough sandpapering, first with coarse sandpaper around a brick and then with fine sandpaper, is advised. The dust then can be removed by a dry brush or use of a vacuum cleaner. The new stain should be applied in accordance with the manufacturer's directions on the container. Two coats of floor varnish or a first quality floor sealer can be used to complete the finishing.

Flooring for Radiant Heat

One of the important postwar innovations in home building is radiant heat from hot-water pipes embedded in concrete floors. This provides more uniform temperature and eliminates radiators. Architects widely specify that the concrete be covered with asphalt tile flooring because it does not warp and permits a maximum amount of heat to reach the room.

A Modern Ranch-Type Home With Ample Room

Rooms	Eight
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Eight
Cubage	40,200 ft.
Dimensions	77 x 25 ft.

Because it is not necessary to have a cellar under the three bedrooms and bath in the right wing of the Elgin, you can save money on cellar excavation and construction costs and reduce overall expenses of building the Elgin. Of course, if you prefer, you can have a full cellar under this house.

Measuring 77 by 25 feet, the Elgin has a cubage of 36,600 feet with partial cellar excavation. The cubage is 40,200 feet with a full cellar.

Fieldstone Used

A combination of fieldstone, brick and wood is suggested for the house's exterior finish; such a varied finish perfectly suits the appearance of informality that typifies today's popular ranch house. Why not paint the exterior wooden sections white and add color to the house exterior by having asphalt shingles, in any attractive color combination, applied to the roof?

The abundance of windows in the Elgin gives additional decorative appeal to both the interior and exterior of the house; they also perform the practical function of providing light and ventilation and help to bring the outdoors right inside the house.

Offering protection to the visitor the recessed front entrance opens into a foyer. On the right of this foyer there is a central hallway connecting with the bedrooms and bath in the right wing of the house. The archway in the left wall of the foyer leads into the spacious living room.

There is a large coat closet at the end of the foyer so that you'll have a convenient storage spot for your family's stormy weather apparel and footwear as well as a place to hang visitors' coats, hats, etc.

Picture Window

The large picture window, containing 15 small panes and flanked by narrow casement windows, is centered in the front wall of the living room and greatly boosts this room's attractiveness rating.

Measuring 22 by 13 feet, 4 inches in dimensions, the living room also boasts a massive fireplace in the right wall and a long expanse of unbroken space along the back wall. Furniture arrangements should present no problem whatsoever in the living room for there is ample space for a number of attractive and convenient furniture groupings.

Nor is it necessary to use modern furnishings exclusively for more and more folks are now successfully combining the modern and traditional in furniture and decoration and making full use of the best that various periods have to offer. All members and prospective members are asked to attend.

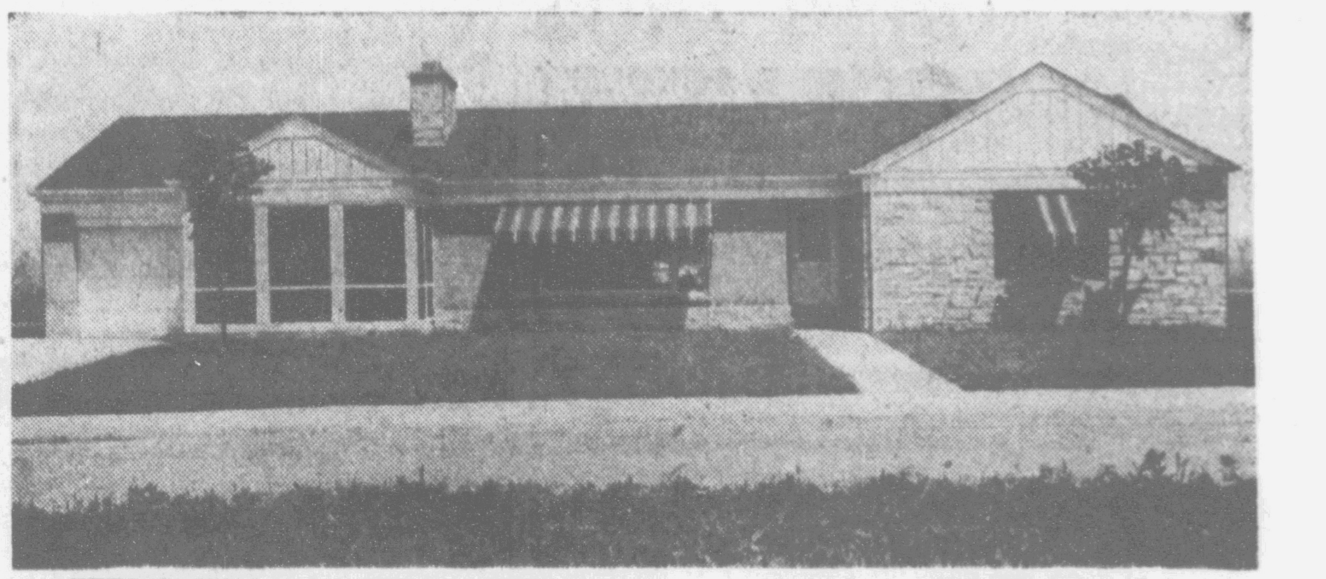
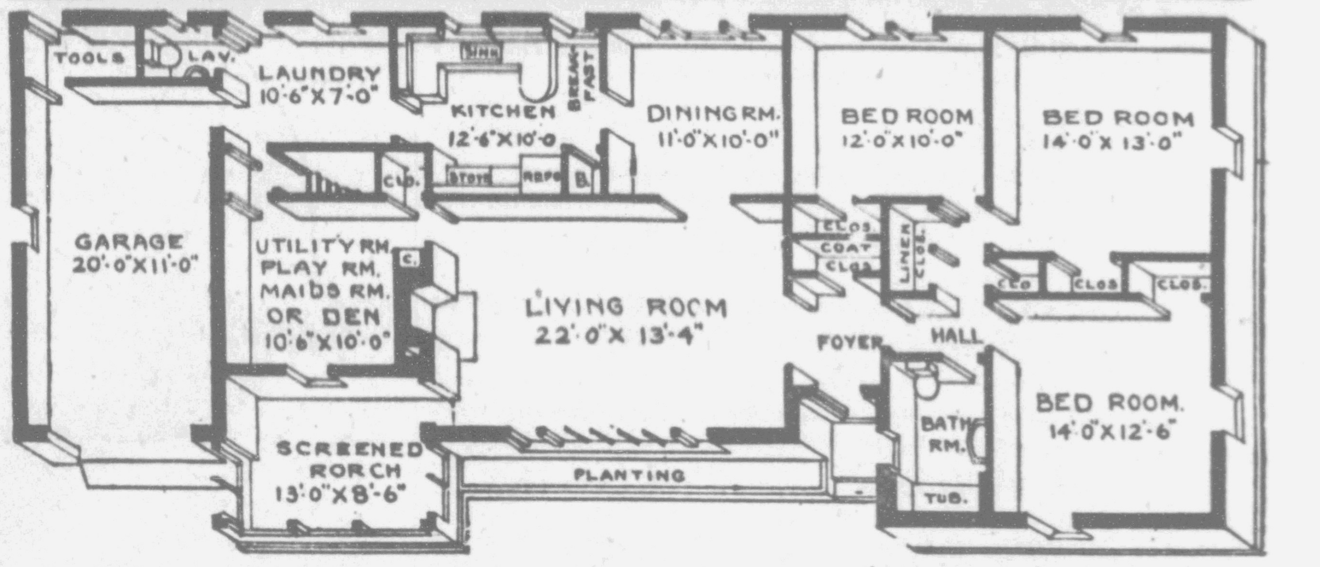
THE ELGIN





Extra Closets Most Welcome

When the man of the family makes a hobby of carpentry, and a very good avocation that is to encourage, then it's a smart woman who harnesses such talent to her own ends. There's hardly a house in town that couldn't use some extra closets here and there, especially if they can be worked into a realy decorative design.

For example a bedroom with French provincial furniture, remodelled as follows:

Across one end of the room was built a panelled wall with an alcove in the center of which were built frames for two bunk beds. At each end of this wall was a closet. The entire panelling was nicely detailed with scrolls and moldings, which repeated those on a French provincial chest used in the room.

Adds Distinction to Room

Stained in a mellow beech brown, then waxed, this panelled wall added distinction to the room. A matching wallpaper and chintz ensemble of a prim floral pattern, was selected, the wallpaper for the other three walls of the room, the chintz for curtains, spreads and slip covers. For the floor a plain light green broadlooom rug was a good selection.

Another room, which a woodworking husband made possible in his spare time, was designed for a little boy. Here also, an entire wall of the room was given over to a built-in unit, this one planned with compartments to hold all the junk a boy accumulates.

There was a place for his small radio and the portable photograph, with a special section for records. There was a cubbyhole for hockey sticks, golf clubs, tennis rackets and such, along with shelves for books and collections. All this was built around a work table with a rack of tools above it and a high stool to sit on.

Coated With Shellac

This whole wall unit, built on simple modern lines, was given a coat of clear shellac, then sandpapered and waxed. The other three walls of the room were papered in a light tan paper in a tweed pattern and the floor was covered in a homespun-looking rug in shades of light tan and brown.

To Refinish Stained Stairs

When old stain or dark colored finish has penetrated so deeply into stair treads that discoloration remains after the use of paint remover, a thorough sandpapering, first with coarse sandpaper around a brick and then with fine sandpaper, is advised. The dust then can be removed by a dry brush or use of a vacuum cleaner. The new stain should be applied in accordance with the manufacturer's directions on the container. Two coats of floor varnish or a first quality floor sealer can be used to complete the finishing.

Flooring for Radiant Heat

One of the important postwar innovations in home building is radiant heat from hot-water pipes embedded in concrete floors. This provides more uniform temperature and eliminates radiators. Architects widely specify that the concrete be covered with asphalt tile flooring because it does not warp and permits a maximum amount of heat to reach the room.

A Modern Ranch-Type Home With Ample Room

Rooms	Eight
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Eight
Cubage	40,200 ft.
Dimensions	77 x 25 ft.

Because it is not necessary to have a cellar under the three bedrooms and bath in the right wing of the Elgin, you can save money on cellar excavation and construction costs and reduce overall expenses of building the Elgin. Of course, if you prefer, you can have a full cellar under this house.

Measuring 77 by 25 feet, the Elgin has a cubage of 36,600 feet with partial cellar excavation. The cubage is 40,200 feet with a full cellar.

Fieldstone Used

A combination of fieldstone, brick and wood is suggested for the house's exterior finish; such a varied finish perfectly suits the appearance of informality that typifies today's popular ranch house. Why not paint the exterior wooden sections white and add color to the house exterior by having asphalt shingles, in any attractive color combination, applied to the roof?

The abundance of windows in the Elgin gives additional decorative appeal to both the interior and exterior of the house; they also perform the practical function of providing light and ventilation and help to bring the outdoors right inside the house.

Offering protection to the visitor the recessed front entrance opens into a foyer. On the right of this foyer there is a central hallway connecting with the bedrooms and bath in the right wing of the house. The archway in the left wall of the foyer leads into the spacious living room.

There is a large coat closet at the end of the foyer so that you'll have a convenient storage spot for your family's stormy weather apparel and footwear as well as a place to hang visitors' coats, hats, etc.

Picture Window

The large picture window, containing 15 small panes and flanked by narrow casement windows, is centered in the front wall of the living room and greatly boosts this room's attractiveness rating.

Measuring 22 by 13 feet, 4 inches in dimensions, the living room also boasts a massive fireplace in the right wall and a long expanse of unbroken space along the back wall. Furniture arrangements should present no problem whatsoever in the living room for there is ample space for a number of attractive and convenient furniture groupings.

Nor is it necessary to use modern furnishings exclusively for more and more folks are now successfully combining the modern and traditional in furniture and decoration and making full use of the best that various periods have to offer. A room of many doors, none of which are so placed as to detract from the room's appearance, or, in any way make furniture arrangements more difficult, the living room connects with the dining room, the den and the screened-in porch,as well as with the foyer.

Located at the left of the living room, the screened-in porch is 13 feet by 8 feet 6 inches and can be glassed-in or left open, if you prefer. If you screen the porch in, however, you will find it a very pleasant spot in which to relax on a Summer evening or at any other time during the day when the sun is shining on another side of the house. The youngsters are sure to find it loads of fun to sleep all night on such a porch during the hot Summer weather.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y., and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Kitchen Outlets

Electrical outlets should be placed at table height in the kitchen. This permits shorter cords for electrical devices and also allows the electrical equipment to be used at the convenient places for the housewife to work.

Silence Creaky Stairs By Simple Method

Creaky stairs may be silenced by nailing headless finishing nails through the treads into the risers below them. The tread is the flat step of a stair, the riser is the vertical piece at the back of each tread. The nails used should be two and one half to three inches in length. They should slant alternately to the left and to right as they are nailed in place. Two may be enough. After countersinking, the nailholes should be filled with plastic wood or putty and tinted to match the woodwork.

Light Finished Urged

Light colored finishes are strongly recommended for knotty pine woodwork. Stains as dark as dark oak and walnut should be avoided.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 24, 1951

DAY OF RESURRECTION

Easter is the day of great hope. It is the day which emphasizes man's instinctive belief that "though he die, yet will he live." In the spring, nature with its ever recurrent resurrection from the apparent death of winter tends to strengthen man's belief in his own immortality. Religion, which is individual man's effort to reach out and touch some spirit greater than his own and to gain strength and comfort from that contact, reinforces the beauty and truth of nature's resurrection.

Christians find joy and renewed vigor in their belief that "Christ the Lord is risen today!" They sing joyfully, "Alleluia, Alleluia!"

People of other faiths also find new inspiration toward living the good life from the beauty of springtime's hope. People of no faith? Rare is the man or woman who in this time of the burgeoning of new life all about him is left without any faith that by effort he can renew his own; that life has purpose because it lives on and renews itself; that if he will but plant and water the seed, some power greater than his own will send the increase.

So on this Easter Day let us hope and let us rejoice. Let us believe that however dark the sky, "beyond the clouds is the sun still shining." The church holds for this day the lovely couplet:

"This is the day which the Lord hath made;
Let us rejoice and be glad therein."

NEED FOR FOOD CROPS

The present war and defense preparation situation has brought a rapid expansion in the demand for food, an expansion which was generally expected on the basis of experience in the two world wars. The government is urging farmers to grow larger food crops this year.

The explanation of this increase in food demand with war conditions seems simple enough. More men are in the armed forces, and they eat more than they would in civilian life. More people are in industrial jobs; they eat more. Families have higher incomes; they buy more food.

This explanation is simple, but not all of it should be accepted as natural. A certain part of the increased food demand comes from people who are doing more vigorous work, and therefore have a physical need for more food. That much is natural. Another part comes from people who have more money to spend for food, and therefore buy more of what they needed and wanted all the time. That much reflects a continuing unhealthy situation in the production and distribution of food.

After the war government emphasis again was placed on restriction of production, and on the necessity to reduce the market supply of certain goods by government purchases. Through this same period there have been people who did not buy, because they could not, the amount and variety of food they should have had. This is shown by the fact that now, with more money, they eat more. Much is heard of overproduction, but we still don't know whether it really exists, because there is still underconsumption—there still are people who don't get enough to eat. Until underconsumption is eliminated we won't know whether there is any actual overproduction. What is sure is that distribution is faulty.

The days before spring pops in are among the most enjoyable of the entire year. There is no snow to shovel, no grass to cut—and both at the same time.

It must be great to live to be a hundred—as long as you don't feel it.

SAILS IN THE WIND

Sailing ships have not altogether disappeared in the face of the competition of steam, gasoline and Diesel power. A reminder of this is found in the news that an Antwerp shipyard has the job of breaking up two of the few remaining sea-going windjammers in the freight trade.

An interesting note is that one of these, the barque Passet, was built in Britain in 1911. The was more than a hundred years after Robert Fulton struck his mortal blow against sail, and fifty years or more after steam vessels had securely established their ability to cross the oceans at speeds with which sailing ships could not begin to compete.

But there are some sailors who believe in canvas unfurled to the wind, and no feat of steam will ever change their minds.

'These Days'

THE RESURRECTION

Easter Sunday ushers in the spring, the season of rebirth, of resurrection. To Chistians it is the celebration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. To those who are not Christians, it nevertheless is the day when winter having taken its toll of cold and gloom, spring is in the offing.

And so milady buys herself a new bonnet and feels good.

The concept of resurrection is profound in all religions. It means the restoration of the dead to life; the very word means "to rise again." Most religions believe in the immortality of the soul of man, but some even believe that the body will rise as well, that the whole man will be resurrected on the day of judgment or, as the ancient Hebrews believed, when the Messiah comes.

On such a day as this, it would seem to me to be pertinent to ask ourselves, as did the psalmist of old:

"Whom have I in heaven but Thee?
And beside Thee I desire none upon earth.
My flesh and my heart faileth;
But God is the rock of my heart and my portion for ever . . .
But as for me, the nearness of God is my good;
I have made the Lord God my refuge,
That I may tell of all thy works."

We live in troubled times and in deep fear, and all offer us panaceas to cure our ills. We are worried about war and the value of money and the loss of our sons in a holocaust that can have no meaning. When one speaks of the cause and effects of our troubles, it is to ask: "What is the answer?"

And truly what answer can I give? For the ways of man are not governed by an answer to the question but rather by the goodness or perversions of millions of human minds, each playing upon the other in a push and pull of forces.

There are always those who would change the world swiftly, and so the dissonances of mental thrusts fell us. We hear of socialism and communism and fascism; and we used to hear of syndicalism and anarchism; and there are always atheists and materialists and pragmatists. None of this answers the question as to how we can learn to live in peace together in a good world.

Nor does it answer the broader question as to what is man. For if man is nothing but a biologic creature, a collection of chemicals bound together by an epidermis, then he is truly dust and his aspirations have no greater meaning than those of a mole who blindly burrows the earth.

But man is more than that, for otherwise how could he have written the Psalms, or the plays of Shakespeare or Goethe, or Beethoven's Ninth, or how could anyone have done the work of Leonardo Da Vinci or Michelangelo or the thinking of Aristotle or even of Einstein? If man is nothing, what is mind or imagination or the aspiration to the goodness of God as witnessed by Gotama or St. Francis of Assisi, to mention only two of great divergence yet with their souls focused on the same goal.

It is too easy to speak of man as nothing, with no hope, just an accident that happened and ends in nothing. None of it explains his vast intellectual and spiritual struggle for truth, nor his constant absorption in the problem of immortality.

But there is an answer to our present problem which suits this moment of resurrection. It is that what we call the world is only a collection of individual human beings, each with his own soul and his own personality. It is man that is our world, not some geographic environment. Even if the mountains fell and rivers dried, man would seek the truth and would find a way of conveying his search in words, in drawings or in song.

And so God is really our problem and we need to change, not the world, but each one himself. For each of us does his little mischief, which, when multiplied by all of us, becomes a colossal and wicked error.

The power of man to cleanse his mind, to correct his will, to change his personality is always present. But we so often fail to see what is close at hand. The resurrection of our personalities need not wait until we die. It can be now.

SURGERY IN MENTAL CASES

One of our old sayings is that when one door is closed another door opens to allow us to advance on our way. Thus, just a few years ago, figures from our mental hospitals showed that at the rate mental diseases were increasing, one-half of the population would be needed to take care of the other half. But, instead of the door that closed stopping the progress of physicians treating the mentally sick, a new and much wider door was opened by the discovery of the shock treatment—insulin, metrazol, electric—which for the past several years has given these neurologists and psychiatrists a breathing spell.

Added to the general use of the shock treatment has come the operation known as lobotomy in which nerves supplying the important front lobes of the brain have been cut with complete or almost complete restoration of the mental faculties of many of these patients. Almost every month now we are receiving favorable reports from various countries on the effects of lobotomy.

In Medical Press, Paris, Drs. D. Ferey, Godard, and Lalanne report their results in the treatment of 120 mental patients with anxiety states, schizophrenia (double personality) and emotional states which were not helped by usual psychiatric treatment nor by shock treatment.

These physicians emphasize the necessity of investigating, before operation, the intellectual level or ability of the patient because the degree to which the intellect may be preserved is of importance in estimating the real value of the operation.

Re-education of the patient and sympathetic and intelligent behavior of the family toward him is essential for greatest benefit from the operation. Twenty-nine patients were able to resume their occupation; 35 who had been in mental institutions before the operation were able to return to their families and 40 patients were still in the mental instituions but had become calm and happy. Eleven patients received no benefit from the operation, and there were five deaths following the operation. These cases were followed for three years so that the cures obtained may be considered permanent in the majority of cases.

When we remember that every form of treatment had been used in these cases without being of help, this indeed is a wonderful victory for lobotomy.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Paris—The French government is in a quandary regarding Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, 96 years old and still confined in the old fortress on the health-resort isle of Yeu. The aged marshal is serving a life sentence for having collaborated with Hitler as head of the Vichy government, but the French government would like to release him. Petain, however, refuses to be released. He is too comfortable, gets too many sympathy packages from the U.S.A. and furthermore has a very special reason for not wanting his freedom.

Illustrating that reason, here is an actual conversation between Petain and his wife as told by a priest who visits the marshal.

The fortress guard, approaching Petain where he sat reading, announced: "Marshal, your wife is here."

"Tell her I don't want to see her."

"But she insists on seeing you."

"Just the same, tell her I don't want to see her."

The guard shifted uneasily, finally remonstrated: "But I don't want to tell her that. It's embarrassing for me to give a lady such a message. Won't you please see her?"

"All right," Petain yielded, "provided you stay in the room with me and provided you only let her stay four minutes."

Madame Petain was then ushered in and stood beside her husband, who did not look up.

"Philippe," she finally said, "aren't you glad to see me?"

"Who is that woman?" Petain asked the guard.

"I'm your wife, Philippe. Aren't you glad to see me?"

"She says she's my wife," the marshal again addressed his guard. "I have no wife. Tell her to go away."

Petain went back to reading his book and the guard ushered Madame Petain out. When he came back, Petain remarked: "I told you not to let her stay more than four minutes, but I did it in two minutes." He seemed pleased with his strategy.

This is the chief reason why Petain is not released. He has sent word to President Vincent Auriol of France that he much prefers to remain where he is, rather than go back to his wife.

Italian Communism Vs. French

There's a big difference between the setback to communism in Italy and its not-such-a-great setback in France. In Italy a score or more of the top Communist leaders have resigned from the party while 200,000 workers have failed to renew their party membership.

But in France, communism, at least numerically, is not on a decisive retreat. In fact, the coming election will probably see the Communist party retain its present position with approximately one-third of the voters and the largest block of deputies in Parliament.

There are several reasons for this. One is that French communism is more lackadaisical than in Italy. French Communists don't store up secret arms to fight against their country and many probably would defend their country if Russia should invade. Second, many French workers have signed as Communists under pressure from shop stewards and are not Communists at heart; while many farmers vote Communist, not because they believe in it, but because they are just perpetually against the government.

Another important reason for the difference in the French and Italian battle against communism is in the administration of the Marshall Plan in France and Italy.

It's difficult to realize that there could be such a difference in the American administration on the same program in two different countries, but there is.

U. S. Propaganda

In Italy for instance, ECA Administrator Leon Dayton has made public speeches encouraging the Italian government to cooperate in using ECA funds for housing, land reform, and to help the workingman generally. In France, however, ECA money has poured in at the top to help factories get back in production, and while ECA has thus helped employment, the workingman at the bottom doesn't see where he has got any benefit. So he votes Communist.

Miltan Katz, ECA administrator in France, probably appreciates this failure. But he's newly appointed, and so far hasn't done anything about it.

In Italy, meanwhile, Frank Gervasi, in charge of ECA public information, has done a superb, imaginative job of getting the Italian worker to understand housing, land reform, and other benefits which come from the United States. Gervasi is publishing magazines, now sold on the newsstand not with an American label on them, but as regular Italian periodicals. They have a large circulation and pack a powerful wallop in undermining communism and making friends for the U.S.A.

In contrast, Robert R. Mullen, now head of Marshall Plan information for the entire ECA, proposed a unique French publicity stunt to Helen Kirkpatrick, former ECA information chief in France. Learning that French workers usually go to work on bicycles, then hang their bicycles from the ceiling, Mullen proposed:

"We will get two million yo-yo tops with the map of France and 'Vive La France' painted on one side, and on the other side a message telling how France was rebuilt through the Marshall Plan. Then we'll hang a top from every bicycle and when the French worker goes home he'll take a yo-yo top to his children. Thus, two million French families will be talking about the Marshall Plan."

Miss Kirkpatrick diplomatically scotched her boss's idea. She knew such an array of yo-yo tops among cynical French workers would make the United States the laughingstock of all France.

Note—On the other hand, John Paul David, a French Artist, has done a terrific job of puncturing Communist propaganda with a poster campaign. Encouraged by Ex-Premier Rene Plevin, David has devised such poster-slogans as ""The Dove That Went Boom," and "Don't Draft Us for 18 Months. We Want to Serve Three Years in Russia." The latter was especially effective in combatting the Communist drive against 18 months military service in France.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 24, 1951

DAY OF RESURRECTION

Easter is the day of great hope. It is the day which emphasizes man's instinctive belief that "though he die, yet will he live." In the spring, nature with its ever recurrent resurrection from the apparent death of winter tends to strengthen man's belief in his own immortality. Religion, which is individual man's effort to reach out and touch some spirit greater than his own and to gain strength and comfort from that contact, reinforces the beauty and truth of nature's resurrection.

Christians find joy and renewed vigor in their belief that "Christ the Lord is risen today!" They sing joyfully, "Alleluia, Alleluia!"

People of other faiths also find new inspiration toward living the good life from the beauty of springtime's hope. People of no faith? Rare is the man or woman who in this time of the burgeoning of new life all about him is left without any faith that by effort he can renew his own; that life has purpose because it lives on and renews itself; that if he will but plant and water the seed, some power greater than his own will send the increase.

So on this Easter Day let us hope and let us rejoice. Let us believe that however dark the sky, "beyond the clouds is the sun still shining." The church holds for this day the lovely couplet:

"This is the day which the Lord hath made;

NEED FOR FOOD CROPS

The present war and defense preparation situation has brought a rapid expansion in the demand for food, an expansion which was generally expected on the basis of experience in the two world wars. The government is urging farmers to grow larger food crops this year.

The explanation of this increase in food demand with war conditions seems simple enough. More men are in the armed forces, and they eat more than they would in civilian life. More people are in industrial jobs; they eat more. Families have higher incomes; they buy more food.

This explanation is simple, but not all of it should be accepted as natural. A certain part of the increased food demand comes from people who are doing more vigorous work, and therefore have a physical need for more food. That much is natural. Another part comes from people who have more money to spend for food, and therefore buy more of what they needed and wanted all the time. That much reflects a continuing unhealthy situation in the production and distribution of food.

After the war government emphasis again was placed on restriction of production, and on the necessity to reduce the market supply of certain goods by government purchases. Through this same period there have been people who did not buy, because they could not, the amount and variety of food they should have had. This is shown by the fact that now, with more money, they eat more. Much is heard of overproduction, but we still don't know whether it really exists, because there is still underconsumption—there still are people who don't get enough to eat. Until underconsumption is eliminated we won't know whether there is any actual overproduction. What is sure is that distribution is faulty.

The days before spring pops in are among the most enjoyable of the entire year. There is no snow to shovel, no grass to cut—and both at the same time.

It must be great to live to be a hundred—as long as you don't feel it.

SAILS IN THE WIND

Sailing ships have not altogether disappeared in the face of the competition of steam, gasoline and Diesel power. A reminder of this is found in the news that an Antwerp shipyard has the job of breaking up two of the few remaining sea-going windjammers in the freight trade.

An interesting note is that one of these, the barque Passet, was built in Britain in 1911. The was more than a hundred years after Robert Fulton struck his mortal blow against sail, and fifty years or more after steam vessels had securely established their ability to cross the oceans at speeds with which sailing ships could not begin to compete.

But there are some sailors who believe in canvas unfurled to the wind, and no feat of steam will ever change their minds.

THE RESURRECTION

Easter Sunday ushers in the spring, the season of rebirth, of resurrection. To Chistians it is the celebration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. To those who are not Christians, it nevertheless is the day when winter having taken its toll of cold and gloom, spring is in the offing.

And so milady buys herself a new bonnet and feels good.

The concept of resurrection is profound in all religions. It means the restoration of the dead to life; the very word means "to rise again." Most religions believe in the immortality of the soul of man, but some even believe that the body will rise as well, that the whole man will be resurrected on the day of judgment or, as the ancient Hebrews believed, when the Messiah comes.

On such a day as this, it would seem to me to be pertinent to ask ourselves, as did the psalmist of old:

"Whom have I in heaven but Thee?
And beside Thee I desire none upon earth.
My flesh and my heart faileth;
But God is the rock of my heart and my portion
for ever . . .
But as for me, the nearness of God is my good;
I have made the Lord God my refuge,
That I may tell of all thy works."

We live in troubled times and in deep fear, and all offer us panaceas to cure our ills. We are worried about war and the value of money and the loss of our sons in a holocaust that can have no meaning. When one speaks of the cause and effects of our troubles, it is to ask: "What is the answer?"

And truly what answer can I give? For the ways of man are not governed by an answer to the question but rather by the goodness or perversions of millions of human minds, each playing upon the other in a push and pull of forces.

There are always those who would change the world swiftly, and so the dissonances of mental thrusts fell us. We hear of socialism and communism and fascism; and we used to hear of syndicalism and anarchism: and there are always atheists and materialists and pragmatists. None of this answers the question as to how we can learn to live in peace together in a good world.

Nor does it answer the broader question as to what is man. For if man is nothing but a biologic creature, a collection of chemicals bound together by an epidermis, then he is truly dust and his aspirations have no greater meaning than those of a mole who blindly burrows the earth.

But man is more than that, for otherwise how could he have written the Psalms, or the plays of Shakespeare or Goethe, or Beethoven's Ninth, or how could anyone have done the work of Leonardo Da Vinci or Michelangelo or the thinking of Aristotle or even of Einstein? If man is nothing, what is mind or imagination or the aspiration to the goodness of God as witnessed by Gotama or St. Francis of Assisi, to mention only two of great divergence yet with their souls focused on the same goal.

It is too easy to speak of man as nothing, with no hope, just an accident that happened and ends in nothing. None of it explains his vast intellectual and spiritual struggle for truth, nor his constant absorption in the problem of immortality.

But there is an answer to our present problem which suits this moment of resurrection. It is that what we call the world is only a collection of individual human beings, each with his own soul and his own personality. It is man that is our world, not some geographic environment. Even if the mountains fell and rivers dried, man would seek the truth and would find a way of conveying his search in words, in drawings or in song.

And so God is really our problem and we need to change, not the world, but each one himself. For each of us does his little mischief, which, when multiplied by all of us, becomes a colossal and wicked error.

The power of man to cleanse his mind, to correct his will, to change his personality is always present. But we so often fail to see what is close at hand. The resurrection of our personalities need not wait until we die. It can be now.

SURGERY IN MENTAL CASES

One of our old sayings is that when one door is closed another door opens to allow us to advance on our way. Thus, just a few years ago, figures from our mental hospitals showed that at the rate mental diseases were increasing, one-half of the population would be needed to take care of the other half. But, instead of the door that closed stopping the progress of physicians treating the mentally sick, a new and much wider door was opened by the discovery of the shock treatment—insulin, metrazol, electric—which for the past several years has given these neurologists and psychiatrists a breathing spell.

Added to the general use of the shock treatment has come the operation known as lobotomy in which nerves supplying the important front lobes of the brain have been cut with complete or almost complete restoration of the mental faculties of many of these patients. Almost every month now we are receiving favorable reports from various countries on the effects of lobotomy.

In Medical Press, Paris, Drs. D. Ferey, Godard, and Lalanne report their results in the treatment of 120 mental patients with anxiety states, schizophrenia (double personality) and emotional states which were not helped by usual psychiatric treatment nor by shock treatment.

These physicians emphasize the necessity of investigating, before operation, the intellectual level or ability of the patient because the degree to which the intellect may be preserved is of importance in estimating the real value of the operation.

Re-education of the patient and sympathetic and intelligent behavior of the family toward him is essential for greatest benefit from the operation. Twenty-nine patients were able to resume their occupation; 35 who had been in mental institutions before the operation were able to return to their families and 40 patients were still in the mental instituions but had become calm and happy. Eleven patients received no benefit from the operation, and there were five deaths following the operation. These cases were followed for three years so that the cures obtained may be considered permanent in the majority of cases.

When we remember that every form of treatment had been used in these cases without being of help, this indeed is a wonderful victory for lobotomy.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Paris—The French government is in a quandary regarding Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, 96 years old and still confined in the old fortress on the health-resort isle of Yeu. The aged marshal is serving a life sentence for having collaborated with Hitler as head of the Vichy government, but the French government would like to release him. Petain, however, refuses to be released. He is too comfortable, gets too many sympathy packages from the U.S.A. and furthermore has a very special reason for not wanting his freedom.

Illustrating that reason, here is an actual conversation between Petain and his wife as told by a priest who visits the marshal.

The fortress guard, approaching Petain where he sat reading, announced: "Marshal, your wife is here."

"Tell her I don't want to see her."

"But she insists on seeing you."

"Just the same, tell her I don't want to see her."

The guard shifted uneasily, finally remonstrated: "But I don't want to tell her that. It's embarrassing for me to give a lady such a message. Won't you please see her?"

"All right," Petain yielded, "provided you stay in the room with me and provided you only let her stay four minutes."

Madame Petain was then ushered in and stood beside her husband, who did not look up.

"Philippe," she finally said, "aren't you glad to see me?"

"Who is that woman?" Petain asked the guard.

"I'm your wife, Philippe. Aren't you glad to see me?"

"She says she's my wife," the marshal again addressed his guard. "I have no wife. Tell her to go away."

Petain went back to reading his book and the guard ushered Madame Petain out. When he came back, Petain remarked: "I told you not to let her stay more than four minutes, but I did it in two minutes." He seemed pleased with his strategy.

This is the chief reason why Petain is not released. He has sent word to President Vincent Auriol of France that he much prefers to remain where he is, rather than go back to his wife.

Italian Communism Vs. French

There's a big difference between the setback to communism in Italy and its not-such-a-great setback in France. In Italy a score or more of the top Communist leaders have resigned from the party while 200,000 workers have failed to renew their party membership.

But in France, communism, at least numerically, is not on a decisive retreat. In fact, the coming election will probably see the Communist party retain its present position with approximately one-third of the voters and the largest block of deputies in Parliament.

There are several reasons for this. One is that French communism is more lackadaisical than in Italy. French Communists don't store up secret arms to fight against their country and many probably would defend their country if Russia should invade. Second, many French workers have signed as Communists under pressure from shop stewards and are not Communists at heart; while many farmers vote Communist, not because they believe in it, but because they are just perpetually against the government.

Another important reason for the difference in the French and Italian battle against communism is in the administration of the Marshall Plan in France and Italy.

It's difficult to realize that there could be such a difference in the American administration on the same program in two different countries, but there is.

U. S. Propaganda

In Italy for instance, ECA Administrator Leon Dayton has made public speeches encouraging the Italian government to cooperate in using ECA funds for housing, land reform, and to help the workingman generally. In France, however, ECA money has poured in at the top to help factories get back in production, and while ECA has thus helped employment, the workingman at the bottom doesn't see where he has got any benefit. So he votes Communist.

Miltan Katz, ECA administrator in France, probably appreciates this failure. But he's newly appointed, and so far hasn't done anything about it.

In Italy, meanwhile, Frank Gervasi, in charge of ECA public information, has done a superb, imaginative job of getting the Italian worker to understand housing, land reform, and other benefits which come from the United States. Gervasi is publishing magazines, now sold on the newsstand not with an American label on them, but as regular Italian periodicals. They have a large circulation and pack a powerful wallop in undermining communism and making friends for the U.S.A.

In contrast, Robert R. Mullen, now head of Marshall Plan information for the entire ECA, proposed a unique French publicity stunt to Helen Kirkpatrick, former ECA information chief in France. Learning that French workers usually go to work on bicycles, then hang their bicycles from the ceiling, Mullen proposed:

"We will get two million yo-yo tops with the map of France and 'Vive La France' painted on one side, and on the other side a message telling how France was rebuilt through the Marshall Plan. Then we'll hang a top from every bicycle and when the French worker goes home he'll take a yo-yo top to his children. Thus, two million French families will be talking about the Marshall Plan."

Miss Kirkpatrick diplomatically scotched her boss's idea. She knew such an array of yo-yo tops among cynical French workers would make the United States the laughingstock of all France.

Note—On the other hand, John Paul David, a French Artist, has done a terrific job of puncturing Communist propaganda with a poster campaign. Encouraged by Ex-Premier Rene Plevin, David has devised such poster-slogans as ""The Dove That Went Boom," and "Don't Draft Us for 18 Months. We Want to Serve Three Years in Russia." The latter was especially effective in combatting the Communist drive against 18 months military service in France.

Questions — Answers

Q—Does water influence the passage of sound?

A—Water speeds the passage of sound. It goes through water about four and a half times as fast as through air.

Q—What is the ruling concerning combat assignments for wearers of the Medal of Honor?

A—There is a firm policy prohibiting Medal of Honor winners from combat duty. It is the belief that these men are more valuable for training or morale purposes than as fighters.

Q—Is the oleander plant poisonous?

A—The stiff, tough, dark-green leaves exude a milky juice when punctured. This juice is marked by its poisonous properties. It is reported that in the course of the Peninsular War some French soldiers died from roasting their meat on skewers made of freshly-cut twigs of oleander.

Q—What memento of service does a retiring Cabinet Officer receive?

A—A retiring Cabinet Officer customarily gets the chair he had occupied at the cabinet table as a memento of his service.

Q—Do all states have official songs?

DAY OF RESURRECTION

Easter is the day of great hope. It is the day which emphasizes man's instinctive belief that "though he die, yet will he live." In the spring, nature with its ever recurrent resurrection from the apparent death of winter tends to strengthen man's belief in his own immortality. Religion, which is individual man's effort to reach out and touch some spirit greater than his own and to gain strength and comfort from that contact, reinforces the beauty and truth of nature's resurrection.

Christians find joy and renewed vigor in their belief that "Christ the Lord is risen today!" They sing joyfully, "Alleluia, Alleluia!"

People of other faiths also find new inspiration toward living the good life from the beauty of springtime's hope. People of no faith? Rare is the man or woman who in this time of the burgeoning of new life all about him is left without any faith that by effort he can renew his own; that life has purpose because it lives on and renews itself; that if he will but plant and water the seed, some power greater than his own will send the increase.

So on this Easter Day let us hope and let us rejoice. Let us believe that however dark the sky, "beyond the clouds is the sun still shining." The church holds for this day the lovely couplet:

"This is the day which the Lord hath made;

NEED FOR FOOD CROPS

The present war and defense preparation situation has brought a rapid expansion in the demand for food, an expansion which was generally expected on the basis of experience in the two world wars. The government is urging farmers to grow larger food crops this year.

The explanation of this increase in food demand with war conditions seems simple enough. More men are in the armed forces, and they eat more than they would in civilian life. More people are in industrial jobs; they eat more. Families have higher incomes; they buy more food.

This explanation is simple, but not all of it should be accepted as natural. A certain part of the increased food demand comes from people who are doing more vigorous work, and therefore have a physical need for more food. That much is natural. Another part comes from people who have more money to spend for food, and therefore buy more of what they needed and wanted all the time. That much reflects a continuing unhealthy situation in the production and distribution of food.

After the war government emphasis again was placed on restriction of production, and on the necessity to reduce the market supply of certain goods by government purchases. Through this same period there have been people who did not buy, because they could not, the amount and variety of food they should have had. This is shown by the fact that now, with more money, they eat more. Much is heard of overproduction, but we still don't know whether it really exists, because there is still underconsumption—there still are people who don't get enough to eat. Until underconsumption is eliminated we won't know whether there is any actual overproduction. What is sure is that distribution is faulty.

The days before spring pops in are among the most enjoyable of the entire year. There is no snow to shovel, no grass to cut—and both at the same time.

* * *

It must be great to live to be a hundred—as long as you don't feel it.

SAILS IN THE WIND

Sailing ships have not altogether disappeared in the face of the competition of steam, gasoline and Diesel power. A reminder of this is found in the news that an Antwerp shipyard has the job of breaking up two of the few remaining sea-going windjammers in the freight trade.

An interesting note is that one of these, the barque Passet, was built in Britain in 1911. The was more than a hundred years after Robert Fulton struck his mortal blow against sail, and fifty years or more after steam vessels had securely established their ability to cross the oceans at speeds with which sailing ships could not begin to compete.

But there are some sailors who believe in canvas unfurled to the wind, and no feat of steam will ever change their minds.

'These Days'

THE RESURRECTION

Easter Sunday ushers in the spring, the season of rebirth, of resurrection. To Chistians it is the celebration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. To those who are not Christians, it nevertheless is the day when winter having taken its toll of cold and gloom, spring is in the offing.

And so milady buys herself a new bonnet and feels good.

The concept of resurrection is profound in all religions. It means the restoration of the dead to life; the very word means "to rise again." Most religions believe in the immortality of the soul of man, but some even believe that the body will rise as well, that the whole man will be resurrected on the day of judgment or, as the ancient Hebrews believed, when the Messiah comes.

On such a day as this, it would seem to me to be pertinent to ask ourselves, as did the psalmist of old:

"Whom have I in heaven but Thee?
And beside Thee I desire none upon earth.
My flesh and my heart faileth;
But God is the rock of my heart and my portion
for ever . . .
But as for me, the nearness of God is my good;
I have made the Lord God my refuge,
That I may tell of all thy works."

We live in troubled times and in deep fear, and all offer us panaceas to cure our ills. We are worried about war and the value of money and the loss of our sons in a holocaust that can have no meaning. When one speaks of the cause and effects of our troubles, it is to ask: "What is the answer?"

And truly what answer can I give? For the ways of man are not governed by an answer to the question but rather by the goodness or perversions of millions of human minds, each playing upon the other in a push and pull of forces.

There are always those who would change the world swiftly, and so the dissonances of mental thrusts fell us. We hear of socialism and communism and fascism; and we used to hear of syndicalism and anarchism: and there are always atheists and materialists and pragmatists. None of this answers the question as to how we can learn to live in peace together in a good world.

Nor does it answer the broader question as to what is man. For if man is nothing but a biologic creature, a collection of chemicals bound together by an epidermis, then he is truly dust and his aspirations have no greater meaning than those of a mole who blindly burrows the earth.

But man is more than that, for otherwise how could he have written the Psalms, or the plays of Shakespeare or Goethe, or Beethoven's Ninth, or how could anyone have done the work of Leonardo Da Vinci or Michelangelo or the thinking of Aristotle or even of Einstein? If man is nothing, what is mind or imagination or the aspiration to the goodness of God as witnessed by Gotama or St. Francis of Assisi, to mention only two of great divergence yet with their souls focused on the same goal.

It is too easy to speak of man as nothing, with no hope, just an accident that happened and ends in nothing. None of it explains his vast intellectual and spiritual struggle for truth, nor his constant absorption in the problem of immortality.

But there is an answer to our present problem which suits this moment of resurrection. It is that what we call the world is only a collection of individual human beings, each with his own soul and his own personality. It is man that is our world, not some geographic environment. Even if the mountains fell and rivers dried, man would seek the truth and would find a way of conveying his search in words, in drawings or in song.

And so God is really our problem and we need to change, not the world, but each one himself. For each of us does his little mischief, which, when multiplied by all of us, becomes a colossal and wicked error.

The power of man to cleanse his mind, to correct his will, to change his personality is always present. But we so often fail to see what is close at hand. The resurrection of our personalities need not wait until we die. It can be now.

SURGERY IN MENTAL CASES

One of our old sayings is that when one door is closed another door opens to allow us to advance on our way. Thus, just a few years ago, figures from our mental hospitals showed that at the rate mental diseases were increasing, one-half of the population would be needed to take care of the other half. But, instead of the door that closed stopping the progress of physicians treating the mentally sick, a new and much wider door was opened by the discovery of the shock treatment—insulin, metrazol, electric—which for the past several years has given these neurologists and psychiatrists a breathing spell.

Added to the general use of the shock treatment has come the operation known as lobotomy in which nerves supplying the important front lobes of the brain have been cut with complete or almost complete restoration of the mental faculties of many of these patients. Almost every month now we are receiving favorable reports from various countries on the effects of lobotomy.

In Medical Press, Paris, Drs. D. Ferey, Godard, and Lalanne report their results in the treatment of 120 mental patients with anxiety states, schizophrenia (double personality) and emotional states which were not helped by usual psychiatric treatment nor by shock treatment.

These physicians emphasize the necessity of investigating, before operation, the intellectual level or ability of the patient because the degree to which the intellect may be preserved is of importance in estimating the real value of the operation.

Re-education of the patient and sympathetic and intelligent behavior of the family toward him is essential for greatest benefit from the operation. Twenty-nine patients were able to resume their occupation; 35 who had been in mental institutions before the operation were able to return to their families and 40 patients were still in the mental instituions but had become calm and happy. Eleven patients received no benefit from the operation, and there were five deaths following the operation. These cases were followed for three years so that the cures obtained may be considered permanent in the majority of cases.

When we remember that every form of treatment had been used in these cases without being of help, this indeed is a wonderful victory for lobotomy.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Paris—The French government is in a quandary regarding Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, 96 years old and still confined in the old fortress on the health-resort isle of Yeu. The aged marshal is serving a life sentence for having collaborated with Hitler as head of the Vichy government, but the French government would like to release him. Petain, however, refuses to be released. He is too comfortable, gets too many sympathy packages from the U.S.A. and furthermore has a very special reason for not wanting his freedom.

Illustrating that reason, here is an actual conversation between Petain and his wife as told by a priest who visits the marshal.

The fortress guard, approaching Petain where he sat reading, announced: "Marshal, your wife is here."

"Tell her I don't want to see her."

"But she insists on seeing you."

"Just the same, tell her I don't want to see her."

The guard shifted uneasily, finally remonstrated: "But I don't want to tell her that. It's embarrassing for me to give a lady such a message. Won't you please see her?"

"All right," Petain yielded, "provided you stay in the room with me and provided you only let her stay four minutes."

Madame Petain was then ushered in and stood beside her husband, who did not look up.

"Philippe," she finally said, "aren't you glad to see me?"

"Who is that woman?" Petain asked the guard.

"I'm your wife, Philippe. Aren't you glad to see me?"

"She says she's my wife," the marshal again addressed his guard. "I have no wife. Tell her to go away."

Petain went back to reading his book and the guard ushered Madame Petain out. When he came back, Petain remarked: "I told you not to let her stay more than four minutes, but I did it in two minutes." He seemed pleased with his strategy.

This is the chief reason why Petain is not released. He has sent word to President Vincent Auriol of France that he much prefers to remain where he is, rather than go back to his wife.

Italian Communism Vs. French

There's a big difference between the setback to communism in Italy and its not-such-a-great setback in France. In Italy a score or more of the top Communist leaders have resigned from the party while 200,000 workers have failed to renew their party membership.

But in France, communism, at least numerically, is not on a decisive retreat. In fact, the coming election will probably see the Communist party retain its present position with approximately one-third of the voters and the largest block of deputies in Parliament.

There are several reasons for this. One is that French communism is more lackadaisical than in Italy. French Communists don't store up secret arms to fight against their country and many probably would defend their country if Russia should invade. Second, many French workers have signed as Communists under pressure from shop stewards and are not Communists at heart; while many farmers vote Communist, not because they believe in it, but because they are just perpetually against the government.

Another important reason for the difference in the French and Italian battle against communism is in the administration of the Marshall Plan in France and Italy.

It's difficult to realize that there could be such a difference in the American administration on the same program in two different countries, but there is.

U. S. Propaganda

In Italy for instance, ECA Administrator Leon Dayton has made public speeches encouraging the Italian government to cooperate in using ECA funds for housing, land reform, and to help the workingman generally. In France, however, ECA money has poured in at the top to help factories get back in production, and while ECA has thus helped employment, the workingman at the bottom doesn't see where he has got any benefit. So he votes Communist.

Miltan Katz, ECA administrator in France, probably appreciates this failure. But he's newly appointed, and so far hasn't done anything about it.

In Italy, meanwhile, Frank Gervasi, in charge of ECA public information, has done a superb, imaginative job of getting the Italian worker to understand housing, land reform, and other benefits which come from the United States. Gervasi is publishing magazines, now sold on the newsstand not with an American label on them, but as regular Italian periodicals. They have a large circulation and pack a powerful wallop in undermining communism and making friends for the U.S.A.

In contrast, Robert R. Mullen, now head of Marshall Plan information for the entire ECA, proposed a unique French publicity stunt to Helen Kirkpatrick, former ECA information chief in France. Learning that French workers usually go to work on bicycles, then hang their bicycles from the ceiling, Mullen proposed:

"We will get two million yo-yo tops with the map of France and 'Vive La France' painted on one side, and on the other side a message telling how France was rebuilt through the Marshall Plan. Then we'll hang a top from every bicycle and when the French worker goes home he'll take a yo-yo top to his children. Thus, two million French families will be talking about the Marshall Plan."

Miss Kirkpatrick diplomatically scotched her boss's idea. She knew such an array of yo-yo tops among cynical French workers would make the United States the laughingstock of all France.

Note—On the other hand, John Paul David, a French Artist, has done a terrific job of puncturing Communist propaganda with a poster campaign. Encouraged by Ex-Premier Rene Plevin, David has devised such poster-slogans as "The Dove That Went Boom," and "Don't Draft Us for 18 Months. We Want to Serve Three Years in Russia." The latter was especially effective in combatting the Communist drive against 18 months military service in France.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

George Bites Hand That Leads to Him

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"What has happened to Generous George?" asks a Bridgeport fan. "Did he rib an opponent once too often or has his generosity dried up?"

George is still operating on the same expansive scale. His latest exploit is shown in today's hand.

West opened the queen of hearts, holding the trick. South was Generous George, but he didn't say a word at this point because he was afraid that West would shift to diamonds. West had no way of knowing that a diamond shift would be effective, so he continued with the jack of hearts, and George beamed as he played a low heart from the dummy and ruffed in his own hand.

George next laid down the ace of trumps, followed by the ace of clubs and a club ruff. He returned to his hand by ruffing a low heart, since there was a possibility that the ace of hearts would drop. When it didn't drop, George ruffed his last club in dummy and returned the king of hearts.

East naturally played the ace of hearts, whereupon George cleared his throat and made a little speech of congratulation. "There's nobody I'd like to see win this trick more than you," said George, truthfully enough. And he discarded a diamond instead of ruffing.

East glowered, but there was nothing he could do. If he returned a diamond, dummy's king would win a trick. If he returned anything else, dummy would ruff while South discarded a diamond loser.

As usual, George lost nothing by his generosity. If he had ruffed the fourth round of hearts, he would have been obliged to lead diamonds himself. Then he would have lost three diamond tricks in addition to the heart that he had lost at the beginning of the play.

Life's School

Life is not a long vacation;
Life, instead, is mankinds school,
Where the world is educated—
Where is learned the Golden Rule.

Study-diligence is needed.
If Ambition's heights are gained;
And in this great crowded school room,
Discipline must be maintained.

Dumb Dorah: I'm returning this bottle of catsup. My kitty would not even look at it.

NO UNIFORMITY IN LAWS: All 48 states in the Union have divorce laws that differ one from the other in important respects.

Fred—Sometimes I think you're crazy and nuts.

Ethel—You should be a mind-reader.

My girl friend's father's birthday is on the thirteenth day of the month. He went in the army the thirteenth, was shipped overseas on the thirteenth, came back on the thirteenth, was discharged on the thirteenth, married on the thirteenth, and his first child was born on the thirteenth. — Linda Jones, Erwin, N. Teacher—Why is George Washington called "First in war and first in peace?

Hayton—I don't know unless it's to make him solid with both the preparedists and the pacifists.

Note to disconsolate school kids: In Ethiopia; the children fight to be admitted to high schools and some travel hundreds of miles to be enrolled.

This girl comes from good stock—but the way the market's been acting lately she may be sold short any minute!

A kind old gentleman, seeing a small boy who was carrying a lot of newspapers under his arm, said:

Old Man—Don't all those papers make you tired, my boy?

Boy—Naw, I don't read 'em.

It is hard to keep up with the neighbors without falling behind with the creditors.

The night was still young but the party was dull, with the result that the debutante yawned openly in her escort's face.

He—I hope I'm not keeping you up, darling.

She—Yes, but not awake.

A joint checking account is a device that allows your wife to beat you to the draw.

About two thirds of the inhabitants of the world are now periodically counted by means of a census.

The difference between learning to drive a motor car and learning to play golf is you don't hit anything.

Inventor in Washington claims to have perfected a varnish which will give a new instrument the tone of a rare old violin; but we have heard some players and hate to think what they would do even with the new varnish.

Davis Gets Draw But Looks Bad

New York, March 24 (AP)—John L. Davis won, lost and drew in one fight.

It all happened last night in Madison Square Garden and the befuddled, disgusted California Negro lightweight contender still was moaning about it today.

He was awarded a draw in his ten round bout with substitute Eddie Giosa, who replaced injured lightweight champion Ike Williams as Davis' opponent. He won the fight in the opinion of seven of nine boxing writers polled at ringside.

But what he lost was more important. The fight was drab, compared to the last three sensational fights put on in the Garden, and it undoubtedly cost the 24-year old Richmond, Calif. boxer a title shot at Williams.

Williams pulled out of the Davis fight Wednesday night because of a sore right shoulder. Giosa, veteran Philadelphia lightweight, was brought in on short notice so the radio-television commitments could be filled.

Giosa, an 11 to 5 underdog who outweighted his rival 145 to 136, is a cutey. He made John L. look bad with his clutching and backpedaling tactics. Davis couldn't get going and was far from the sensational busy bee that he was supposed to be.

Furgol Leads Long Beach Open

Greensboro, N. C., March 24 (AP)—Marty Furgol, with an assist to Bill Nary, was working on a two-stroke lead as the field headed into today's second round of the $10,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Furgol, 33-year-old Long Beach, Calif., pro who has only one big time victory to his credit, beat the field of 158 and a high wind to shoot an opening round 68—three under par—yesterday. He took a two-stroke lead over his nearest rivals, Arthur Doering of Richmond, Va., and Jim Milward of Green Bay, Wis.

And Marty gave a major portion of the credit for his success to fellow-professional Bill Nary of Chino, Calif.

Furgol, whose Houston Open victory last month gave him his first major tournament win, used Nary's pet one-iron and also put into practice some expert instruction he has recently received from the Californian.

That trusty iron was quite a weapon. On the 11th hole Furgol laced one to within four feet of the pin, leaving himself an easy putt for a birdie three.

His 35-33 was three under par for the 6,718-yard Starmount Country Club course.

Little did we suspect more than a decade ago when John Bott was keeping those immaculate boxscores for John McCardle's Kingston All Stars that the soft-spoken, uptown bank official had been a monumental K.H.S. basketball hero in the early 1920s.

According to records dug up by George Palmateer, the Poughkeepsie sports scrivener, it was an historic foul shot by Bott that saved Kingston High the humiliation of a basketball shutout at the hands of the fabulous P.H.S. state champions of that era. If you feel, of course, that a 97 to 1 defeat does not constitute complete humiliation.

The 1920-21 Blue combination humbled Kingston 100 to 3 in their first meeting and then a year later had a 97-0 shutout sewed up until Bott was brash enough to sink a foul in the closing seconds.

That was some wrecking crew coached by Les Crapser and those pre-Kalloch Blues ran wild over area opposition. Besides thumping Kingston twice by those horrendous margins, they crushed Ellenville 107 to 2; Philmont 100 to 3 and Danbury, 112 to 11.

Members of that 1920-21 quintet which downed Albany, Norwich and Sherrill to cop what was labelled as the "state championship" included Len Hall, "Bean" Coffey, Big Ed Smith, Howard Rosenthal, Charlie Hoag, Hawley, Waterman and Tom McWilliams.

Hall became a great area star in semi-pro basketball in later years and an official of note. Hoag is the same fellow who is serving as district rent boss.

● Masterson . . . the Male Dorothy Dix:

George "Lanky" Masterson, the basketball Moses who led Newburgh Free Academy out of the DUSO bullrushes, told a Hill City audience a few days ago that he'll play Cyrano to the Roxanne of any of his boys—or any other part that might be required—as long as it gets him championship basketball teams.

With a grin he pointed out how his teams' playing ability has been seriously affected by spats with girl friends. The tall, distinguished looking Goldback mentor who caused many a co-ed's heart to skip several beats when he was the matinee idol at New Paltz State Teachers College many years ago, described how a championship was lost one time by a team he coached because his star player had a scrap with his best girl.

His star player, Masterson related, had once come to him with a beautiful letter, written to him by a young lady. The boy was having trouble trying to compose an equally high standard reply. Coach Masterson lent a hand, wound up writing the letter himself and continued the "work" for the next two years that the youth was in school.

They were eventually married, the coach explained, and today have two children and are quite happy. And Masterson had two years of fine basketball playing from his star.

"I make it a point to find out everything, all their problems," he said, contending that it was necessary sometimes in order to get a good team that will work together.

"I know more about my boys than anybody else in the high school . . . and that includes their lovelife," Masterson admitted.

It must be a pretty good system at that. Rival DUSO coaches will agree on that point.

● Hot Stove League:

It's not news to baseball fans in general and National Leaguers in particular that Carl Furillo, of the Dodgers, has one of the most spectacular throwing arms in the history of the game. Since he entered the league in 1946, Carl has cut down 62 runners. Last season he led the league's outfielders in assists with 18. . . . "Are you picking the Yankees again?", the man asked. "I see no reason why I shouldn't pick them over the Boston Red Sox," we replied. "Is there any reason why a team which has failed so often as the Boston Red Sox should succeed now?" The Red Sox have essentially the same key men. The Yankees are the champs and, as such, they have the champs' pyschology. They are stacked with good players and reserves. The Red Sox will stage their usual late season rush and then fold in the clutch games against the Indians, Yankees and Tigers (maybe the Browns, too) in September. Then they have that guy, Williams . . . greatest natural hitter in baseball, but just a ball and chain for a pennant contender. To the utter surprise of nobody, we're picking the Yankees for their third straight pennant."

Spectacular Finishes in AAU Cage Tourney

Denver, March 24 (AP)—Two sensational final minute victories last night rocketed the hot-shooting Colorado A. & M. College team and San Francisco's silky-smooth Stewart Chevrolets into tonight's finals of the National AAU basketball tournament.

Slender George Yardley, jumping like his legs were coiled springs, powered the San Franciscans to a 66-63 win over defending champions Phillips 66ers in three pulsating overtime periods. The Bartlesville, Okla., club was seeking its eighth title in nine years.

A whiz kid from Brooklyn, Johnny O'Boyle—as Irish as his name—fired in a 65 foot shot in the last second to send the Colorado Collegians sailing past the Peoria, Ill., Caterpillar Diesels, 59-57.

Truman to Broadcast

New York, March 24 (AP)—President Truman's speech to the foreign ministers of 21 inter-American nations next Monday will be broadcast by the American Broadcasting Company, ABC announced yesterday. The address will be broadcast from Washington between 4 and 4:30 p. m. (E.S.T.).

To Quiz NCAA Ban On Grid Television

Washington, March 23 (AP)—The Justice Department disclosed today that its long anti-trust inquiry in the big-time sports field has been broadened to include college football television.

The Department said, in response to an inquiry, that it has asked the National Collegiate Association for an explanation of its new ban on the direct televising of college football games.

The NCAA regulation will be studied by the anti-trust-division, which has been keeping an eye on the relationships between broadcasting and major sports events for the last three years.

The investigation originally involved professional baseball only. When the Department raised objections to some of the restrictions surrounding radio broadcasts of big league game, leaders in the sport came in for a series of conferences.

The upshot was a broad revision, made two years ago, in radio rights to make on-the-field broadcasts. The Department said it would mark time on any formal action until it could observe how these changes worked out.

Hogan Sets Sights On Masters Tourney

Fort Worth, Tex., March 24 (AP)—Ben Hogan looked toward the Masters today—the only major tournament that has eluded him in one of golf's greatest careers.

The little man practiced at Colonial Country Club while Fort Worth talked about the world premiere of the picture of his life—"Follow the Sun."

The premiere went on at three downtown movies last night. Some 6,000 saw the film that told the story of the Fort Worth caddie who climbed to fame, then climbed back after being so severely injured in an auto-bus crash it was feared he never would walk again.

At the end of the picture, Hogan made a little speech. He talked about Ben Hogan Day in Fort Worth—an occasion which brought a resolution from the Texas Senate. He said: "Val (his wife, Valerie) and I want to keep this day sort of sacred for us forever."

South Orange, N. J., March 24 (AP)—Manhattan College, indooor IC4A track and field champion, has entered the fifth annual Seton Hall Relays April 20 and 21, the Rev. James A. Leo A. Schupp, tournament director, said arrangements are being made to match the Ulster county champions against the winners of the Orange county tournament.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Miami, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Brooklyn manager Chuck Dressen hopes to see his new club play a game for the first time this season tonight when the Dodgers open a spring series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dressen, who had been sidelined for 13 days with a siege of the flu, is expected to pitch his ace righthander, Don Newcombe, against the Cardinals.

Meanwhile, club president Walter O'Malley said that the Dodgers hope to enter into a 21-year agreement with the town of Vero Beach to train there each spring.

Holmes Learning

Bradenton, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Tommy Holmes is getting a taste of handling a ball club in the field these days at the Boston Braves' training camp.

For the once the popular Tommy is coaching third base before reporting to Myrtle Beach, S. C., where he will take over managership of the Hartford club, Boston's farm in the Class A Eastern League.

Chet Nichols, Dave Cole and George Estcock are expected to pitch in that order today when the Tribe opposes the Philadelphia Athletics in the second of a three-game series.

Dykes Bounced

Bradenton, Fla., March 24 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics lost a 16 to 8 decision to the Boston Braves yesterday but not before Manager Jimmy Dykes got his first walking papers of the spring season from an umpire.

It happened in the ninth inning. Rookie Lou Limmer of the A's smashed a hit to left center field. The ball was lost in tall grass. Umpire Dascoli said it was a ground rule double.

Out came Dykes on the double. He said rather vociferously that it should be at least a triple and maybe a home run. Dykes ranted and panted but Dascoli remained unmoved. Finally Dykes was moved—right out of the game.

Had Dykes won his argument the A's would have lost 16 to 9 instead of 16 to 8.

Want Reliefer

That, anyhow, is the way Manager Al Lopez sizes up his ball club at this point. He is pretty well satisfied with Bob Lemon, Bob Feller, Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Steve Gromek.

But when they start weakening on an off day, what do the Indians do? His relief pitchers this spring have been rookies and they have not done well.

He doesn't want to use regulars in relief but if he has to it will be Garcia or Gromek. Last night, Gromek looked like an excellent choice. He pitched no-hit ball for five innings against Oakland.

Reynolds Okay

Oakland, Calif., March 24 (AP)—Casey Stengel, skipper of the New York Yankees, was breathing a bit easier today. The veteran manager had been told that one of his better pitchers, Allie Reynolds, will be available for regular duty during the coming season.

It was feared that Reynolds had a chipped bone in his right arm. But X-rays revealed that it was only an inflamed elbow.

Leo's Best Ready

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24—The New York Giants, facing consecutive games against the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, will have their best pitchers ready for the American League powerhouses.

Leo Durocher has nominated Jim Hearn and left Dave Koslo to work against Detroit today. On Easter Sunday, righthanders Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie will try to silence the Red Sox's big bats.

Macon, Ga.—Chuck Taylor, 150, Coalport, Penn., outpointed Ralph Pearson 148½, Macon 10.

Southpaw Ace Sets New High For the Village

Averages 228 For Last Nine Games

Firing games of 218, 279 and 210, Mitzie Arlensky, the fashion plate of Kingston's bowling realm, rolled 707 last night in the Friday Mixed League at the Saugerties Recreation.

It was the first "700" series ever recorded in league competition in the village.

For the free-wheeling, bantam southpaw, the "707" blast climaxed the most terrific scoring spree in his bowling career and gave him a sensational 228 average for his last nine games.

Arlensky started his torrid trundling with a 683 Tuesday night in Kingston. On Wednesday he posted 671 in Saugerties and last night followed up with the 707.

Stopped by "Tap"

A stubborn 9-pin "tap" in the tenth frame of the middle set robbed Mitzie of a chance to go after the coveted "300." He reeled off nine strikes in a row before a "light" shot in the tenth left the 9-pin standing. Since Arlensky is a southpaw kegler, the 9-pin tap is similar to an 8-pin leave for a right hander.

Arlensky is a member of Mayone's Market in the Friday Mixed League in Saugerties and leads the circuit with a 182 average. Up to last night he had rolled 32 games of 200 or better and had compiled eight "600" triples.

The "707" was Arlensky's first in league competition.

Kentucky-Illinois In NCAA Finals

New York, March 24 (AP)—Kentucky and Illinois, rated two of the best teams in the country, clash tonight for the eastern NCAA basketball championship in a game that promises thrills galore.

Kentucky, rated No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll, is favored to win by six points, but the champions of the Big Ten were conceding nothing.

A crowd of more than 18,000 is expected to pack Madison Square Garden for the final New York collegiate doubleheader of the season. North Carolina State and St. John's of Brooklyn meet in the first game at 7:45 p. m. (EST) to determine third place in the eastern eliminations.

Leoce's 206 Mark Is High Average

Cy's Diner leads Adirondack Trailways by one game, as the Hudson Valley League keglers resume their schedule on Sunday. The race has narrowed down to a two-team struggle between the local and Newburgh powerhouses.

Nick Leoce has high average honors sewed up with a record 206.53 mark, while Johnny Ferraro of the Trailways is runnerup with 200.63.

Big Hank Kuykendall of Ellenville holds third position with 197.11. Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer of the Trailways has 195.13; Wally Gerken, Newburgh, 194.64; and Johnny Schatzel, Trailways, 194.31.

Trailways hold three of the league's miscellaneous records—1173 and 3306—and Harold Broskie's 289. Nick Leoce's 743 is high individual triple.

Davis Gets Draw But Looks Bad

New York, March 24 (AP)—John L. Davis won, lost and drew in one fight.

It all happened last night in Madison Square Garden and the befuddled, disgusted California Negro lightweight contender still was moaning about it today.

He was awarded a draw in his ten round bout with substitute Eddie Giosa, who replaced injured lightweight champion Ike Williams as Davis' opponent. He won the fight in the opinion of seven of nine boxing writers polled at ringside.

But what he lost was more important. The fight was drab, compared to the last three sensational fights put on in the Garden, and it undoubtedly cost the 24-year old Richmond, Calif. boxer a title shot at Williams.

Williams pulled out of the Davis fight Wednesday night because of a sore right shoulder. Giosa, veteran Philadelphia lightweight, was brought in on short notice so the radio-television commitments could be filled.

Giosa, an 11 to 5 underdog who outweighted his rival 145 to 136, is a cutey. He made John L. look bad with his clutching and back-pedaling tactics. Davis couldn't get going and was far from the sensational busy bee that he was supposed to be.

Furgol Leads Long Beach Open

Greensboro, N. C., March 24 (AP)—Marty Furgol, with an assist to Bill Nary, was working on a two-stroke lead as the field headed into today's second round of the $10,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Furgol, 33-year-old Long Beach, Calif., pro who has only one big time victory to his credit, beat the field of 158 and a high wind to shoot an opening round 68—three under par—yesterday. He took a two-stroke lead over his nearest rivals, Arthur Doering of Richmond, Va., and Jim Milward of Green Bay, Wis.

And Marty gave a major portion of the credit for his success to fellow-professional Bill Nary of Chino, Calif.

Furgol, whose Houston Open victory last month gave him his first major tournament win, used Nary's pet one-iron and also put into practice some expert instruction he has recently received from the Californian.

That trusty iron was quite a weapon. On the 11th hole Furgol laced one to within four feet of the pin, leaving himself an easy putt for a birdie three.

His 35-33 was three under par for the 6,718-yard Starmount Country Club course.

Little did we suspect more than a decade ago when John Bott was keeping those immaculate boxscores for John McCardle's Kingston All Stars that the soft-spoken, uptown bank official had been a monumental K.H.S. basketball hero in the early 1920s.

According to records dug up by George Palmateer, the Poughkeepsie sports scrivener, it was an historic foul shot by Bott that saved Kingston High the humiliation of a basketball shutout at the hands of the fabulous P.H.S. state champions of that era. If you feel, of course, that a 97 to 1 defeat does not constitute complete humiliation.

The 1920-21 Blue combination humbled Kingston 100 to 3 in their first meeting and then a year later had a 97-0 shutout sewed up until Bott was brash enough to sink a foul in the closing seconds.

That was some wrecking crew coached by Les Crapser and those pre-Kalloch Blues ran wild over area opposition. Besides thumping Kingston twice by those horrendous margins, they crushed Ellenville 107 to 2; Philmont 100 to 3 and Danbury, 112 to 11.

Members of that 1920-21 quintet which downed Albany, Norwich and Sherrill to cop what was labelled as the "state championship" included Len Hall, "Bean" Coffey, Big Ed Smith, Howard Rosenthal, Charlie Hoag, Hawley, Waterman and Tom McWilliams.

Hall became a great area star in semi-pro basketball in later years and an official of note. Hoag is the same fellow who is serving as district rent boss.

● Masterson . . . the Male Dorothy Dix:

George "Lanky" Masterson, the basketball Moses who led Newburgh Free Academy out of the DUSO bullrushes, told a Hill City audience a few days ago that he'll play Cyrano to the Roxanne of any of his boys—or any other part that might be required—as long as it gets him championship basketball teams.

With a grin he pointed out how his teams' playing ability has been seriously affected by spats with girl friends. The tall, distinguished looking Goldback mentor who caused many a co-ed's heart to skip several beats when he was the matinee idol at New Paltz State Teachers College many years ago, described how a championship was lost one time by a team he coached because his star player had a scrap with his best girl.

His star player, Masterson related, had once come to him with a beautiful letter, written to him by a young lady. The boy was having trouble trying to compose an equally high standard reply. Coach Masterson lent a hand, wound up writing the letter himself and continued the "work" for the next two years that the youth was in school.

They were eventually married, the coach explained, and today have two children and are quite happy. And Masterson had two years of fine basketball playing from his star.

"I make it a point to find out everything, all their problems," he said, contending that it was necessary sometimes in order to get a good team that will work together.

"I know more about my boys than anybody else in the high school . . . and that includes their lovelife," Masterson admitted.

It must be a pretty good system at that. Rival DUSO coaches will agree on that point.

● Hot Stove League:

It's hot news to baseball fans in general and National Leaguers in particular that Carl Furillo, of the Dodgers, has one of the most spectacular throwing arms in the history of the game. Since he entered the league in 1946, Carl has cut down 62 runners. Last season he led the league's outfielders in assists with 18. . . . "Are you picking the Yankees again?", the man asked. "I see no reason why I shouldn't pick them over the Boston Red Sox," we replied. "Is there any reason why a team which has failed so often as the Boston Red Sox should succeed now?" The Red Sox have essentially the same key men. The Yankees are the champs and, as such, they have the champs' pyschology. They are stacked with good players and reserves. The Red Sox will stage their usual late season rush and then fold in the clutch games against the Indians, Yankees and Tigers (maybe the Browns, too) in September. Then they have that guy, Williams . . . greatest natural hitter in baseball, but just a ball and chain for a pennant contender. To the utter surprise of nobody, we're picking the Yankees for their third straight pennant."

Spectacular Finishes in AAU Cage Tourney

Denver, March 24 (AP)—Two sensational final minute victories last night rocketed the hot-shooting Colorado A. & M. College team and San Francisco's silky-smooth Stewart Chevrolets into tonight's finals of the National AAU basketball tournament.

Slender George Yardley, jumping like his legs were coiled springs, powered the San Franciscans to a 66-63 win over defending champions Phillips 66ers in three pulsating overtime periods. The Bartlesville, Okla., club was seeking its eighth title in nine years.

A whiz kid from Brooklyn, Johnny O'Boyle—as Irish as his name—fired in a 65 foot shot in the last second to send the Colorado Collegians sailing past the Peoria, Ill., Caterpillar Diesels, 59-57.

New York, March 24 (AP)—President Truman's speech to the foreign ministers of 21 inter-American nations next Monday will be broadcast by the American Broadcasting Company, ABC announced yesterday. The address will be broadcast from Washington between 4 and 4:30 p. m. (E.S.T.).

To Quiz NCAA Ban On Grid Television

Washington, March 23 (AP)—The Justice Department disclosed today that its long anti-trust inquiry in the big-time sports field has been broadened to include college football television.

The Department said, in response to an inquiry, that it has asked the National Collegiate Association for an explanation of its new ban on the direct televising of college football games.

The NCAA regulation will be studied by the anti-trust-division, which has been keeping an eye on the relationships between broadcasting and major sports events for the last three years.

The investigation originally involved professional baseball only. When the Department raised objections to some of the restrictions surrounding radio broadcasts of big league game, leaders in the sport came in for a series of conferences.

The upshot was a broad revision, made two years ago, in radio rights to make on-the-field broadcasts. The Department said it would mark time on any formal action until it could observe how these changes worked out.

Hogan Sets Sights On Masters Tourney

Fort Worth, Tex., March 24 (AP)—Ben Hogan looked toward the Masters today—the only major tournament that has eluded him in one of golf's greatest careers.

The little man practiced at Colonial Country Club while Fort Worth talked about the world premiere of the picture of his life—"Follow the Sun."

The premiere went on at three downtown movies last night. Some 6,000 saw the film that told the story of the Fort Worth caddie who climbed to fame, then climbed back after being so severely injured in an auto-bus crash it was feared he never would walk again.

At the end of the picture, Hogan made a little speech. He talked about Ben Hogan Day in Fort Worth—an occasion which brought a resolution from the Texas Senate. He said: "Val (his wife, Valerie) and I want to keep this day sort of sacred for us forever."

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Miami, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Brooklyn manager Chuck Dressen hopes to see his new club play a game for the first time this season tonight when the Dodgers open a spring series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dressen, who had been sidelined for 13 days with a siege of the flu, is expected to pitch his ace righthander, Don Newcombe, against the Cardinals.

Meanwhile, club president Walter O'Malley said that the Dodgers hope to enter into a 21-year agreement with the town of Vero Beach to train there each spring.

Holmes Learning

Bradenton, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Tommy Holmes is getting a taste of handling a ball club in the field these days at the Boston Braves' training camp.

For the once the popular Tommy is coaching third base before reporting to Myrtle Beach, S. C., where he will take over managership of the Hartford club, Boston's farm in the Class A Eastern League.

Chet Nichols, Dave Cole and George Estcock are expected to pitch in that order today when the Tribe opposes the Philadelphia Athletics in the second of a three-game series.

Dykes Bounced

Bradenton, Fla., March 24 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics lost a 16 to 8 decision to the Boston Braves yesterday but not before Manager Jimmy Dykes got his first walking papers of the spring season from an umpire.

It happened in the ninth inning. Rookie Lou Limmer of the A's smashed a hit to left center field. The ball was lost in tall grass. Umpire Dascoli said it was a ground rule double.

Out came Dykes on the double. He said rather vociferously that it should be at least a triple and maybe a home run. Dykes ranted and panted but Dascoli remained unmoved. Finally Dykes was moved—right out of the game.

Had Dykes won his argument the A's would have lost 16 to 9 instead of 16 to 8.

Want Reliefer

San Francisco, March 24 (AP)—What the Cleveland Indians need above all is an experienced right handed relief pitcher.

That, anyhow, is the way Manager Al Lopez sizes up his ball club at this point. He is pretty well satisfied with Bob Lemon, Bob Feller, Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Steve Gromek.

But when they start weakening on an off day, what do the Indians do? His relief pitchers this spring have been rookies and they have not done well.

He doesn't want to use regulars in relief but if he has to it will be Garcia or Gromek. Last night, Gromek looked like an excellent choice. He pitched no-hit ball for five innings against Oakland.

Reynolds Okay

Oakland, Calif., March 24 (AP)—Casey Stengel, skipper of the New York Yankees, was breathing a bit easier today. The veteran manager had been told that one of his better pitchers, Allie Reynolds, will be available for regular duty during the coming season.

It was feared that Reynolds had a chipped bone in his right arm. But X-rays revealed that it was only an inflamed elbow.

Leo's Best Ready

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24—The New York Giants, facing consecutive games against the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, will have their best pitchers ready for the American League powerhouses.

Leo Durocher has nominated Jim Hearn and left Dave Koslo to work against Detroit today. On Easter Sunday, righthanders Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie will try to silence the Red Sox's big bats.

Macon, Ga.—Chuck Taylor, 150, Coalport, Penn., outpointed Ralph Pearson 148½, Macon 10.

Southpaw Ace Sets New High For the Village

Averages 228 For Last Nine Games

Firing games of 218, 279 and 210, Mitzie Arlensky, the fashion plate of Kingston's bowling realm, rolled 707 last night in the Friday Mixed League at the Saugerties Recreation.

It was the first "700" series ever recorded in league competition in the village.

For the free-wheeling, bantam southpaw, the "707" blast climaxed the most terrific scoring spree in his bowling career and gave him a sensational 228 average for his last nine games.

Arlensky started his torrid trundling with a 683 Tuesday night in Kingston. On Wednesday he posted 671 in Saugerties and last night followed up with the 707.

Stopped by "Tap"

A stubborn 9-pin "tap" in the tenth frame of the middle set robbed Mitzie of a chance to go after the coveted "300." He reeled off nine strikes in a row before a "light" shot in the tenth left the 9-pin standing. Since Arlensky is a southpaw kegler, the 9-pin tap is similar to an 8-pin leave for a right hander.

Arlensky is a member of Mayone's Market in the Friday Mixed League in Saugerties and leads the circuit with a 182 average. Up to last night he had rolled 32 games of 200 or better and had compiled eight "600" triples.

The "707" was Arlensky's first in league competition.

Kentucky-Illinois In NCAA Finals

New York, March 24 (AP)—Kentucky and Illinois, rated two of the best teams in the country, clash tonight for the eastern NCAA basketball championship in a game that promises thrills galore.

Kentucky, rated No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll, is favored to win by six points, but the champions of the Big Ten were conceding nothing.

A crowd of more than 18,000 is expected to pack Madison Square Garden for the final New York collegiate doubleheader of the season. North Carolina State and St. John's of Brooklyn meet in the first game at 7:45 p. m. (EST) to determine third place in the eastern eliminations.

Davis Gets Draw But Looks Bad

New York, March 24 (AP)—John L. Davis won, lost and drew in one fight.

It all happened last night in Madison Square Garden and the befuddled, disgusted California Negro lightweight contender still was moaning about it today.

He was awarded a draw in his ten round bout with substitute Eddie Giosa, who replaced injured lightweight champion Ike Williams as Davis' opponent. He won the fight in the opinion of seven of nine boxing writers polled at ringside.

But what he lost was more important. The fight was drab, compared to the last three sensational fights put on in the Garden, and it undoubtedly cost the 24-year old Richmond, Calif. boxer a title shot at Williams.

Williams pulled out of the Davis fight Wednesday night because of a sore right shoulder. Giosa, veteran Philadelphia lightweight, was brought in on short notice so the radio-television commitments could be filled.

Giosa, an 11 to 5 underdog who outweighted his rival 145 to 136, is a cutey. He made John L. look bad with his clutching and backpedaling tactics. Davis couldn't get going and was far from the sensational busy bee that he was supposed to be.

Furgol Leads Long Beach Open

Greensboro, N. C., March 24 (AP)—Marty Furgol, with an assist to Bill Nary, was working on a two-stroke lead as the field headed into today's second round of the $10,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Furgol, 33-year-old Long Beach, Calif., pro who has only one big time victory to his credit, beat the field of 158 and a high wind to shoot an opening round 68—three under par—yesterday. He took a two-stroke lead over his nearest rivals, Arthur Doering of Richmond, Va., and Jim Milward of Green Bay, Wis.

And Marty gave a major portion of the credit for his success to fellow-professional Bill Nary of Chino, Calif.

Furgol, whose Houston Open victory last month gave him his first major tournament win, used Nary's pet one-iron and also put into practice some expert instruction he has recently received from the Californian.

That trusty iron was quite a weapon. On the 11th hole Furgol laced one to within four feet of the pin, leaving himself an easy putt for a birdie three.

His 35-33 was three under par for the 6,718-yard Starmount Country Club course.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Little did we suspect more than a decade ago when John Bott was keeping those immaculate boxscores for John McCardle's Kingston All Stars that the soft-spoken, uptown bank official had been a monumental K.H.S. basketball hero in the early 1920s.

According to records dug up by George Palmateer, the Poughkeepsie sports scrivener, it was an historic foul shot by Bott that saved Kingston High the humiliation of a basketball shutout at the hands of the fabulous P.H.S. state champions of that era. If you feel, of course, that a 97 to 1 defeat does not constitute complete humiliation.

The 1920-21 Blue combination humbled Kingston 100 to 3 in their first meeting and then a year later had a 97-0 shutout sewed up until Bott was brash enough to sink a foul in the closing seconds.

That was some wrecking crew coached by Les Crapser and those pre-Kalloch Blues ran wild over area opposition. Besides thumping Kingston twice by those horrendous margins, they crushed Ellenville 107 to 2; Philmont 100 to 3 and Danbury, 112 to 11.

Members of that 1920-21 quintet which downed Albany, Norwich and Sherrill to cop what was labelled as the "state championship" included Len Hall, "Bean" Coffey, Big Ed Smith, Howard Rosenthal, Charlie Hoag, Hawley, Waterman and Tom McWilliams.

Hall became a great area star in semi-pro basketball in later years and an official of note. Hoag is the same fellow who is serving as district rent boss.

• Masterson . . . the Male Dorothy Dix:

George "Lanky" Masterson, the basketball Moses who led Newburgh Free Academy out of the DUSO bullrushes, told a Hill City audience a few days ago that he'll play Cyrano to the Roxanne of any of his boys—or any other part that might be required—as long as it gets him championship basketball teams.

With a grin he pointed out how his teams' playing ability has been seriously affected by spats with girl friends. The tall, distinguished looking Goldback mentor who caused many a co-ed's heart to skip several beats when he was the matinee idol at New Paltz State Teachers College many years ago, described how a championship was lost one time by a team he coached because his star player had a scrap with his best girl.

His star player, Masterson related, had once come to him with a beautiful letter, written to him by a young lady. The boy was having trouble trying to compose an equally high standard reply. Coach Masterson lent a hand, wound up writing the letter himself and continued the "work" for the next two years that the youth was in school.

They were eventually married, the coach explained, and today have two children and are quite happy. And Masterson had two years of fine basketball playing from his star.

"I make it a point to find out everything, all their problems," he said, contending that it was necessary sometimes in order to get a good team that will work together.

"I know more about my boys than anybody else in the high school . . . and that includes their lovelife," Masterson admitted.

It must be a pretty good system at that. Rival DUSO coaches will agree on that point.

• Hot Stove League:

It's not news to baseball fans in general and National Leaguers in particular that Carl Furillo, of the Dodgers, has one of the most spectacular throwing arms in the history of the game. Since he entered the league in 1946, Carl has cut down 62 runners. Last season he led the league's outfielders in assists with 18. . . . "Are you picking the Yankees again?", the man asked. "I see no reason why I shouldn't pick them over the Boston Red Sox," we replied. "Is there any reason why a team which has failed so often as the Boston Red Sox should succeed now?" The Red Sox have essentially the same key men. The Yankees are the champs and, as such, they have the champs' pyschology. They are stacked with good players and reserves. The Red Sox will stage their usual late season rush and then fold in the clutch games against the Indians, Yankees and Tigers (maybe the Browns, too) in September. Then they have that guy, Williams . . . greatest natural hitter in baseball, but just a ball and chain for a pennant contender. To the utter surprise of nobody, we're picking the Yankees for their third straight pennant."

Spectacular Finishes in AAU Cage Tourney

Denver, March 24 (AP)—Two sensational final minute victories last night rocketed the hot-shooting Colorado A. & M. College team and San Francisco's silky-smooth Stewart Chevrolets into tonight's finals of the National AAU basketball tournament.

Slender George Yardley, jumping like his legs were coiled springs, powered the San Franciscans to a 66-63 win over defending champions Phillips 66ers in three pulsating overtime periods. The Bartlesville, Okla., club was seeking its eighth title in nine years.

A whiz kid from Brooklyn, Johnny O'Boyle—as Irish as his name—fired in a 65 foot shot in the last second to send the Colorado Collegians sailing past the Peoria, Ill., Caterpillar Diesels, 59-57.

Truman to Broadcast

New York, March 24 (AP)—President Truman's speech to the foreign ministers of 21 inter-American nations next Monday will be broadcast by the American Broadcasting Company, ABC announced yesterday. The address will be broadcast from Washington between 4 and 4:30 p. m. (E.S.T.).

To Quiz NCAA Ban On Grid Television

Washington, March 23 (AP)—The Justice Department disclosed today that its long anti-trust inquiry in the big-time sports field has been broadened to include college football television.

The Department said, in response to an inquiry, that it has asked the National Collegiate Association for an explanation of its new ban on the direct televising of college football games.

The NCAA regulation will be studied by the anti-trust-division, which has been keeping an eye on the relationships between broadcasting and major sports events for the last three years.

The investigation originally involved professional baseball only. When the Department raised objections to some of the restrictions surrounding radio broadcasts of big league game, leaders in the sport came in for a series of conferences.

The upshot was a broad revision, made two years ago, in radio rights to make on-the-field broadcasts. The Department said it would mark time on any formal action until it could observe how these changes worked out.

Hogan Sets Sights On Masters Tourney

Fort Worth, Tex., March 24 (AP)—Ben Hogan looked toward the Masters today—the only major tournament that has eluded him in one of golf's greatest careers.

The little man practiced at Colonial Country Club while Fort Worth talked about the world premiere of the picture of his life—"Follow the Sun."

The premiere went on at three downtown movies last night. Some 6,000 saw the film that told the story of the Fort Worth caddie who climbed to fame, then climbed back after being so severely injured in an auto-bus crash it was feared he never would walk again.

At the end of the picture, Hogan made a little speech. He talked about Ben Hogan Day in Fort Worth—an occasion which brought a resolution from the Texas Senate. He said: "Val (his wife, Valerie) and I want to keep this day sort of sacred for us forever."

Defend Title

South Orange, N. J., March 24 (AP)—Manhattan College, indooor IC4A track and field champion, has entered the fifth annual Seton Hall Relays April 20 and 21, the Rev. James A. Carey, director of the games, announced today. Manhattan, coached by George Eastment, has won five eastern relay championships in the four previous Seton Hall meets.

C.Y.O. Finals Set Monday

Championship finals in three divisions of the Ulster county C.Y.O. basketball tournament will be played on Monday at the municipal auditorium starting at 7 p. m.

St. Peter's meets St. Mary's B in the Senior division; St. Mary's vs. St. Joseph's in the Met division, while St. Mary's A squares off against St. Joseph's for the Junior crown.

Leo A. Schupp, tournament director, said arrangements are being made to match the Ulster county champions against the winners of the Orange county tournament.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Miami, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Brooklyn manager Chuck Dressen hopes to see his new club play a game for the first time this season tonight when the Dodgers open a spring series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dressen, who had been sidelined for 13 days with a siege of the flu, is expected to pitch his ace righthander, Don Newcombe, against the Cardinals.

Meanwhile, club president Walter O'Malley said that the Dodgers hope to enter into a 21-year agreement with the town of Vero Beach to train there each spring.

Holmes Learning

Bradenton, Fla., March 24 (AP)— Tommy Holmes is getting a taste of handling a ball club in the field these days at the Boston Braves' training camp.

For the once the popular Tommy is coaching third base before reporting to Myrtle Beach, S. C., where he will take over managership of the Hartford club, Boston's farm in the Class A Eastern League.

Chet Nichols, Dave Cole and George Estcock are expected to pitch in that order today when the Tribe opposes the Philadelphia Athletics in the second of a three-game series.

Dykes Bounced

Bradenton, Fla., March 24 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics lost a 16 to 8 decision to the Boston Braves yesterday but not before Manager Jimmy Dykes got his first walking papers of the spring season from an umpire.

It happened in the ninth inning. Rookie Lou Limmer of the A's smashed a hit to left center field. The ball was lost in tall grass. Umpire Dascoli said it was a ground rule double.

Out came Dykes on the double. He said rather vociferously that it should be at least a triple and maybe a home run. Dykes ranted and panted but Dascoli remained unmoved. Finally Dykes was moved—right out of the game.

Had Dykes won his argument the A's would have lost 16 to 9 instead of 16 to 8.

Want Reliefer

That, anyhow, is the way Manager Al Lopez sizes up his ball club at this point. He is pretty well satisfied with Bob Lemon, Bob Feller, Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Steve Gromek.

But when they start weakening on an off day, what do the Indians do? His relief pitchers this spring have been rookies and they have not done well.

He doesn't want to use regulars in relief but if he has to it will be Garcia or Gromek. Last night, Gromek looked like an excellent choice. He pitched no-hit ball for five innings against Oakland.

Reynolds Okay

Oakland, Calif., March 24 (AP)—Casey Stengel, skipper of the New York Yankees, was breathing a bit easier today. The veteran manager had been told that one of his better pitchers, Allie Reynolds, will be available for regular duty during the coming season.

It was feared that Reynolds had a chipped bone in his right arm. But X-rays revealed that it was only an inflamed elbow.

Leo's Best Ready

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24—The New York Giants, facing consecutive games against the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, will have their best pitchers ready for the American League powerhouses.

Leo Durocher has nominated Jim Hearn and left Dave Koslo to work against Detroit today. On Easter Sunday, righthanders Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie will try to silence the Red Sox's big bats.

Macon, Ga.—Chuck Taylor, 150, Coalport, Penn., outpointed Ralph Pearson 148½, Macon 10.

Southpaw Ace Sets New High For the Village

Averages 228 For Last Nine Games

Firing games of 218, 279 and 210, Mitzie Arlensky, the fashion plate of Kingston's bowling realm, rolled 707 last night in the Friday Mixed League at the Saugerties Recreation.

It was the first "700" series ever recorded in league competition in the village.

For the free-wheeling, bantam southpaw, the "707" blast climaxed the most terrific scoring spree in his bowling career and gave him a sensational 228 average for his last nine games.

Arlensky started his torrid trundling with a 683 Tuesday night in Kingston. On Wednesday he posted 671 in Saugerties and last night followed up with the 707.

Stopped by "Tap"

A stubborn 9-pin "tap" in the tenth frame of the middle set robbed Mitzie of a chance to go after the coveted "300." He reeled off nine strikes in a row before a "light" shot in the tenth left the 9-pin standing. Since Arlensky is a southpaw kegler, the 9-pin tap is similar to an 8-pin leave for a right hander.

Arlensky is a member of Mayone's Market in the Friday Mixed League in Saugerties and leads the circuit with a 182 average. Up to last night he had rolled 32 games of 200 or better and had compiled eight "600" triples.

The "707" was Arlensky's first in league competition.

Kentucky-Illinois In NCAA Finals

New York, March 24 (AP)—Kentucky and Illinois, rated two of the best teams in the country, clash tonight for the eastern NCAA basketball championship in a game that promises thrills galore.

Kentucky, rated No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll, is favored to win by six points, but the champions of the Big Ten were conceding nothing.

A crowd of more than 18,000 is expected to pack Madison Square Garden for the final New York collegiate doubleheader of the season. North Carolina State and St. John's of Brooklyn meet in the first game at 7:45 p. m. (EST) to determine third place in the eastern eliminations.

To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster:
GREETING:

Whereas, a Trial Term of Supreme Court and Jail Delivery is to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Court House in the City of Kingston on Monday, the fifth day of March 1951.

WE COMMAND you, in pursuance of the provisions of section 222-a of the Code of Criminal Procedure in that case made and provided:

First: That you summon the several persons who shall have been drawn in said County of Ulster, pursuant to law, to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors at the said Court to appear thereat.

Second: That you bring before the said Court all prisoners then being in the Jail of said county, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands as such Sheriff.

Third: That you make Proclamation, in the manner prescribed by section 222-c of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners, and other officers who have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, to return such recognizances, inquisitions and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of its sitting.

WITNESS, Hon. Roscoe V. Elsworth, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, this 7th day of February in the year One thousand nine hundred and fifty-one.

LOUIS G. BRUHN

In pursuance to the above precept, I hereby make proclamation that a Term of Supreme Court of Ulster County and Jail Delivery will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster, on Monday the fifth day of March 1951 at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of that day; and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the Jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said Court, by recognizance or otherwise, are required to appear thereat; and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and other officers who may have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at the said Court, or who may have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, are required to return such recognizance, inquisition and examination, to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of the sitting thereof and to be then and there present with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances, to do those things which to their office pertain.

2. Retail sales slipped off somewhat, providing a lull in the inflation storm, but wholesale price levels climbed to another new record as of March 20.

3. At Cincinnati, Price Stabilizer Michael DiSalle said three new food regulations within the week will set price ceilings on 65 percent of the items a grocer sells. He added that manufacturers' rollbacks previously outlined would be forthcoming within 10 days.

Sales Decrease

Retail sales across the nation appeared leveling off. The Commerce Department reported that the dollar value of February sales, although 16 per cent above a year ago—a rise attributable in large part to higher prices—fell three per cent under January after taking into account seasonable factors.

Projecting the downslide closer to the present, the Federal Reserve Board said department store sales in the week ended March 17 fell about four per cent under the preceding week and were only 11 per cent above the corresponding week in 1950.

February retail sales of all stores came to only $10,790,000,000 compared with $11,852,000,000 in January, the Commerce Department said.

In the meantime, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported wholesale prices climbed to a record-shattering height during the week ended March 20. Its price index showed a 0.3 per cent climb to 183.9 per cent of the 1926 average.

That was 2.2 per cent above Jan. 23 — two days before the wage and price freeze—and 20.7 per cent above a year ago.

The main increase of the week was in farm products which rose 0.6 per cent to an all-time peak of 204.6 per cent of the 1926 average. Livestock and meats increased 1.7 per cent and 0.6 per cent respectively. However, the Department of Agriculture announced last night that net farm income for 1950 was down eight per cent from the 1949 level. The department said the net decline was due to higher prices paid by the farmer for goods and services he buys.

"If we had 60 more days, the committee could clean up some very rotten spots that have not been touch as yet and they are legion," the New Hampshire lawmaker said.

Kefauver has announced he would not remain on the committee if it was continued.

Otto Rast of the Onteora Trail is feeling a little better but still has to remain under a physician's care for the time being.

Total receipts accruing to the Red Cross fund from the March 13 supper sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church was $90.52, of which amount the sum of $28.52 was collected at a musical entertainment. The ladies are grateful for the generous donations of food and the entertainment talent furnished by numerous residents of several communities.

Alton Stoutenburgh and his brother-in-law, Ralph Chase of West Hurley, have completed a new sewage system at the Winchells' corner house, home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dohler.

The new residence along the Onteora Trail at the rock cut west of West Hurley and opposite the George Berry home is reported to be that of Norman Cole, long time resident of the northern Hurley village who removed there from the Bofceville area in waterworks years.

Rudolph Jurlak and Thord Fredenholm, local contractors, have built a garage on the Fredenholm residence grounds in the village center.

The Queen Esthers of the Glenford Methodist Church are having a special service on the evening of March 27, at which time the Rev. Robert Buza, who will soon leave for Guatemala, will preach a sermon and show pictures of religious work being done in the Lord's Vineyard.

Mrs. Maynard DeLong, who has been working in Catskill this winter, is spending a couple of weeks at her home on the George Hauser farm.

MacArthur . . .

Then Chinese Red hordes intervened and rolled the allies back to Seoul.

The U.N. allies were back near the 38th Parallel in many places today.

Skytroopers Help

Strong American, South Korean, Turkish, British, Belgian and Puerto Rican forces pushed north from a new battleline established on Good Friday by a huge landing of 3,300 skytroopers at Munsan. The town was quickly overrun and the new line was set up 20 miles north of Seoul.

All Friday night elements of one South Korean and two American divisions poured through enemy-deserted country to reinforce the paratroopers.

The Reds lost 3,470 men in Friday's fighting across the whole peninsula.

The main allied concern was the elimination of a Red salient dipping southwestward from Chunchon, eight miles south of the 38th Parallel in the center of Korea.

General MacArthur emphasized that any settlement must fulfill "the political objectives of the United Nations in Korea, to which no nation may justly take exceptions."

Points Out Red Failure

He told the Reds that these were reasons, from the enemy standpoint, for ending "further bloodshed":

1. The Chinese "human wave tactics"—using sheer masses of manpower—are a failure. (About 185,000 Reds have been killed or wounded by ground action alone since the allied offensive began Jan. 25.)

2. Chinese Reds on the front are suffering from war-making shortages because their supply lines have been smashed by allied planes and warship guns. (Allied planes flew a record-smashing 1,220 sorties Friday. Warships sustained into the second straight month their daily bombardment of the vital east-coast highway and rail line.)

3. Red China "lacks the industrial capacity to provide adequately many critical items essential to the conduct of modern war."

Some turbine engines also use the super-heated gas as a jet after it has passed through the turbine, to give the motor additional power.

It is expected to be several years before an atomic engine for aircraft is produced. But it was recently revealed that after four years of research the theoretical phase — mathematical computations — had been completed.

Some scientists have estimated that a single pound of uranium-235 could drive a B-36 inter-continental bomber 80 times around the world.

Good Looks Won't Count

Los Angeles, March 24 (AP)—Handsome John Agar will get to plead his case before an all-woman jury when his trial on drunk driving charges starts today. But the ladies all had to deny they might be influenced by his good looks before they were accepted for duty yesterday. Agar, 29, Shirley Temple's ex-husband, faces a maximum jail sentence of 30 days. He was arrested Jan. 13 and has been at liberty on $150 bond.

65,000 Railmen To Resume Work

Wage Increase in France Accepted by One Non-Red Union

Paris, March 24 (AP)—One of France's non-Communist unions ordered its 65,000 railroad workers back to the job today after getting wage increases from the government.

Another non-Communist union announced, however, that contrary to a government announcement, it had not yet accepted the latter's terms and consequently was not ordering its 65,000 workers back.

The Socialist Labor Federation, workers' force (force ouvrier) accepted the agreement providing for a minimum wage increase of 1,800 francs ($5.15) a month. The boost is expected to go as high as 2,250 francs ($6.10) in the Paris area.

The Confereation of Christian Workers said it had not accepted this and would confer with government negotiators again.

Despite this delay, French observers said the end seemed in sight for France's week-long wave of strike, unless the Communists succeed in pushing their adherents on with further walkouts.

Avoid Red Union

Government negotiators have avoided sitting down with the Communist-led General Labor Confederation (CGT), which controls some 300,000 rail workers.

However, the CGT has, thus far, let the non-Communist unions take the initiative in the current walkouts.

The wage increases for railroad workers are said to be applicable to striking Paris transport workers. Representative of the bus and subway workers are due to confer with government officials during the day.

The government also has given striking gas and electricity workers a 10 per cent increase and non Communist unions have ordered these workers back to the job.

programs to operate with undiminished force," says the report, "is merely to set up an unbeatable mechanism of built-in inflation."

3. The report also takes a dim view of public housing and rent control, declaring: "The need for government provision of housing and community facilities can hardly be large . . . The need for extending and strengthening rent control has not yet been clearly established."

4. The report views with suspicion the tremendous tax deductions that have been granted to corporations for expanding defense plants. Warning against "chiseling from the inside," the report notes that "corporations and other businesses have been granted certificates of eligibility for tax deductions in phenomenally large amounts with respect to facilities which had been planned and begun in many cases months before the war broke out in Korea."

5. The report also advocates a tough anti-trust program. "Far from granting exemptions or postponement of anti-trust action," the report urges, "the government must more vigorously than ever push the program to aid small business and to preserve free, private, competitive enterprise."

6. The report takes a crack at commodity speculation, warning that "the course of commodity prices during 1950 has demonstrated again that the cost of living, not to speak of costs of production in general. Should be freed from uninformed and indiscriminate speculative manipulation."

After pointing out the tough road ahead, the report adds hopefully: "The United States has the spiritual power, the economic strength and the productive resources to perform the task it has undertaken."

tion director, rejected the agreement He said it violated the government wage formula which limits pay increases to 10 per cent above Jan. 15, 1950, levels. He said three cents of the pay raise could be allowed under the formula.

The packers gave both unions an 11 cent hourly pay hike in August, 1950, boosting wages of meat plant workers to a scale of from $1.26 to $2.10 an hour. However, the CIO said the average is $1.50 and about a third of the workers are paid the common labor rate of $1.26 an hour.

April Milk Price

New York, March 24 (AP)—Class 1-A fluid milk produced for the New York metropolitan marketing area will have an April price of $5.48 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts). C. J. Blanford, the market administrator, announced the price yesterday. Last April the price was $4.58. This month it is $5.78. The Class 1-A price is that paid by handlers to the New York pool. Dairy farmers in turn receive a uniform price determined by the use made of all milk received at approved country plants for the New York marketing area.

Asks O'Dwyer Removal

New York, March 24 (AP)—The American Labor Party has asked President Truman to remove William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico. The leftist party backed O'Dwyer when he first was elected mayor in 1945, but not when he was reelected four years later. ALP State Chairman Vito Marcantonio said yesterday he wired the President that O'Dwyer's role in the Senate crime investigation shows violation of "the moral standards expected by the American people of any public official."

Students at Bard Cite Points They View in Education

9nnandale-on-Hudson, March 24—The 10 most essential characteristics that students should develop during their four years at college were reported in this week's issue of The Bardian, the Bard College student publication. The list was determined on the basis of an intensive survey made last spring at the request of the student Educational Policies Committee and directed by three faculty members, two psychologists and one sociologist.

In answer to the question "What qualities should Bard College attempt to develop in students during their four years on campus?", the following list was determined:

1. Eagerness for learning: Desire for knowledge; scholarly dedication; motivation to learn; intellectual curiosity.

2. Integrity: Moral and intellectual honesty; ability to face conseuences; honorable; sincere; able to stand up for one's beliefs.

3. Use of knowledge: The ability to apply knowledge; to use what one has learned.

4. Maturity: Adult behavior and attitudes; sense of proportion; intellectual and emotional maturity.

5. Self-reliance: Ability to work independently; independence in thought and behavior; ability to make decisions alone; self-direction; ability to direct one's own studies.

6. Interest in major field (no other explanation necessary.)

7. Intelligence: Educability; ability to do college work well; intellectual ability.

8. Progress: Individual improvement; ability to grow intellectually and emotionally; improvement over initial performance.

9. Emotional stability: Mental health; well-adjusted; intelligent social habits.

10. Openmindedness: Willingness to hear and consider other points of view.

The study was also concerned with problems of admissions requirements of the socio-economic character of the college community, and of the major spontaneous groupings of students in relation to major field, year in college, dormitory, and other institutional factors. Data on these other phases of what is known as the "Bard Research Project" will be released in subsequent issues of the student paper.

Garment Workers Favor Union Shop Clause

New York, March 24 (AP)—Members of the A.F.L. International Ladies Garment Workers Union in the greater New York area have voted overwhelmingly in favor of a union shop clause to be written into the ILGWU contract.

The vote results were announced last night by Arthur Goldberg, field examiner of the National Labor Relations Board under whose supervision the balloting took place.

Results showed 66,195 in favor of the union shop clause and 654 against, Goldberg said.

He said 70,629 workers in 2,500 shops of the dress and waistmakers joint board of greater New York were eligible to participate in the voting, also conducted during the week of March 12 in New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

In order to obtain a union shop, under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law, a majority of eligible workers involved must vote approval.

New Law Is Expected To Cut Police Graft

New York, March 24 (AP)—New York city has a new law which local officials expect will play an important part in graft and police corruption investigations.

The measure, signed by Mayor Vincent Impellitteri yesterday, requires policemen to wait 30 days before retirement applications become effective.

It is aimed at a barrier that has hampered a Brooklyn grand jury investigation into gamblers and their alleged bribe payoffs to crooked police.

Many police have retired when called before the grand jury to escape signing a waiver of immunity. As city employes, they would have been required to waive immunity before a grand jury and thus lay themselves open to possible prosecution.

The law becomes effective in 45 days.

Business Damage Awards Made in Downsville Area

Awards were made Wednesday by the commissioners of appraisal consisting of Frederick W. Loomis, chairman, George S. Rader and G. Frank Slawson, to farmers and businessmen in the Downsville area whose properties were acquired by the city of New York in October, 1947, for the construction of the Pepacton Dam and Reservoir. These business damage awards are in addition to the awards paid by the city for the farm lands and buildings in the Downsville area during the year 1948-49. These business damage awards were the first so made in the Delaware county proceedings. Herman E. Gottfried of Margaretville, attorney for the claimants, stated that these are the first substantial business damage awards made since 1908, when the city was building the Ashokan Reservoir in Ulster county. No business damage awards were made in either the Ulster or Sullivan county projects which were commenced in 1936 for the Lackawack and Neversink Reservoirs. These business damage recoveries mark a very important phase in the development of water supply litigation against the city in the present as well as future proceedings.

Gottfried received the report from the Commissioners of Appraisal on March 21. The property of Archie and Nancy Campbell of Downsville, which consisted of a farm and boarding house, had been condemned in 1947, for which they had already received an award of $17,500. The Commissioners of Appraisal have now awarded Archie Campbell the sum of $5,000 for business damage losses to his farm, and Nancy Campbell, his wife, was awarded $4,000 for her boarding house business.

Ernest C. Bogart, who now lives in Downsville, owned a farm on the south side of the East Branch near Downsville. In 1948 he was awarded $12,000 for his farm lands and buildings. On Wednesday he was awarded the additional sum of $5,750 for his loss of farm business.

Fred Miller of Downsville, who operated the farm owned by Gladys Travis for several years before the city acquired it, received $7,500 for his farm business damages caused by the city's removing him. Mrs. Travis, two years ago, received $11,000 for her farm land and buildings from the city of New York.

Christie Knowles, Schenevus, who formerly rented and operated the Nine Purday farm, near Downsville, was awarded $8,500 for his business loss. Miss Purday was awarded $16,000 for her real estate in 1948.

Sterling Butler, Bloomville, who operated a machine and repair shop on the upper Ernest Bogart farm for five years before the city took over, received $4,200 for his business loss, while his wife, who operated a boarding house for mental patients on the same property received $2,500 as her damages. In 1949 Bogart, who owned these lands and buildings, received an award of $8,000 for this property which he had rented to Mr. and Mrs. Butler.

William Taylor, Morris, who rented and worked the Eliza Paul farm in Holliday Brook near Pepacton, received an award of $5,000 for his business damages. Mrs. Eliza Paul in 1948 received $5,500 for the real estate.

John E. Shaver of Coles Clove, who operated a trucking business, which was seriously curtailed because of the removal of numerous farms in the area, received an award of $350 for the loss of his trucking business.

In addition, indirect real estate damage awards were also made to the following property owners in the Holliday Brook area who were also represented by Gottfried. No land or buildings were taken by the city. Emory King, who owns a summer house, received $700. Rudolph Hartwig, who purchased the old school house in Holliday Brook, was allowed $200, while Commyron Hardenburgh received $400.

2. Retail sales slipped off somewhat, providing a lull in the inflation storm, but wholesale price levels climbed to another new record as of March 20.

3. At Cincinnati, Price Stabilizer Michael DiSalle said three new food regulations within the week will set price ceilings on 65 percent of the items a grocer sells. He added that manufacturers' rollbacks previously outlined would be forthcoming within 10 days.

Sales Decrease

Retail sales across the nation appeared leveling off. The Commerce Department reported that the dollar value of February sales, although 16 per cent above a year ago—a rise attributable in large part to higher prices—fell three per cent under January after taking into account seasonable factors.

Projecting the downslide closer to the present, the Federal Reserve Board said department store sales in the week ended March 17 fell about four per cent under the preceding week and were only 11 per cent above the corresponding week in 1950.

February retail sales of all stores came to only $10,790,000,000 compared with $11,852,000,000 in January, the Commerce Department said.

In the meantime, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported wholesale prices climbed to a record-shattering height during the week ended March 20. Its price index showed a 0.3 per cent climb to 183.9 per cent of the 1926 average.

That was 2.2 per cent above Jan. 23 — two days before the wage and price freeze—and 20.7 per cent above a year ago.

The main increase of the week was in farm products which rose 0.6 per cent to an all-time peak of 204.6 per cent of the 1926 average. Livestock and meats increased 1.7 per cent and 0.6 per cent respectively. However, the Department of Agriculture announced last night that net farm income for 1950 was down eight per cent from the 1949 level. The department said the net decline was due to higher prices paid by the farmer for goods and services he buys.

"If we had 60 more days, the committee could clean up some very rotten spots that have not been touch as yet and they are legion," the New Hampshire lawmaker said.

Kefauver has announced he would not remain on the committee if it was continued.

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 24 — Clarence Palen and family have moved from the old Cudney farmhouse to the one-time Warren homestead at the Olive-Hurley town line. Other occupants of the latter house are Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Van Wagener and son.

The New York city department of water supply, gas and electricity issues a 10-page booklet containing rules and regulations for the protection of water supply in the Ashokan and other reservoirs of the city's system. This furnishes concise information regarding sewage disposal and other matters which every resident of the watershed ought to know about.

Otto Rast of the Onteora Trail is feeling a little better but still has to remain under a physician's care for the time being.

Total receipts accruing to the Red Cross fund from the March 13 supper sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church was $90.52, of which amount the sum of $28.52 was collected at a musical entertainment. The ladies are grateful for the generous donations of food and the entertainment talent furnished by numerous residents of several communities.

Alton Stoutenburgh and his brother-in-law, Ralph Chase of West Hurley, have completed a new sewage system at the Winchells' corner house, home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dohler.

The new residence along the Onteora Trail at the rock cut west of West Hurley and opposite the George Berry home is reported to be that of Norman Cole, long time resident of the northern Hurley village who removed there from the Boiceville area in waterworks years.

Rudolph Jurlak and Thord Fredenholm, local contractors, have built a garage on the Fredenholm residence grounds in the village center.

The Queen Esthers of the Glenford Methodist Church are having a special service on the evening of March 27, at which time the Rev. Robert Buza, who will soon leave for Guatemala, will preach a sermon and show pictures of religious work being done in the Lord's Vineyard.

Mrs. Maynard DeLong, who has been working in Catskill this winter, is spending a couple of weeks at her home on the George Hauser farm.

65,000 Railmen To Resume Work

Wage Increase in France Accepted by One Non-Red Union

Paris, March 24 (AP)—One of France's non-Communist unions ordered its 65,000 railroad workers back to the job today after getting wage increases from the government.

Another non-Communist union announced, however, that contrary to a government announcement, it had not yet accepted the latter's terms and consequently was not ordering its 65,000 workers back.

The Socialist Labor Federation, workers' force (force ouvrier) accepted the agreement providing for a minimum wage increase of 1,800 francs ($5.15) a month. The boost is expected to go as high as 2,250 francs ($6.10) in the Paris area.

The Confereation of Christian Workers said it had not accepted this and would confer with government negotiators again.

Despite this delay, French observers said the end seemed in sight for France's week-long wave of strike, unless the Communists succeed in pushing their adherents on with further walkouts.

Avoid Red Union

Government negotiators have avoided sitting down with the Communist-led General Labor Confederation (CGT), which controls some 300,000 rail workers.

However, the CGT has, thus far, let the non-Communist unions take the initiative in the current walkouts.

The wage increases for railroad workers are said to be applicable to striking Paris transport workers. Representative of the bus and subway workers are due to confer with government officials during the day.

The government also has given striking gas and electricity workers a 10 per cent increase and non Communist unions have ordered these workers back to the job.

programs to operate with undiminished force," says the report, "is merely to set up an unbeatable mechanism of built-in inflation."

3. The report also takes a dim view of public housing and rent control, declaring: "The need for government provision of housing and community facilities can hardly be large . . . The need for extending and strengthening rent control has not yet been clearly established."

4. The report views with suspicion the tremendous tax deductions that have been granted to corporations for expanding defense plants. Warning against "chiseling from the inside," the report notes that "corporations and other businesses have been granted certificates of eligibility for tax deductions in phenomenally large amounts with respect to facilities which had been planned and begun in many cases months before the war broke out in Korea."

5. The report also advocates a tough anti-trust program. "Far from granting exemptions or postponement of anti-trust action," the report urges, "the government must more vigorously than ever push the program to aid small business and to preserve free, private, competitive enterprise."

6. The report takes a crack at commodity speculation, warning that "the course of commodity prices during 1950 has demonstrated again that the cost of living, not to speak of costs of production in general. Should be freed from uninformed and indiscriminate speculative manipulation."

After pointing out the tough road ahead, the report adds hopefully: "The United States has the spiritual power, the economic strength and the productive resources to perform the task it has undertaken."

tion director, rejected the agreement He said it violated the government wage formula which limits pay increases to 10 per cent above Jan. 15, 1950, levels. He said three cents of the pay raise could be allowed under the formula.

The packers gave both unions an 11 cent hourly pay hike in August, 1950, boosting wages of meat plant workers to a scale of from $1.26 to $2.10 an hour. However, the CIO said the average is $1.50 and about a third of the workers are paid the common labor rate of $1.26 an hour.

April Milk Price

New York, March 24 (AP)—Class 1-A fluid milk produced for the New York metropolitan marketing area will have an April price of $5.48 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts). C. J. Blanford, the market administrator, announced the price yesterday. Last April the price was $4.58. This month it is $5.78. The Class 1-A price is that paid by handlers to the New York pool. Dairy farmers in turn receive a uniform price determined by the use made of all milk received at approved country plants for the New York marketing area.

Asks O'Dwyer Removal

New York, March 24 (AP)—The American Labor Party has asked President Truman to remove William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico. The leftist party backed O'Dwyer when he first was elected mayor in 1945, but not when he was reelected four years later. ALP State Chairman Vito Marcantonio said yesterday he wired the President that O'Dwyer's role in the Senate crime investigation shows violation of "the moral standards expected by the American people of any public official."

Students at Bard Cite Points They View in Education

9nnandale-on-Hudson, March 24 —The 10 most essential characteristics that students should develop during their four years at college were reported in this week's issue of The Bardian, the Bard College student publication. The list was determined on the basis of an intensive survey made last spring at the request of the student Educational Policies Committee and directed by three faculty members, two psychologists and one sociologist.

In answer to the question "What qualities should Bard College attempt to develop in students during their four years on campus?", the following list was determined:

1. Eagerness for learning: Desire for knowledge; scholarly dedication; motivation to learn; intellectual curiosity.

2. Integrity: Moral and intellectual honesty; ability to face conseuences; honorable; sincere; able to stand up for one's beliefs.

3. Use of knowledge: The ability to apply knowledge; to use what one has learned.

4. Maturity: Adult behavior and attitudes; sense of proportion; intellectual and emotional maturity.

5. Self-reliance: Ability to work independently; independence in thought and behavior; ability to make decisions alone; self-direction; ability to direct one's own studies.

6. Interest in major field (no other explanation necessary.)

7. Intelligence: Educability; ability to do college work well; intellectual ability.

8. Progress: Individual improvement; ability to grow intellectually and emotionally; improvement over initial performance.

9. Emotional stability: Mental health; well-adjusted; intelligent social habits.

10. Openmindedness: Willingness to hear and consider other points of view.

The study was also concerned with problems of admissions requirements of the socio-economic character of the college community, and of the major spontaneous groupings of students in relation to major field, year in college, dormitory, and other institutional factors. Data on these other phases of what is known as the "Bard Research Project" will be released in subsequent issues of the student paper.

Garment Workers Favor Union Shop Clause

New York, March 24 (AP)—Members of the A.F.L. International Ladies Garment Workers Union in the greater New York area have voted overwhelmingly in favor of a union shop clause to be written into the ILGWU contract.

The vote results were announced last night by Arthur Goldberg, field examiner of the National Labor Relations Board under whose supervision the balloting took place.

Results showed 66,195 in favor of the union shop clause and 654 against, Goldberg said.

He said 70,629 workers in 2,500 shops of the dress and waistmakers joint board of greater New York were eligible to participate in the voting, also conducted during the week of March 12 in New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

In order to obtain a union shop, under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law, a majority of eligible workers involved must vote approval.

New Law Is Expected To Cut Police Graft

New York, March 24 (AP)—New York city has a new law which local officials expect will play an important part in graft and police corruption investigations.

The measure, signed by Mayor Vincent Impellitteri yesterday, requires policemen to wait 30 days before retirement applications become effective.

It is aimed at a barrier that has hampered a Brooklyn grand jury investigation into gamblers and their alleged bribe payoffs to crooked police.

Many police have retired when called before the grand jury to escape signing a waiver of immunity. As city employes, they would have been required to waive immunity before a grand jury and thus lay themselves open to possible prosecution.

The law becomes effective in 45 days.

Business Damage Awards Made in Downsville Area

Awards were made Wednesday by the commissioners of appraisal consisting of Frederick W. Loomis, chairman, George S. Rader and G. Frank Slawson, to farmers and businessmen in the Downsville area whose properties were acquired by the city of New York in October, 1947, for the construction of the Pepacton Dam and Reservoir. These business damage awards are in addition to the awards paid by the city for the farm lands and buildings in the Downsville area during the year 1948-49. These business damage awards were the first so made in the Delaware county proceedings. Herman E. Gottfried of Margaretville, attorney for the claimants, stated that these are the first substantial business damage awards made since 1908, when the city was building the Ashokan Reservoir in Ulster county. No business damage awards were made in either the Ulster or Sullivan county projects which were commenced in 1936 for the Lackawack and Neversink Reservoirs. These business damage recoveries mark a very important phase in the development of water supply litigation against the city in the present as well as future proceedings.

Gottfried received the report from the Commissioners of Appraisal on March 21. The property of Archie and Nancy Campbell of Downsville, which consisted of a farm and boarding house, had been condemned in 1947, for which they had already received an award of $17,500. The Commissioners of Appraisal have now awarded Archie Campbell the sum of $5,000 for business damage losses to his farm, and Nancy Campbell, his wife, was awarded $4,000 for her boarding house business.

Ernest C. Bogart, who now lives in Downsville, owned a farm on the south side of the East Branch near Downsville. In 1948 he was awarded $12,000 for his farm lands and buildings. On Wednesday he was awarded the additional sum of $5,750 for his loss of farm business.

Fred Miller of Downsville, who operated the farm owned by Gladys Travis for several years before the city acquired it, received $7,500 for his farm business damages caused by the city's removing him. Mrs. Travis, two years ago, received $11,000 for her farm land and buildings from the city of New York.

Christie Knowles, Schenevus, who formerly rented and operated the Nine Purday farm, near Downsville, was awarded $8,500 for his business loss. Miss Purday was awarded $16,000 for her real estate in 1948.

Sterling Butler, Bloomville, who operated a machine and repair shop on the upper Ernest Bogart farm for five years before the city took over, received $4,200 for his business loss, while his wife, who operated a boarding house for mental patients on the same property received $2,500 as her damages. In 1949 Bogart, who owned these lands and buildings, received an award of $8,000 for this property which he had rented to Mr. and Mrs. Butler.

William Taylor, Morris, who rented and worked the Eliza Paul farm in Holliday Brook near Pepacton, received an award of $5,000 for his business damages. Mrs. Eliza Paul in 1948 received $5,500 for the real estate.

John E. Shaver of Coles Clove, who operated a trucking business, which was seriously curtailed because of the removal of numerous farms in the area, received an award of $350 for the loss of his trucking business.

In addition, indirect real estate damage awards were also made to the following property owners in the Holliday Brook area who were also represented by Gottfried. No land or buildings were taken by the city. Emory King, who owns a summer house, received $700. Rudolph Hartwig, who purchased the old school house in Holliday Brook, was allowed $200, while Commyron Hardenburgh received $400.

Buenos Aires, March 24 (AP)—Congressional investigators continued their search of La Prensa's government-seized records today, as close-mouthed police still hunted for the independent paper's fugitive editor. renegotiate defense contracts and recapture excessive profits.

2. Retail sales slipped off somewhat, providing a lull in the inflation storm, but wholesale price levels climbed to another new record as of March 20.

3. At Cincinnati, Price Stabilizer Michael DiSalle said three new food regulations within the week will set price ceilings on 65 percent of the items a grocer sells. He added that manufacturers' rollbacks previously outlined would be forthcoming within 10 days.

Sales Decrease

Retail sales across the nation appeared leveling off. The Commerce Department reported that the dollar value of February sales, although 16 per cent above a year ago—a rise attributable in large part to higher prices—fell three per cent under January after taking into account seasonable factors.

Projecting the downslide closer to the present, the Federal Reserve Board said department store sales in the week ended March 17 fell about four per cent under the preceding week and were only 11 per cent above the corresponding week in 1950.

February retail sales of all stores came to only $10,790,000,000 compared with $11,852,000,000 in January, the Commerce Department said.

In the meantime, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported wholesale prices climbed to a record-shattering height during the week ended March 20. Its price index showed a 0.3 per cent climb to 183.9 per cent of the 1926 average.

That was 2.2 per cent above Jan. 23 — two days before the wage and price freeze—and 20.7 per cent above a year ago.

The main increase of the week was in farm products which rose 0.6 per cent to an all-time peak of 204.6 per cent of the 1926 average. Livestock and meats increased 1.7 per cent and 0.6 per cent respectively. However, the Department of Agriculture announced last night that net farm income for 1950 was down eight per cent from the 1949 level. The department said the net decline was due to higher prices paid by the farmer for goods and services he buys.

Kefauver has announced he would not remain on the committee if it was continued.

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 24 — Clarence Palen and family have moved from the old Cudney farmhouse to the one-time Warren homestead at the Olive-Hurley town line. Other occupants of the latter house are Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Van Wagener and son.

The New York city department of water supply, gas and electricity issues a 10-page booklet containing rules and regulations for the protection of water supply in the Ashokan and other reservoirs of the city's system. This furnishes concise information regarding sewage disposal and other matters which every resident of the watershed ought to know about.

Otto Rast of the Onteora Trail is feeling a little better but still has to remain under a physician's care for the time being.

Total receipts accruing to the Red Cross fund from the March 13 supper sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church was $90.52, of which amount the sum of $28.52 was collected at a musical entertainment. The ladies are grateful for the generous donations of food and the entertainment talent furnished by numerous residents of several communities.

Alton Stoutenburgh and his brother-in-law, Ralph Chase of West Hurley, have completed a new sewage system at the Winchells' corner house, home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dohler.

The new residence along the Onteora Trail at the rock cut west of West Hurley and opposite the George Berry home is reported to be that of Norman Cole, long time resident of the northern Hurley village who removed there from the Boiceville area in waterworks years.

Rudolph Jurlak and Thord Fredenholm, local contractors, have built a garage on the Fredenholm residence grounds in the village center.

The Queen Esthers of the Glenford Methodist Church are having a special service on the evening of March 27, at which time the Rev. Robert Buza, who will soon leave for Guatemala, will preach a sermon and show pictures of religious work being done in the Lord's Vineyard.

Mrs. Maynard DeLong, who has been working in Catskill this winter, is spending a couple of weeks at her home on the George Hauser farm.

MacArthur . . .

Then Chinese Red hordes intervened and rolled the allies back to Seoul.

The U.N. allies were back near the 38th Parallel in many places today.

Skytroopers Help

Strong American, South Korean, Turkish, British, Belgian and Puerto Rican forces pushed north from a new battleline established on Good Friday by a huge landing of 3,300 skytroopers at Munsan. The town was quickly overrun and the new line was set up 20 miles north of Seoul.

All Friday night elements of one South Korean and two American divisions poured through enemy-deserted country to reinforce the paratroopers.

The Reds lost 3,470 men in Friday's fighting across the whole peninsula.

The main allied concern was the elimination of a Red salient dipping southwestward from Chunchon, eight miles south of the 38th Parallel in the center of Korea.

General MacArthur emphasized that any settlement must fulfill "the political objectives of the United Nations in Korea, to which no nation may justly take exceptions."

Points Out Red Failure

He told the Reds that these were reasons, from the enemy standpoint, for ending "further bloodshed":

1. The Chinese "human wave tactics"—using sheer masses of manpower—are a failure. (About 185,000 Reds have been killed or wounded by ground action alone since the allied offensive began Jan. 25.)

2. Chinese Reds on the front are suffering from war-making shortages because their supply lines have been smashed by allied planes and warship guns. (Allied planes flew a record-smashing 1,220 sorties Friday. Warships sustained into the second straight month their daily bombardment of the vital east-coast highway and rail line.)

3. Red China "lacks the industrial capacity to provide adequately many critical items essential to the conduct of modern war."

to whirl a turbine which turns the aircraft's propellor. It was assumed, therefore, that ways would be sought to use heat from a nuclear reactor to heat air or other gas for a turbine engine.

Some turbine engines also use the super-heated gas as a jet after it has passed through the turbine, to give the motor additional power.

It is expected to be several years before an atomic engine for aircraft is produced. But it was recently revealed that after four years of research the theoretical phase — mathematical computations — had been completed.

Some scientists have estimated that a single pound of uranium-235 could drive a B-36 inter-continental bomber 80 times around the world.

Good Looks Won't Count

Los Angeles, March 24 (AP)—Handsome John Agar will get to plead his case before an all-woman jury when his trial on drunk driving charges starts today. But the ladies all had to deny they might be influenced by his good looks before they were accepted for duty yesterday. Agar, 29, Shirley Temple's ex-husband, faces a maximum jail sentence of 30 days. He was arrested Jan. 13 and has been at liberty on $150 bond.

65,000 Railmen To Resume Work

Wage Increase in France Accepted by One Non-Red Union

Paris, March 24 (AP)—One of France's non-Communist unions ordered its 65,000 railroad workers back to the job today after getting wage increases from the government.

Another non-Communist union announced, however, that contrary to a government announcement, it had not yet accepted the latter's terms and consequently was not ordering its 65,000 workers back.

The Socialist Labor Federation, workers' force (force ouvrier) accepted the agreement providing for a minimum wage increase of 1,800 francs ($5.15) a month. The boost is expected to go as high as 2,250 francs ($6.10) in the Paris area.

The Confereation of Christian Workers said it had not accepted this and would confer with government negotiators again.

Despite this delay, French observers said the end seemed in sight for France's week-long wave of strike, unless the Communists succeed in pushing their adherents on with further walkouts.

Avoid Red Union

Government negotiators have avoided sitting down with the Communist-led General Labor Confederation (CGT), which controls some 300,000 rail workers.

However, the CGT has, thus far, let the non-Communist unions take the initiative in the current walkouts.

The wage increases for railroad workers are said to be applicable to striking Paris transport workers. Representative of the bus and subway workers are due to confer with government officials during the day.

The government also has given striking gas and electricity workers a 10 per cent increase and non Communist unions have ordered these workers back to the job.

6. The report takes a crack at commodity speculation, warning that "the course of commodity prices during 1950 has demonstrated again that the cost of living, not to speak of costs of production in general. Should be freed from uninformed and indiscriminate speculative manipulation."

After pointing out the tough road ahead, the report adds hopefully: "The United States has the spiritual power, the economic strength and the productive resources to perform the task it has undertaken."

The packers gave both unions an 11 cent hourly pay hike in August, 1950, boosting wages of meat plant workers to a scale of from $1.26 to $2.10 an hour. However, the CIO said the average is $1.50 and about a third of the workers are paid the common labor rate of $1.26 an hour.

New York, March 24 (AP)—The American Labor Party has asked President Truman to remove William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico. Students at Bard Cite Points They View in Education

9nnandale-on-Hudson, March 24—The 10 most essential characteristics that students should develop during their four years at college were reported in this week's issue of The Bardian, the Bard College student publication. The list was determined on the basis of an intensive survey made last spring at the request of the student Educational Policies Committee and directed by three faculty members, two psychologists and one sociologist.

In answer to the question "What qualities should Bard College attempt to develop in students during their four years on campus?", the following list was determined:

1. Eagerness for learning: Desire for knowledge; scholarly dedication; motivation to learn; intellectual curiosity.

2. Integrity: Moral and intellectual honesty; ability to face conseuences; honorable; sincere; able to stand up for one's beliefs.

3. Use of knowledge: The ability to apply knowledge; to use what one has learned.

4. Maturity: Adult behavior and attitudes; sense of proportion; intellectual and emotional maturity.

5. Self-reliance: Ability to work independently; independence in thought and behavior; ability to make decisions alone; self-direction; ability to direct one's own studies.

6. Interest in major field (no other explanation necessary.)

7. Intelligence: Educability; ability to do college work well; intellectual ability.

8. Progress: Individual improvement; ability to grow intellectually and emotionally; improvement over initial performance.

9. Emotional stability: Mental health; well-adjusted; intelligent social habits.

10. Openmindedness: Willingness to hear and consider other points of view.

The study was also concerned with problems of admissions requirements of the socio-economic character of the college community, and of the major spontaneous groupings of students in relation to major field, year in college, dormitory, and other institutional factors. Data on these other phases of what is known as the "Bard Research Project" will be released in subsequent issues of the student paper.

Garment Workers Favor Union Shop Clause

New York, March 24 (AP)—Members of the A.F.L. International Ladies Garment Workers Union in the greater New York area have voted overwhelmingly in favor of a union shop clause to be written into the ILGWU contract.

The vote results were announced last night by Arthur Goldberg, field examiner of the National Labor Relations Board under whose supervision the balloting took place.

Results showed 66,195 in favor of the union shop clause and 654 against, Goldberg said.

He said 70,629 workers in 2,500 shops of the dress and waistmakers joint board of greater New York were eligible to participate in the voting, also conducted during the week of March 12 in New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

In order to obtain a union shop, under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law, a majority of eligible workers involved must vote approval.

New Law Is Expected To Cut Police Graft

New York, March 24 (AP)—New York city has a new law which local officials expect will play an important part in graft and police corruption investigations.

The measure, signed by Mayor Vincent Impellitteri yesterday, requires policemen to wait 30 days before retirement applications become effective.

It is aimed at a barrier that has hampered a Brooklyn grand jury investigation into gamblers and their alleged bribe payoffs to crooked police.

Many police have retired when called before the grand jury to escape signing a waiver of immunity. As city employes, they would have been required to waive immunity before a grand jury and thus lay themselves open to possible prosecution.

The law becomes effective in 45 days.

Business Damage Awards Made in Downsville Area

Awards were made Wednesday by the commissioners of appraisal consisting of Frederick W. Loomis, chairman, George S. Rader and G. Frank Slawson, to farmers and businessmen in the Downsville area whose properties were acquired by the city of New York in October, 1947, for the construction of the Pepacton Dam and Reservoir. These business damage awards are in addition to the awards paid by the city for the farm lands and buildings in the Downsville area during the year 1948-49. These business damage awards were the first so made in the Delaware county proceedings. Herman E. Gottfried of Margaretville, attorney for the claimants, stated that these are the first substantial business damage awards made since 1908, when the city was building the Ashokan Reservoir in Ulster county. No business damage awards were made in either the Ulster or Sullivan county projects which were commenced in 1936 for the Lackawack and Neversink Reservoirs. These business damage recoveries mark a very important phase in the development of water supply litigation against the city in the present as well as future proceedings.

Gottfried received the report from the Commissioners of Appraisal on March 21. The property of Archie and Nancy Campbell of Downsville, which consisted of a farm and boarding house, had been condemned in 1947, for which they had already received an award of $17,500. The Commissioners of Appraisal have now awarded Archie Campbell the sum of $5,000 for business damage losses to his farm, and Nancy Campbell, his wife, was awarded $4,000 for her boarding house business.

Ernest C. Bogart, who now lives in Downsville, owned a farm on the south side of the East Branch near Downsville. In 1948 he was awarded $12,000 for his farm lands and buildings. On Wednesday he was awarded the additional sum of $5,750 for his loss of farm business.

Fred Miller of Downsville, who operated the farm owned by Gladys Travis for several years before the city acquired it, received $7,500 for his farm business damages caused by the city's removing him. Mrs. Travis, two years ago, received $11,000 for her farm land and buildings from the city of New York.

Christie Knowles, Schenevus, who formerly rented and operated the Nine Purday farm, near Downsville, was awarded $8,500 for his business loss. Miss Purday was awarded $16,000 for her real estate in 1948.

Sterling Butler, Bloomville, who operated a machine and repair shop on the upper Ernest Bogart farm for five years before the city took over, received $4,200 for his business loss, while his wife, who operated a boarding house for mental patients on the same property received $2,500 as her damages. In 1949 Bogart, who owned these lands and buildings, received an award of $8,000 for this property which he had rented to Mr. and Mrs. Butler.

William Taylor, Morris, who rented and worked the Eliza Paul farm in Holliday Brook near Pepacton, received an award of $5,000 for his business damages. Mrs. Eliza Paul in 1948 received $5,500 for the real estate.

John E. Shaver of Coles Clove, who operated a trucking business, which was seriously curtailed because of the removal of numerous farms in the area, received an award of $350 for the loss of his trucking business.

In addition, indirect real estate damage awards were also made to the following property owners in the Holliday Brook area who were also represented by Gottfried. No land or buildings were taken by the city. Emory King, who owns a summer house, received $700. Rudolph Hartwig, who purchased the old school house in Holliday Brook, was allowed $200, while Commyron Hardenburgh received $400.

Continue Search

Dr. Day Dies at 67; Former Cornell Head

Ithaca, N. Y., March 24 (AP)—Dr. Edmnud Ezra Day, president of Cornell University from 1937 until 1949, died yesterday. He was 67.

Dr. Day suffered a heart attack and died while driving his car through Ithaca with a daughter, Miss Betty Day. Miss Day brought the vehicle to a halt without accident.

Dr. Day, Cornell's fifth president, also served as the university's first chancellor six months after resigning the presidency. Since his complete retirement Jan. 31, 1950, he has been a consultant to the University of the State of New York.

Day guided Cornell during its period of greatest development. The student body grew from 6,000 to more than 10,000 students during his 12 years as president, and the faculty expanded from 598 to more than 1,000 instructors.

A native of Manchester, N. H., Day was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1905 and subsequently received a master's degree from Dartmouth and the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Harvard.

He taught economics at both Dartmouth and Harvard and in 1923 he organized and became first dean of the School of Business Administration at the University of Michigan. He later became dean of the university.

From 1928 until his election as Cornell president Day served as director of social sciences for the Rockefeller Foundation.

During the years he also filled a number of advisory posts for the federal government.

Boy's Body Found

New York, March 24 (AP)—An 11-year-old Bronx boy, missing for nearly 24 hours, has been found dead locked in an unused basement ice box. The youngster, Robert Schneider, was found yesterday by neighborhood boys playing in the cellar. The body was crammed in the center of the box, an old ice cream freezer with a self-locking top-cover that cannot be opened from the inside. Robert's hands, pressed against the lid, indicated that he had tried desperately to free himself. Assistant Bronx District Attorney Martin Krauss said the death did not appear suspicious.

Fear for 'Duke'

New York, March 24 (AP)—Relatives today feared for the safety of Anthony (Duke) Maffetore, the Murder, Inc., chauffeur who "sang" on his old gangland pals. Maffetore was being hunted by police after failing to appear for trial last March 7 on a car theft charge. He was free in $5,000 bail. Former Mayor William O'Dwyer mentioned Maffetore earlier this week in testimony before the Kefauver Crime Committee. O'Dwyer, as Brooklyn district attorney, claims credit for breaking up the murder-for-hire gang a decade ago. Maffetore, now 37, was a big aid in breaking the gang after he turned informer to save his own neck. His information helped send the gang's leader, Louis "Lepke" Buchalter, to the electric chair.

Will Ask Higher Rates

Chicago, March 24 (AP)—The nation's railroads are going to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates. The new request will be a substitute of a petition on Jan. 16 for a six per cent boost in freight rates. The carriers have been granted eight increases in freight rates on a national basis since 1946. The railroads, in boosting their original request from 6 to 15 per cent, said that more than $950,000,000 will be added to their annual costs because of higher wages and prices of supplies and materials.

Air Strike Looms

New York, March 24 (AP)—Pan American World Airways faced a strike at midnight tonight by 150 port stewards unless a federal mediator succeeds in a last-minute settlement. The CIO Transport Workers Union says another 4,200 employes will not cross the stewards' picket lines in New York, Miami, Seattle, San Francisco and Brownsville, Texas. radio messages, reported sighting flares, wreckage or life rafts in four different locations in the general search area. His plane was not equipped to drop lifeboats or provisions, but several others in the area were.

American, British and Irish airplanes joined the search above the wind-tossed waters off the Irish coast in one of history's greatest sea hunts. Aboard the missing plane which disappeared in fog and rain early yesterday was Brig. Gen. Paul T. Cullen, deputy commander of the U. S. Second Air Force, and four officers of the Strategic Air Command (SAC) headquarters at Omaha, Neb.

One B-29 pilot returned to rescue headquarters at Shannon saying he had sighted nothing in the area where the wreckage and rafts had been reported. He was Lt. Herschel H. Lamb of Twin Falls, Ida. Air force officials said drift or navigational errors could account for the discrepancy.

The pilot who had made the first report had not yet returned to Shannon.

Gunmen Pay Call At Costello Apartment

New York, March 24 (AP)—Police reported three men, one of them armed, attempted but failed to gain entry today to the apartment of gambler Frank Costello, awitness this week at the Senate crime committee hearing in New York.

Costello was not at home. He had told the committee he ordinarily kept $40,000 to $50,000 in cash in the apartment, located on the 18th floor of a building overlooking Central Park.

Police said the three men forced an elevator operator to take them to the apartment, but did not indicate what they wanted.

After failing to gain entry, the trio returned to the first floor, rushed outside, and fled in an automobile driven by a fourth man.

The trio apparently lost interest after learning that Costello was not home.

Elevator operators Thomas Gogin and Joseph Percabelli told police the trio entered the apartment lobby at about 4.25 a. m.

All said "hello," then one drew a gun and said:

Charge 4 Teen-Age

years old and the other 14, were held for Children's Court action. The fourth, Donald Nelson Otis, 19, of Port Ewen, was arraigned on a first degree grand larceny charge before City Judge Raymond Mino this morning. His case was adjourned until Monday so that he can secure counsel, and bail was set at $1,000 cash or $2,000 property.

Brophy also reported this morning that license plates that had reportedly been stolen from an automobile owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Swope of 286 Clinton avenue a week ago were found in a puddle of water behind the local Montgomery Ward store. Brophy said that possibly youngsters had taken them with the intention of using them on cars taken from used car lots.

The props will be improvised. Crude wooden boxes will serve for altars. Some services will be held in the morning, some in the afternoon. Some units may have to wait until dusk for a chaplain to travel rugged roads and climb the rocky hills to reach them. Chaplains, both Catholic and Protestant, will try to reach every front line battalion. Some chaplains will lead as many as three services.

There won't be much difference between the services on Easter and those held every Sunday in the combat zone.

Father Francis W. Kelly, of Upper Darby, Pa., chief chaplain of the U. S. First Marine Division, said: "I'm just going to try to tell the boys, as I have before, that this is not a battle for Korea. It's a struggle to determine whether the forces of Godliness are to prevail over militant atheism."

Father Kelly and his fellow chaplains only hope their Easter efforts give the men they serve a little more hope, a little less fear and a few moments of peace.

Fear for 'Duke'

New York, March 24 (AP)—Relatives today feared for the safety of Anthony (Duke) Maffetore, the Murder, Inc., chauffeur who "sang" on his old gangland pals. Maffetore was being hunted by police after failing to appear for trial last March 7 on a car theft charge. He was free in $5,000 bail. Former Mayor William O'Dwyer mentioned Maffetore earlier this week in testimony before the Kefauver Crime Committee. O'Dwyer, as Brooklyn district attorney, claims credit for breaking up the murder-for-hire gang a decade ago. Maffetore, now 37, was a big aid in breaking the gang after he turned informer to save his own neck. His information helped send the gang's leader, Louis "Lepke" Buchalter, to the electric chair.

The carriers have been granted eight increases in freight rates on a national basis since 1946. The railroads, in boosting their original request from 6 to 15 per cent, said that more than $950,000,000 will be added to their annual costs because of higher wages and prices of supplies and materials.

American, British and Irish airplanes joined the search above the wind-tossed waters off the Irish coast in one of history's greatest sea hunts. Aboard the missing plane which disappeared in fog and rain early yesterday was Brig. Gen. Paul T. Cullen, deputy commander of the U. S. Second Air Force, and four officers of the Strategic Air Command (SAC) headquarters at Omaha, Neb.

One B-29 pilot returned to rescue headquarters at Shannon saying he had sighted nothing in the area where the wreckage and rafts had been reported. He was Lt. Herschel H. Lamb of Twin Falls, Ida. Air force officials said drift or navigational errors could account for the discrepancy.

The pilot who had made the first report had not yet returned to Shannon.

Fire Chief Gets New Car

The fire department's new chief's car has arrived at Central Fire Station and work is under way in installing the two-way radio for communication with police headquarters, siren and flashing red light. When that work is completed, the automobile will be painted the traditional red color, after which it will be placed in service replacing the present chief's car, a 1937 Buick. The new vehicle is a 1951 Nash four-door sedan.

Sentence Is Suspended

City Judge Raymond Mino today suspended a 30-day sentence against Hiram Tyler, 33, of Napanoch on information that Tyler was making restitution for an allegedly bad check for $45 issued to Ignatius Prusack of 41 East Strand in February.

Wiring Blamed for Fire

The fire department was called at 10:13 a. m. today when smoke was detected at the Montgomery Ward Company store on North Front street. The smoke apparently came from electrical wiring in a showcase and an electrician was summoned to inspect the wiring, the fire department reported.

Gunmen Pay Call At Costello Apartment

New York, March 24 (AP)—Police reported three men, one of them armed, attempted but failed to gain entry today to the apartment of gambler Frank Costello, a witness this week at the Senate crime committee hearing in New York.

Costello was not at home. He had told the committee he ordinarily kept $40,000 to $50,000 in cash in the apartment, located on the 18th floor of a building overlooking Central Park.

Police said the three men forced an elevator operator to take them to the apartment, but did not indicate what they wanted.

After failing to gain entry, the trio returned to the first floor, rushed outside, and fled in an automobile driven by a fourth man.

The trio apparently lost interest after learning that Costello was not home.

Whether this indicated they intended to do him harm was unclear.

Elevator operators Thomas Gogin and Joseph Percabelli told police the trio entered the apartment lobby at about 4.25 a. m.

All said "hello," then one drew a gun and said:

Charge 4 Teen-Age

years old and the other 14, were held for Children's Court action. The fourth, Donald Nelson Otis, 19, of Port Ewen, was arraigned on a first degree grand larceny charge before City Judge Raymond Mino this morning. His case was adjourned until Monday so that he can secure counsel, and bail was set at $1,000 cash or $2,000 property.

Brophy also reported this morning that license plates that had reportedly been stolen from an automobile owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Swope of 286 Clinton avenue a week ago were found in a puddle of water behind the local Montgomery Ward store. Brophy said that possibly youngsters had taken them with the intention of using them on cars taken from used car lots.

roots in a dozen different lands will gather bareheaded for a few brief moments before they return to battle.

The props will be improvised. Crude wooden boxes will serve for altars. Some services will be held in the morning, some in the afternoon. Some units may have to wait until dusk for a chaplain to travel rugged roads and climb the rocky hills to reach them. Chaplains, both Catholic and Protestant, will try to reach every front line battalion. Some chaplains will lead as many as three services.

There won't be much difference between the services on Easter and those held every Sunday in the combat zone.

Father Francis W. Kelly, of Upper Darby, Pa., chief chaplain of the U. S. First Marine Division, said: "I'm just going to try to tell the boys, as I have before, that this is not a battle for Korea. It's a struggle to determine whether the forces of Godliness are to prevail over militant atheism."

Father Kelly and his fellow chaplains only hope their Easter efforts give the men they serve a little more hope, a little less fear and a few moments of peace.

From 1928 until his election as Cornell president Day served as director of social sciences for the Rockefeller Foundation.

New York, March 24 (AP)—An 11-year-old Bronx boy, missing for nearly 24 hours, has been found dead locked in an unused basement ice box. Fear for 'Duke'

New York, March 24 (AP)—Relatives today feared for the safety of Anthony (Duke) Maffetore, the Murder, Inc., chauffeur who "sang" on his old gangland pals. Maffetore was being hunted by police after failing to appear for trial last March 7 on a car theft charge. He was free in $5,000 bail. Former Mayor William O'Dwyer mentioned Maffetore earlier this week in testimony before the Kefauver Crime Committee. O'Dwyer, as Brooklyn district attorney, claims credit for breaking up the murder-for-hire gang a decade ago. Maffetore, now 37, was a big aid in breaking the gang after he turned informer to save his own neck. His information helped send the gang's leader, Louis "Lepke" Buchalter, to the electric chair.

The carriers have been granted eight increases in freight rates on a national basis since 1946. The railroads, in boosting their original request from 6 to 15 per cent, said that more than $950,000,000 will be added to their annual costs because of higher wages and prices of supplies and materials.

American, British and Irish airplanes joined the search above the wind-tossed waters off the Irish coast in one of history's greatest sea hunts. Aboard the missing plane which disappeared in fog and rain early yesterday was Brig. Gen. Paul T. Cullen, deputy commander of the U. S. Second Air Force, and four officers of the Strategic Air Command (SAC) headquarters at Omaha, Neb.

One B-29 pilot returned to rescue headquarters at Shannon saying he had sighted nothing in the area where the wreckage and rafts had been reported. He was Lt. Herschel H. Lamb of Twin Falls, Ida. Air force officials said drift or navigational errors could account for the discrepancy.

The pilot who had made the first report had not yet returned to Shannon.

Gunmen Pay Call At Costello Apartment

New York, March 24 (AP)—Police reported three men, one of them armed, attempted but failed to gain entry today to the apartment of gambler Frank Costello, awitness this week at the Senate crime committee hearing in New York.

Costello was not at home. He had told the committee he ordinarily kept $40,000 to $50,000 in cash in the apartment, located on the 18th floor of a building overlooking Central Park.

Police said the three men forced an elevator operator to take them to the apartment, but did not indicate what they wanted.

After failing to gain entry, the trio returned to the first floor, rushed outside, and fled in an automobile driven by a fourth man.

The trio apparently lost interest after learning that Costello was not home.

Whether this indicated they intended to do him harm was unclear.

Elevator operators Thomas Gogin and Joseph Percabelli told police the trio entered the apartment lobby at about 4.25 a. m.

All said "hello," then one drew a gun and said:

Charge 4 Teen-Age

years old and the other 14, were held for Children's Court action. The fourth, Donald Nelson Otis, 19, of Port Ewen, was arraigned on a first degree grand larceny charge before City Judge Raymond Mino this morning. His case was adjourned until Monday so that he can secure counsel, and bail was set at $1,000 cash or $2,000 property.

Brophy also reported this morning that license plates that had reportedly been stolen from an automobile owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Swope of 286 Clinton avenue a week ago were found in a puddle of water behind the local Montgomery Ward store. Brophy said that possibly youngsters had taken them with the intention of using them on cars taken from used car lots.

Good Friday Here

roots in a dozen different lands will gather bareheaded for a few brief moments before they return to battle.

The props will be improvised. Crude wooden boxes will serve for altars. Some services will be held in the morning, some in the afternoon. Some units may have to wait until dusk for a chaplain to travel rugged roads and climb the rocky hills to reach them. Chaplains, both Catholic and Protestant, will try to reach every front line battalion. Some chaplains will lead as many as three services.

There won't be much difference between the services on Easter and those held every Sunday in the combat zone.

Father Francis W. Kelly, of Upper Darby, Pa., chief chaplain of the U. S. First Marine Division, said: "I'm just going to try to tell the boys, as I have before, that this is not a battle for Korea. It's a struggle to determine whether the forces of Godliness are to prevail over militant atheism."

Father Kelly and his fellow chaplains only hope their Easter efforts give the men they serve a little more hope, a little less fear and a few moments of peace.

He said the groceries were taken sometime between 8:30 and 10:15 p. m. while the automobile was parked near the intersection of Abeel and Hone streets.
